Wall Street showed resilience today rebounding from early pressures tied to ongoing Middle East tensions, particularly the U.S.-Iran conflict and Strait of Hormuz concerns impacting oil prices. Gold, Metals & Bitcoin Gain

Wall Street back in the green! US Stocks rallied today as geopolitical tensions cooled and oil prices took a breather. Tech caught a massive bid as the VIX retreated.

Spot gold up by 1.40% and 5.1%. Bitcoin has also marched higher, up 6.73%. WTI crude has trimmed gains after the New York Times reported that Iranian operatives made an offer to the US to discuss terms for ending the conflict a day after attacks began.

Treasury Sec. Scott Bessent just said President Trump's plan to hike the universal tariff from 10% to 15% is likely happening this week.

Asian stocks fell for a third straight session as escalating Middle East tensions triggered heavy selling. KOSPI falls 12% & MSCI Asia Pacific Index slid as much as 4.5% — led by sharp losses in S.Korean shares like TSMC, Samsung Electronics, & SK Hynix.

Sumitomo Mitsui Financial Group shares slid 6.0% to a 2-month low following reports that its unit, SMBC, has a £100 million ($133 million) exposure to the collapsed UK lender Market Financial Solutions Ltd. The firm's downfall has already impacted several major Wall Street banks.

Korean stocks may well see the quickest transition from bull to technical bear market on record. Three-day losses nearing 20% now. Elevator up, cliff jump do.

Australia's economy grew by 1.1% in the final quarter of 2025 (Q4), marking the strongest quarterly expansion since late 2016, excluding the pandemic recovery period.

NEWS, ANALYSIS , INVESTING INSIGHT

ICT 715.00

- 2025 Net Income up 23% to US$1.05B Recurring Net Income 26% higher Throughput increased 11% to 14.50M TEUs Revenues grew 18% to US$3.23B EBITDA improved 21% to US$2.14B Diluted EPS rose 25% to US$0.51
- Remained the most actively traded stock and rose 4.26%, supported by strong operating momentum and record performance incentives.
- Analysis: This is a clean "volume + yield + efficiency" year. The TEU growth and margin expansion signals strong operating leverage; management also points to disciplined capex allocation and cash generation. Watch sustainability of tariff adjustments/container mix and ramp-up of new projects (execution risk), but the base trend remains constructive.
- Recommendation: Accumulate / Buy on weakness (quality compounder; strong cash-flow story with volume tailwinds).

JFC 195.60

- JFC said Highlands Coffee's board is evaluating a standalone Vietnam IPO, targeted for completion by 1Q 2027; Highlands expanded from 56 stores (2012) to nearly 1,000.
- Analysis: IPO optionality can unlock value and improve "sum-of-parts" visibility for JFC, but timing/valuation/market conditions matter and the process requires restructuring and approvals. Net: positive catalyst path, but not immediate.
- Recommendation: Hold / Accumulate (positive medium-term optionality; keep position, add on pullbacks rather than chase).

SM 685.00
SMPH 20.55

- SMX recorded 10% growth in events & 34% increase in visitors in 2025, reinforcing the group's mall and hospitality ecosystem.

- Goldilocks said it surpassed 1,000 stores; cited operational upgrades and renewable energy use in production facilities; it is described as one of SM Group's portfolio investments.
- Analysis: Positive brand/scale milestone; for SM, this is small versus malls/banking/property, but it supports the broader "consumer ecosystem" narrative. Material impact depends on disclosed contribution (not provided here).
- Recommendation: N/A (not a direct PSE ticker); mild positive sentiment read-through for SM consumer exposure.

NEWS, ANALYSIS , INVESTING INSIGHT

GLO 1.632.00

- BMI cited Globe Business' partnership with Aeris and the IoT accelerator platform; commercial launch targeted 3Q 2026; DICT cited IoT market projected to grow ~20% annually (2024–2029) in the article.
- Analysis: IoT is a sticky enterprise layer (connectivity + platform + security). Near-term impact is usually gradual (pilot-to-scale conversion), but it strengthens enterprise positioning and can lift ARPU while reducing churn.
- Recommendation: Hold / Accumulate on dips (medium-term optionality; execution and commercialization pace are key).

PCOR 3.50

- RSI 82.86
- 2025 net income +84% to ₱15.6B; revenues -7% to ₱810B (weaker international prices); total volumes +3% to 113.4M barrels; cited improved refinery productivity and lower costs.
  - Analysis: Strong earnings are driven by domestic volume resilience plus operational efficiency; however, downstream remains cycle-sensitive (inventory effects, crack spreads, FX). Keep a close eye on margin normalization versus any one-off refining economics.
  - Recommendation: Hold / Take partial profits if extended (good momentum, but manage cyclicality)

MYNLD 20.50

- Maynilad earmarked ~₱7.7B to reduce non-revenue water losses, improving operational efficiency and long-term cash flow quality. NRW initiatives (pipe replacement, leakage control, diagnostics);
- NRW ended 2025 at 30.7% (from 38.4% in 2024), translating to ~256 MLD recovered water; long-term NRW goal cited as 20% by 2030.
- Analysis: NRW reduction is typically high-return capex (more billable water without equivalent new supply). Execution and permitting/traffic coordination are the grind, but the trend is improving and supports cash-flow quality over time.
  - Recommendation: Accumulate (for MPIC-linked exposure) (steady, infrastructure-like compounding; benefits accrue progressively).

NEWS, ANALYSIS , INVESTING INSIGHT

MER 601.50

- Meralco flagged potential inflationary pressure on electricity costs from Middle East tensions; current supply mix cited: ~60% gas, 20–25% coal, ~10% RE, remainder from spot market; earliest potential billing impact cited as April (not March).
- Meralco expects ~3% increase in 2026 sales volume; 1Q expected flattish with recovery from 2Q; noted 2025 sales volume -0.7% to 53,997 GWh; 2025 earnings cited +12% to ₱50.6B.
- Analysis: Volume normalization supports core utility earnings, but rooftop solar adoption and macro softness can keep growth uneven. Combine this with fuel-cost headline risk (above) for near-term rate sensitivity.
- Analysis: Key risk is commodity pass-through volatility (gas/coal) even if Meralco doesn't directly source oil. Fuel-mix review is prudent, but near-term investor sensitivity will rise around rate movements and regulatory recoveries. Demand backdrop is still supportive.
- Recommendation: Hold / Accumulate on dips (defensive core; expect headline-driven rate sensitivity).

TEL 1,329.00

- Smart/PLDT expanded direct-to-device satellite trials to Ilocos Norte with Lynk Global; tests included messaging and access to key info platforms; Smart previously noted plans for commercial rollout next year.
- Analysis: Strategic upside is stronger coverage in GIDAs and potential disaster-response connectivity—good differentiation and regulatory goodwill. Monetization is still early-stage and execution depends on integration with core systems and spectrum/partner economics.
- Recommendation: Hold (incremental positive; primary drivers remain core telco performance and capex/returns discipline).

EEI 2.30

- Won ₱1.6 billion in new construction contracts, strengthening backlog visibility.

NEWS, ANALYSIS , INVESTING INSIGHT

ABA 0.365

- Lease-with-option-to-buy for phase 1 (20 hectares) of the 100-hectare Montemaria tourism project; cited lease rate ₱540/sqm/year (first five years) and purchase option ₱9,000/sqm within five years; includes additional implementing agreements (e.g., Cenacle Building land/improvements).
- Analysis: Structure shifts toward steadier contracted cash flows vs JV uncertainty; value depends on counterparty execution and the project's ability to translate tourism traffic into monetizable economics. Small-cap headline risk remains.
- Recommendation: Speculative Hold (wait for clearer revenue contribution and milestones before adding).

PLUS 16.94

- Extended gains as investor interest continues to rotate into the high-growth gaming sector.

ATI 195.60

- Tender offer results showed 177.61M shares tendered (9.16%); post-crossing, public float expected to fall to ~0.74%; trading suspension anticipated March 13 with settlement March 17; delisting target date mentioned as April 3; offer price ₱36/share.
- Analysis: This is now a "corporate action / event-driven" situation. With delisting mechanics progressing and the offer price known, upside is typically limited to residual spread vs ₱36 less time/settlement risk; liquidity can dry up quickly as float collapses.
- Recommendation: Hold to tender / Reduce if spread is thin (optimize for certainty; avoid being trapped in illiquidity post-suspension).

MER 610

- Guided ~3% energy sales growth in 2026, reflecting steady demand outlook.
- Recommendation: Hold / Accumulate on pullbacks.

GLO 1,680

- BMI expects Globe Business to benefit from early-stage IoT enterprise demand, which could support higher ARPU and stronger enterprise customer retention.
- Recommendation: Hold / Accumulate on dips.

PRIVATE

- Chevron invested $3.1M (₱181.6M) to upgrade its Cebu terminal, lifting storage capacity to 150,000 barrels; estimated to unlock ~$1M annual value.
- Analysis: This is a straightforward logistics/capacity upgrade supporting regional supply reliability. Not directly a PSE equity catalyst unless you're mapping downstream competitive dynamics/industry capex signals.
- Recommendation: N/A (non-listed locally); treat as sector color for fuels/logistics.
