THE CALL — Selective accumulation into a geopolitical risk-off tape

Asia sold off hard after U.S. retaliatory strikes on Iran — KOSPI -4.52%, TWSE -3.31%, Nikkei -1.89% — yet the PSEi gave up only 4.35 points (-0.07%) to 5,941.36 and foreign funds were NET BUYERS of ₱469.4M, concentrated in ICT (+₱469.1M), AC (+₱245.0M), BDO (+₱139.4M) and the banks. WTI spiked +4.59% to $93.52 while gold pulled back -4.52% on profit-taking. The relative resilience plus a third leg of bank-led foreign accumulation argues for selective adds: ICT and the banks on flow leadership, ALI as a deep-value oversold dip-buy (RSI ~22, 0.48x book), MYNLD and PLUS on fresh corporate catalysts. TEL (-4.57%) needs to stabilize before the VITRO REIT story can be played. Stay nimble: Iran headline risk, Friday's SpaceX IPO liquidity event, and the rising PHL 10-year (7.542%) cap upside.

U.S. closes carried as of the June 10 session pending the June 11 New York close. PSE figures per the June 10, 2026 Daily Quotation Report (DQR), which supersedes brief data.

U.S. equities tumbled, with the Dow pressured below the 50,000 threshold intraday by a combination of hot consumer inflation, escalating friction with Iran and a broad sell-off in AI-linked stocks. The geopolitical trigger: U.S. Central Command launched retaliatory "self-defense" airstrikes against targets in Iran at roughly 17:00 EST on June 9, in response to the downing of a U.S. Army Apache helicopter. Asian equities resumed their slide as the MSCI Asia Pacific Index fell as much as 2.1%, led by technology; Korean chip names drove the KOSPI down as much as 2.8% intraday before closing -4.52%. Two liquidity events loom: SpaceX lists on the Nasdaq on Friday, June 12 under ticker SPCX in the most anticipated market debut in history, and India is staging its biggest issuance rush of 2026 with over a dozen companies preparing to raise $6.3B across IPOs and government stake sales over the next two months — both compete for global EM-allocated capital. Separately, Anthropic (creator of Claude), long backed by early investor Google, is leasing chips across five data centers with the tech giant's help — the AI capex cycle rolls on even as AI equities correct.

COMMODITIES — ENERGY, METALS & AGRICULTURE

Commodity	June 10	June 11	% Chg
WTI Crude ($/bbl)	89.42	93.52	+4.59%

Commodity	June 10	June 11	% Chg
Brent Crude ($/bbl)	92.70	93.10	+0.43%
Gold COMEX ($/oz)	4,246.50	4,054.70	-4.52%
Silver COMEX ($/oz)	65.04	62.39	-4.07%
Copper COMEX (¢/lb)	633.60	617.50	-2.54%
Nickel ($/MT)	17,932.49	17,679.83	-1.41%
Coal ($/MT)	150.20	150.95	+0.50%
Corn (¢/bu)	419.25	419.00	-0.06%
Wheat (¢/bu)	587.25	587.50	+0.04%
Cocoa ($/MT)	3,831.00	3,757.00	-1.93%
Sugar (¢/lb)	14.08	13.92	-1.14%

Crude is the session's standout — WTI +4.59% to $93.52 on the U.S.–Iran strikes, with Brent at $93.10. Gold (-4.52%) and silver (-4.07%) saw profit-taking after their safe-haven spike, while copper (-2.54%) and nickel (-1.41%) priced in weaker Asian risk appetite. Energy inflation passthrough is the key local transmission channel: it pressures the peso, the BSP's easing path and the PHL 10-year, while supporting SCC coal realizations (coal +0.50% to $150.95) and squeezing fuel-heavy names (CEB, MER pass-through lag).

FIXED INCOME & CURRENCIES

FX & Rates	June 10	June 11	% Chg
PHL 10yr Bond Yield (%)	7.525	7.542	+0.23%
US 10yr Bond Yield (%)	4.536	4.571	+0.77%
USD-PHP	61.554	61.417	-0.22%
USD-JPY	160.16	160.49	+0.21%
EUR-USD	1.1568	1.1547	-0.18%

The peso was little changed after strengthening the prior day, with USD-PHP easing to 61.417 — though the broader trend of dollar appreciation against the peso has accelerated in recent weeks. The PHL 10-year drifted up to 7.542% (+1.7 bps on the table reading; secondary-market quotes ran as high as 7.64% intra-week), keeping the discount-rate headwind on REITs and property. The U.S. 10-year backed up to 4.571% on inflation prints and war-risk premium.

PHILIPPINES — MARKET STRATEGY

The PSEi closed at 5,941.36, down just 4.35 points (-0.07%) — a remarkable show of relative strength against a -2% to -4.5% regional tape. Breadth was poor (49 advances vs 133 declines, 57 unchanged), and the index held up on a narrow leadership of Services (+1.44%) and Financials (+0.83%) while Mining & Oil collapsed -5.89% and Holding Firms shed -2.72%. Total turnover reached ₱7.22B including ₱566.4M in block sales. The single most constructive datapoint: foreigners were net buyers of ₱469.4M (buying ₱3.866B vs selling ₱3.396B; total foreign gross ₱7.26B), with inflows targeted at ICT, AC, BDO, BPI and MBT — quality, liquid, index heavyweights. That is conviction buying into geopolitical stress, not passive flow.

Macro support is quietly building underneath: the April labor report showed unemployment falling to 4.7% from 5.0% in March, with 48.89 million employed. The offset is the credit cycle — Fitch and S&P both warned that a prolonged Middle East war would hurt Philippine banks' loan quality, which makes the foreign bid for BDO/BPI/MBT noteworthy but argues against chasing the bank rally at highs. Listed buyback programs were active in FRUIT, OPM, SMPH, AGI, PLUS and URC, providing incremental downside support in those names.

CORPORATE NEWS & INVESTING INSIGHT

ALI ₱13.20 -0.90% | Deeply Oversold at 0.48x Book — Foreign Capitulation Creates a Dip-Buy Window

Ayala Land remains the index's pain trade: the stock closed at ₱13.20 on ₱444.4M turnover — second-highest value on the board — with foreign funds dumping another ₱145.96M on Wednesday after ₱118.08M of net selling on Tuesday. The stock is down 37% year-to-date, trades at its cheapest forward P/E in over a decade, and sits at 0.48x its ₱27.23 book value. The daily RSI at roughly 22 is firmly in oversold territory.
Fundamentally, ALI is in "execution and defense" mode: the near-term narrative will be characterized by suppressed residential metrics as the broader Philippine property sector recalibrates to sticky inflation and a 7.5%+ 10-year yield. But the selling has become indiscriminate and mechanical — and the valuation now embeds a great deal of bad news.
DAMS View: This is a classic capitulation setup for patient capital. We are buyers of weakness in tranches below ₱13.50, sized for volatility, with the understanding that the catalyst is a yield peak rather than an earnings inflection. Watch for the first session of foreign net buying as the tactical trigger; book value of ₱27.23 frames the long-run margin of safety.

TEL ₱1,085.00 -4.57% | VITRO Data Center REIT IPO Approved — $300–400M Raise Targets the AI Boom, but Debt Looms Larger

PLDT is tapping the global AI and data center boom: the board approved plans this Tuesday to raise $300M–$400M by listing a REIT for its data center unit, VITRO Inc. The move would monetize hyperscale-grade assets into a yield vehicle at a moment of intense global appetite for AI infrastructure.
The balance-sheet context tempers the excitement. PLDT carries roughly ₱282.3B (≈$4.8B) in net debt, with ₱16.6B maturing this year and ₱27.9B in 2027. A $300–400M REIT raise (₱18–25B) meaningfully addresses the near-term maturity wall but is a drop in the bucket against the total debt stack. The market's verdict on the day was harsh — TEL fell 4.57% to ₱1,085 on ₱512.6M turnover with ₱41.9M of foreign selling, breaking decisively from the ₱1,137 open.
DAMS View: Strategically correct, financially insufficient — that is the read. The VITRO REIT improves the funding picture and surfaces hidden asset value, but it does not change the deleveraging math. With the stock in a sharp technical breakdown, we wait for stabilization (a base above ₱1,085–1,100) before positioning for the REIT listing trade. Income investors should note the REIT itself may become the cleaner vehicle for the data-center thesis.

🟡 MONITOR — AWAIT STABILIZATION | TEL @ ₱1,085.00 — REIT catalyst positive but debt overhang dominates; wait for base

TEL ₱MAYA IPO WATCH | PLDT, KKR in Talks on Maya IPO Structure — Stake Increase or Partial Exit on the Table

In a parallel monetization track, PLDT said it remains in discussions with KKR & Co. to resolve issues tied to the planned initial public offering of fintech firm Maya. The telco is weighing whether to increase its stake in Maya or support a partial exit via the listing — a decision that could reshape ownership in one of its most valuable growth assets.
DAMS View: A Maya IPO at a strong fintech multiple would be a materially bigger value-unlock for TEL than the VITRO REIT, given Maya's market position in digital banking and payments. Structure is everything: an "increase stake" path signals long-term conviction but consumes capital TEL does not have to spare; a partial exit crystallizes value and aids deleveraging. Treat headlines on this as a swing factor for the TEL re-rating thesis into H2.

FGEN ₱15.52 -3.48% | First Gen Defends Prime Infra Hydro Deal Against Lopez Family's "₱50-Billion Premium" Allegation

First Gen formally defended the structure of its hydropower investment with Prime Infrastructure Capital in a clarification submitted to the PSE on Wednesday, rejecting allegations from the Lopez family majority that the company had agreed to a "scandalous" ₱50-billion premium in the transaction. The dispute pits the listed power producer's board against its own controlling family bloc — a rare and destabilizing governance rupture for one of the country's flagship energy groups.
The shares fell 3.48% to ₱15.52 with ₱0.56M of foreign selling, and have now decoupled from the company's otherwise constructive pumped-storage hydro growth story (the Wawa/Pakil/Aya portfolio previously guided toward ₱16B per year of hydro earnings by 2031).
DAMS View: Until the intra-Lopez dispute is resolved, FGEN trades on governance headlines, not fundamentals. Valuation support exists, but contested related-party transactions of this scale can stall capital plans, trigger board churn and invite regulatory scrutiny. We place FGEN on the governance watch list — no new money until the premium dispute is clarified or independently reviewed.

NIKL ₱4.49 +0.22% | Nickel Asia Unit Signs Operating Agreement for 3,432-Hectare Zambales Nickel Claims

Nickel Asia's subsidiary Samar Nickel Mining Resources Corp. signed an operating agreement with San Juanico Resources Corp. covering nickel mining claims in Zambales, per an SEC disclosure on Tuesday. The deal gives Samar Nickel the right to operate San Juanico's mineral claim holdings — about 3,432 hectares across Candelaria and Sta. Cruz — under a mineral production sharing agreement. The areas are believed to contain nickel ore and associated extractable minerals; the agreement awaits Mines and Geosciences Bureau approval, and financial terms and production timelines were not disclosed.
The stock added 0.22% to ₱4.49 with marginal foreign net buying, against a soft LME backdrop (nickel -1.41% to $17,679.83/MT).

DAMS View: Incremental and optionality-positive: Zambales adds shallow-logistics laterite acreage adjacent to the established Sta. Cruz mining district, complementing NIKL's Rio Tuba/Taganito core. Value impact is unquantifiable until MGB approval and a mine plan emerge. With nickel prices consolidating in the $17,500–18,000 band, we hold our constructive bias and would accumulate on dips toward ₱4.30–4.40 rather than chase.

ROX ₱SUSPENDED — | Roxas Holdings Unit Sells Idle Batangas Refinery Equipment for ₱600M — Shares Remain Suspended

Roxas Holdings said its unit Central Azucarera Don Pedro, Inc. (CADPI) has sold idle machinery and equipment from its shuttered Batangas sugar refinery for ₱600 million, via a deed of absolute sale executed June 9 in favor of Infinity Multi Agri Development Corp., with full payment scheduled by December 2026. CADPI permanently ceased operations in March 2024 after heavy losses, ending the group's sugar milling and refining business; the assets had been marked for divestment.

Critically for traders: Roxas Holdings shares remain suspended by the PSE after the company failed to submit quarterly reports by the May 15, 2026 deadline. The stock last traded at ₱1.45 on May 20, 2024, and the company has not disclosed whether the sale produces a gain or loss, nor the use of proceeds.

DAMS View: The asset sale is rational housekeeping for a wind-down story, but with trading suspended, no current financials, and no disclosed proceeds plan, there is no investable case. Holders are captive pending reinstatement; everyone else should stand aside entirely.

PLUS ₱10.70 0.00% | DigiPlus Unit Inks Online Gaming Deal with New Coast Leisure — Omnichannel Strategy Locks In DigiPlus said its wholly owned subsidiary Total Gamezone Xtreme Inc. (TGXI) entered an agreement with New Coast Leisure Inc. (NCLI), operator of LaVie Resort & Casino Manila, to support the launch of online gaming operations. The agreement covers integration, aggregation, provision, technical support and operation of approved online games through LaVie's online gaming platform, subject to PAGCOR approval. The partnership is non-exclusive, and NCLI already holds the relevant Electronic Games Operator licence and gaming-system accreditations.

The deal slots into DigiPlus' broader takeover of LaVie's Hong Kong-listed parent, International Entertainment Corp.: PLUS completed the second ₱6B tranche of its ₱12B convertible note subscription on June 2, positioning it for a 53.89% stake on conversion, with the renovated property targeting a grand reopening in July 2026. PLUS closed flat at ₱10.70 after touching ₱11.14 intraday, with the company's buyback program active in the market.

DAMS View: This is the omnichannel thesis executing on schedule — online platform economics layered onto a five-star integrated resort weeks before its July relaunch, with the convertible structure giving PLUS control economics while initially earning interest. The 18%+ pullback from recent highs plus an active buyback creates an attractive entry. Regulatory dependency (PAGCOR sign-off) is the residual risk.

MYNLD ₱22.90 +1.33% | Maynilad Upgrades Putatan Plant with Ceramic Ultrafiltration — Water Security Capex Compounds

Maynilad is upgrading its Putatan Water Treatment Plant 1 in Muntinlupa with ceramic ultrafiltration (UF) membranes to strengthen its capability to treat increasingly variable raw water from Laguna Lake. The first phase covers part of the plant's existing ultrafiltration system and is targeted for progressive commissioning by end-2026. The project scales up technology Maynilad first proved at its 20-MLD Laguna Lake Modular Treatment Plant inaugurated in 2024; ceramic membranes withstand higher turbidity and harsher treatment conditions than conventional systems, stabilizing output when lake quality deteriorates.

The program deepens the reliability of Maynilad's Laguna Lake facilities, which supplement Angat Dam supply and underpin water security across the west-zone concession. The stock rose 1.33% to ₱22.90 with ₱2.26M of foreign net buying plus a ₱23.5M block trade.

DAMS View: MYNLD continues to convert regulatory-mandated capex into visible service-reliability wins — exactly what supports tariff-regime credibility and the long-duration concession value. The newly listed name has quietly attracted consistent foreign accumulation. We stay buyers, with the end-2026 phase-one commissioning a concrete milestone.

PROP ₱SECTOR — | Makati Still the Top Flexible-Office Hub — Flex Demand Leads APAC

Makati retained its position as the country's leading flexible-office hub, per BusinessWorld's June 11 property read. The structural backdrop is powerful: Manila has recorded the highest flexible-workspace demand growth in APAC at roughly +51% year-on-year, driven by multinational expansion, hybrid team structures and the rise of global capability centers — with Makati the most prized address for proximity to capital, institutions and talent.

Listed beneficiaries span the CBD landlord complex: Ayala Land (Makati CBD inventory), AREIT (office-heavy REIT portfolio), RLC and SMPH on the broader office and mixed-use exposure. The day's tape was mixed — RLC -1.05% to ₱16.12 (but with a ₱92.1M block crossed above market at ₱16.59), SMPH -0.78% to ₱17.80, AREIT -0.66% to ₱38.00.

DAMS View: Flex demand will not rescue vacancy-heavy submarkets overnight, but it is the strongest leasing demand vector in the office market and disproportionately benefits prime Makati stock — a quiet fundamental positive for ALI and AREIT precisely when both trade at depressed multiples. We treat this as supporting evidence for the ALI dip-buy and the standing AREIT accumulate, rather than a standalone trade.

SECTOR MONITOR — POSITIVE BIAS | ALI / AREIT / RLC / SMPH @ ₱Sector — Strongest office demand vector concentrates in prime Makati landlords

AREIT — TECHNICAL ANALYSIS & STANDING RECOMMENDATION

AREIT closed at ₱38.00 (-0.65%) with ₱9.48M of foreign net buying — foreigners continue to accumulate the name even on down sessions, extending the inflow pattern in place since late May. Our standing ACCUMULATE rests on three confirmed technical triggers: (1) the weekly RSI printing sub-35 oversold readings, (2) monthly MACD compression toward the zero line marking late-cycle downside exhaustion, and (3) the PHL 10-year bond yield level (now 7.542%) as the discount-rate swing factor — a confirmed yield peak is the re-rating catalyst. Fibonacci structure from the ₱45.50 swing frames resistance at ₱41.75 (0.236) and ₱42.45 (0.382), with the ₱40.55 retracement floor overhead and the 52-week low at ₱37.85 the key support shelf directly below Wednesday's close. Consensus analyst target: ₱48.06 — roughly 26% upside plus the dividend yield.
