Session covered: June 18, 2026

THE CALL Hike absorbed — the market pares but holds; foreign buyers return

The PSEi shrugged off a hawkish BSP, closing +38.85 pts (+0.63%) at 6,153.66 after rising as much as 1.1% intraday before paring. The central bank hiked the RRP 25 bps to 4.75% — its second straight meeting — citing persistent inflation, raised its 2026 CPI forecast to 6.4%, and Governor Remolona signaled another hike is still possible. Yet equities took it in stride: foreigns turned net BUYERS of ₱167.55M ($2.77M), led by a massive ICT reversal (+₱548.3M) plus BPI (+₱118.2M), and the property and services sectors led the tape (+1.72% / +1.99%). The standouts: ALI surged +7.78% on AC's stake-buy follow-through, SGP jumped +6.15% (its most in 14 weeks), and DigiPlus leapt +9.11%. Mining was the lone heavy drag (-2.86%) as gold/metals reversed (gold -2.8%, silver -5.8%) and the peso slipped to 60.588 amid yuan weakness (USD-CNY 6.77). Our posture: the rate cycle is now largely in the price — stay constructive and selective, owning the foreign-favored quality (ICT, BPI, AC/ALI, SGP) and the rate-resilient banks, while watching the peso and Remolona's next move.

PSE figures per the June 18, 2026 DQR (authoritative). The "June 19" global column reflects the latest available reads; verify against Bloomberg before distribution.

Global risk appetite firmed. Wall Street rallied (Nasdaq and S&P 500 higher) as US-Iran de-escalation held and the geopolitical premium continued to drain — WTI traded as low as $73.6 intraday, the lowest since the conflict began, before stabilizing near $76. Asia outperformed: the Nikkei 225 closed above 71,000 for the first time ever, the KOSPI broke 9,000 to a record, and Taiwan's TAIEX hit a fresh intraday high. Against that buoyant backdrop, two divergences mattered for the region: Hong Kong developer stocks fell after the hawkish Fed (Warsh held but signaled hikes), and both Indonesia and the Philippines hiked policy rates. For the PSEi, the combination of lower oil, record-setting regional peers and a domestic hike that was fully expected produced a resilient, if measured, advance.

Commodities

Commodity	June 18	June 19	% Chg
WTI Crude ($/bbl)	75.89	76.01	+0.16%
Brent Crude ($/bbl)	78.63	79.00	+0.47%

Crude stabilized in the mid-$70s (WTI $76.01, Brent $79.00) after touching a multi-week low near $73.6 — the war premium now fully unwound. The bigger move was in precious metals: gold dropped 2.8% to $4,208 and silver tumbled 5.8% to $65.86 as safe-haven demand retreated and the dollar firmed, directly driving the local Mining sector's -2.86% slide (PX, NIKL, APX, OGP all lower). Copper eased slightly to $643. Sustained sub-$80 oil remains the key disinflation offset to the BSP's inflation worry and a cost tailwind for airlines and logistics, even as the metals reversal pressures the gold-leveraged miners.

Fixed Income & Currencies

FX & Rates	June 17	June 18	% Chg
PHL 10yr Bond Yield (%)	6.928	6.997	+1.00%
US 10yr Bond Yield (%)	4.430	4.463	+0.74%

USD-CNY	6.6561	6.7683	+1.69%
EUR-USD	1.1615	1.1464	-1.30%

The BSP delivered its widely expected 25-bps hike to 4.75% — the second straight — and struck a hawkish tone: it raised the 2026 CPI forecast to 6.4% (actual inflation peaked at 7.2% in April, eased to 6.8% in May), projects headline inflation above the 4% ceiling through 2027 before settling slightly above the 3% target in 2028, and Governor Remolona flagged that another hike is still possible. Yields backed up accordingly: the PHL 10-year ticked to 6.997% and the US 10-year to 4.463%. The peso slipped to 60.588 as the dollar firmed and USD-CNY jumped to 6.7683 (yuan weakness a regional-FX watch item). The Philippines had earlier locked in $2.5B from its second global bond sale; T-bill auctions (₱20B 63-day, ₱20B 35-day) are set for June 22.

Philippines — Market Strategy

A resilient session. The PSEi rose 38.85 pts (+0.63%) to 6,153.66, having climbed as much as 1.1% intraday (high 6,180.92) before paring as the BSP's hawkish hike and guidance tempered enthusiasm. Breadth was actually negative (82 advances vs 100 declines) — the index was carried by heavyweights — and turnover was light at ₱7.15B. The sector picture was bifurcated: Property (+1.72%) and Services (+1.99%) led on the ALI/SGP/DigiPlus strength, Holdings edged up (+0.10%), while Mining cratered -2.86% on the metals reversal and Financials slipped -0.68% as profit-taking hit some banks. Critically, foreigns returned as net buyers (+₱167.55M) after the prior day's outflow, dominated by an enormous ICT reversal (+₱548.3M) and BPI (+₱118.2M), with AC (+₱46.7M), AEV (+₱37.9M) and EMI (+₱37.3M) also drawing inflows. Heaviest selling: SM (-₱109.9M), JFC (-₱107.8M), TEL (-₱62.3M), GLO (-₱50.8M). MTD net foreign selling narrowed to $374.72M, YTD to $194.29M. Block sales totaled ₱1.12B (SMPH ₱256.7M, ICT crosses ~₱470M, ALI ₱141.7M).

Strategy: the hike is in the price — buy the foreign-favored quality. The market's ability to advance on a hawkish hike day, with foreign buyers returning, is constructive. The cleanest signal is where the big foreign money went: ICT (a dollar-earning hedge in a strong-USD regime, +₱548M reversal), BPI and BDO (rate-resilient banks despite the digital-outage warning on BPI), and the Ayala complex (AC/ALI) where parent buying is validating deep value. SGP's +6.15% breakout (RSI 73.8) reflects a defensive grid-monopoly re-rating — constructive but now overbought, so accumulate on pullbacks. Trim the gold-leveraged miners (PX, OGP, APX) into the metals reversal. Treat the persistent foreign selling in SM and JFC as discount/sentiment overhangs rather than buying triggers yet. With Remolona signaling more hikes possible, keep a quality, rate-resilient tilt and watch the peso (60.59) and the next CPI print. Buybacks (PLUS, AGI, FRUIT, OPM) remain a floor.

Macro ₱BSP —

BSP Hikes 25 bps to 4.75% (Second Straight); Lifts 2026 CPI View to 6.4%, Signals More Possible

The Bangko Sentral raised its reverse repurchase rate by 25 bps to 4.75% — its second consecutive hike — to keep inflation expectations anchored and mitigate second-round effects on consumer prices. It lifted its 2026 average CPI forecast to 6.4% (inflation peaked at 7.2% in April, eased to 6.8% in May) and now projects headline inflation above the 4% ceiling through 2027, settling slightly above the 3% target only in 2028. Governor Remolona said another hike remains possible, consistent with the forward guidance. Separately, the Philippines pushes a Qualified Domestic Minimum Top-Up Tax (15% effective rate) and locked in $2.5B from its second global bond sale.

A hawkish-but-expected hike. The market's ability to close higher with foreign buyers returning suggests the rate cycle is now largely discounted. The above-target inflation path through 2027 keeps the BSP biased to tighten, which supports bank margins but caps how far local yields can fall — a headwind for the most rate-sensitive REITs/property unless inflation cools faster than projected.

View — Position for higher-for-longer: favor rate-resilient banks (BDO, BPI, MBT) and dollar-earning ICT; be selective on rate-sensitive property/REITs until the inflation path improves. The hike being absorbed is itself a constructive signal.

> MACRO MONITOR Second straight hike to 4.75%, CPI view raised, more possible; banks favored, REITs selective. Constructive-absorbed.

AC / ALI ₱410.00 / 14.70 +2.55% / +7.78%

ALI Surges on AC Stake-Buy Follow-Through — Parent Bought 35M Shares at Avg ₱13.07

Ayala Land jumped 7.78% to ₱14.70 — the day's standout large-cap — extending gains after parent Ayala Corp confirmed it purchased 35 million ALI shares at an average ₱13.07 (raising its stake to 53.58%), a clear deep-value signal. AC itself rose 2.55% to ₱410 with ₱46.7M of foreign net buying, even as foreigns still net-sold ₱53.8M of ALI into the rally (block ₱141.7M crossed at ₱13.62). The parent's purchase at bargain levels validated the thesis that ALI's price was not reflecting its prime landbank and earnings power.

Parent accumulation at the lows is among the most reliable value signals, and the market responded emphatically. The ~8% pop confirms sentiment had over-discounted ALI; with AC anchoring the float and the property tailwind (lower long-end yields) intact, the risk/reward has improved. AC benefits doubly — directly via its ALI stake and via the embedded GCash value set to be surfaced by the Mynt IPO.

View — The parent's buy-the-dip is working. Accumulate ALI on the deep-value recovery (parent-supported) and AC as the discounted holdco with ALI + GCash optionality; use pullbacks after the sharp pop rather than chasing the spike.

> ACCUMULATE Parent buying drives ALI +7.78%; deep value confirmed, property tailwind intact. Accumulate on dips.

ICT ₱925.00 +2.78%

ICTSI Snaps Back with a ₱548M Foreign-Buying Reversal — Dollar-Earnings Hedge in Favor

ICT rebounded 2.78% to ₱925 on the single largest foreign net inflow of the session (+₱548.3M) — a dramatic reversal after the prior day's ₱378.9M outflow during the hawkish-Fed risk-off. The swing underscores how quickly global funds re-engage the name as a high-quality, liquid, dollar-earning franchise. Multiple block crosses (₱227.9M, ₱140.9M, ₱101.5M near ₱903–910) accompanied the move.

The violent flip from heavy selling to the day's biggest buy confirms ICTSI's role as the institutional vehicle of choice — and crucially, its dollar-denominated port earnings are a natural hedge in a strong-USD, hawkish-rate regime (peso at 60.59, USD-CNY rising). The franchise quality and global diversification justify the foreign bid.

View — The flow leadership and dollar-earnings hedge make ICT a core large-cap holding through the rate cycle. Accumulate; the foreign reversal signals institutions view the prior dip as the opportunity, not the top.

> ACCUMULATE Biggest foreign inflow (+₱548M) reverses the selloff; dollar-earnings hedge in a strong-USD regime. Accumulate.

SGP ₱33.75 +6.15%

Synergy Grid Breaks Out +6.15% (Most in 14 Weeks) — Defensive Grid Monopoly Re-Rates

Synergy Grid surged 6.15% to ₱33.75 — its biggest gain in 14 weeks (intraday high ₱34) — on ₱48.1M of foreign net buying and ₱252.1M of turnover, with RSI pushing to an overbought 73.8. SGP, the holding vehicle for the country's power-transmission monopoly (NGCP), is a regulated, defensive, cash-generative asset that draws a bid when investors seek rate-resilient quality amid an inflationary, rising-rate backdrop.

The breakout reflects a rotation into defensive monopoly cash flows on a hawkish-BSP day — a sensible posture. But with RSI at 73.8 and an 8.5% two-day run, the move is now technically extended; the fundamental story (regulated returns, indispensable asset) is intact but the entry is stretched.

View — A high-quality defensive re-rating, but overbought near-term. Constructive on SGP for rate-resilient, regulated cash flows; accumulate on pullbacks rather than at RSI 73.8.

> MONITOR — ACCUMULATE ON PULLBACK Defensive grid-monopoly re-rating, but RSI 73.8 overbought after an 8.5% run. Accumulate on pullbacks.

OGP ₱33.80 +0.90%

OceanaGold PH Posts Explosive Q1 — Revenue +99.7%, Net Income +368.9%

OceanaGold Philippines reported a blockbuster first quarter: gross revenue surged 99.7% to ₱158.4M (from ₱79.3M) and net income after tax expanded 368.9% to ₱34.7M (from ₱7.4M), year-on-year. OGP rose 0.90% to ₱33.80, though foreigns net-sold ₱3.9M and the broader Mining sector fell 2.86% as gold reversed (-2.8% to $4,208). The earnings reflect higher realized gold prices and ramped production at its Philippine operations.

The fundamentals are outstanding — near-doubling revenue and a near-quintupling of net income show powerful operating leverage to elevated gold prices. The tension is that the share barely moved on the day because the macro (gold's sharp pullback and the sector-wide metals reversal) overwhelmed the company-specific beat. OGP is a high-beta play on the bullion price.

View — Exceptional Q1 results, but the stock trades on the gold price, which just reversed hard. Monitor OGP — constructive on the earnings power, but size for gold-price volatility; accumulate on metals-driven weakness rather than chasing.

> MONITOR — POSITIVE FUNDAMENTALS Explosive Q1 (rev +99.7%, NIAT +368.9%) but stock hostage to a reversing gold price. Monitor; buy weakness.

DD / MM ₱12.44 / — +1.30%

DoubleDragon Lifts MerryMart Stake to 98.61% — Delisting Vote July 7; Preferred Dividend Declared

DoubleDragon raised its ownership in MerryMart to 98.61% after completing a mandatory tender offer (4.83 billion shares tendered, period ended June 16), clearing the 95% threshold for voluntary delisting; MerryMart's shareholder vote is set for July 7, 2026. The offer was ₱0.48/share (a 20% premium), payable 50% cash and 50% in DD shares valued at ₱9.30. DD rose 1.30% to ₱12.44 with ₱0.51M of foreign buying, and separately declared a ₱2.42125/share preferred cash dividend (record July 1, payable July 14). DD targets ₱500B consolidated revenue and ₱50B net income by 2035, with Hotel101 as a key growth driver.

The near-full takeout consolidates MerryMart into the DD ecosystem, streamlining operations and capturing synergies with the Sia/Tan Caktiong group. For MerryMart minorities it is effectively an exit (brokers have urged taking the offer given the lack of near-term catalysts). For DD, full integration plus the Hotel101 international expansion and the preferred dividend underscore the long-term ₱500B revenue ambition — though execution over a decade is the key risk.

View — DD: a long-dated growth story (Hotel101, retail integration) with a consolidation catalyst now executed; constructive but multi-year. MerryMart minorities should take the tender. Accumulate DD selectively on the Hotel101/ecosystem thesis.

> ACCUMULATE — SELECTIVE MerryMart takeout to 98.61% streamlines the ecosystem; Hotel101 the growth driver. Accumulate selectively.

ACEN ₱3.12 +0.65%

ACEN Infuses ₱1B into Landholding Unit for Renewables Expansion

ACEN infused ₱1 billion into a landholding subsidiary to secure and develop sites for its renewable-energy build-out, supporting its large utility-scale solar/wind pipeline. ACEN edged up to ₱3.12 with ₱0.42M of foreign net buying on the day. The capital injection follows ACEN's recent capital-recycling moves (the Dutch DIRO co-investment in its India solar platform and earlier Palauig Solar injections), part of an active strategy to fund a multi-gigawatt pipeline.

Securing land is the unglamorous but essential foundation of RE growth — control of sites de-risks project timelines and supports the pipeline toward ACEN's ambitious capacity targets. Combined with capital recycling (bringing in co-investors while retaining control), it shows disciplined growth funding. The hawkish-rate backdrop is a mild headwind for capital-intensive RE returns.

View — A constructive, growth-supportive use of capital that underpins the medium-term RE pipeline. Accumulate ACEN on the long-run renewables build-out; mindful that rising rates pressure project economics near-term.

> ACCUMULATE ₱1B land injection de-risks the RE pipeline; disciplined capital recycling. Accumulate on the growth runway.

BSP: Bank Lending to Moderate as Rates Rise — but Foreigns Keep Buying BDO, BPI

The BSP said bank lending growth is likely to moderate as policy rates rise, a natural consequence of its tightening to tame inflation. Financials slipped 0.68% on the session, yet the foreign bid into the big banks persisted — BDO drew ₱51.1M and BPI ₱118.2M of net buying — even as the BSP issued a formal warning to BPI over multi-day digital-banking outages, threatening supervisory action. PSEi-listed banks: AUB, BPI, BDO, CBC, EW, MBT, PNB, SECB.

Two offsetting forces: higher rates support net interest margins (positive) but slower credit growth tempers volume (a partial offset), with asset-quality discipline key. The continued foreign accumulation in BDO and BPI signals institutions favor the margin story over the volume drag. The BPI digital-outage warning is an operational/reputational watch item but not yet a fundamental impairment.

View — Banks remain the preferred sector for a higher-for-longer rate path; the foreign bid confirms it. Accumulate BDO and MBT on margins; treat BPI's outage warning as a monitorable risk rather than a thesis-breaker. Accumulate quality banks.

> ACCUMULATE — SECTOR Margin tailwind outweighs slower lending; foreigns keep buying BDO/BPI. Accumulate quality banks (BPI outage a watch item).

Lopez Energy Complex: Relief Bid Holds (FPH +₱5.1M Foreign Buy), Dispute Still Unresolved

First Philippine Holdings held ₱82 with ₱5.1M of foreign net buying, sustaining the relief bid that followed First Gen's independent-director endorsement of the ₱61.9B Prime Infra pumped-storage hydro deal. FGEN eased to ₱15.90 with a small foreign sell, and Lopez Holdings was flat at ₱4.00 (with ₱0.31M foreign buy). The underlying intra-Lopez control dispute — spanning FGEN, FPH, ABS-CBN and Lopez Holdings — remains unresolved and continues to cap conviction across the complex.

The endorsement gave the Lopez energy names a steadier footing (FPH the cleaner vehicle), and the hydro pipeline (2,000-MW capacity, ~₱16B/yr earnings from the 33% stake) has real long-term value. But the family/SEC governance overhang is unresolved and remains the swing factor — the names trade on dispute headlines more than hydro fundamentals.

View — A holding pattern: relief bid intact, governance dispute unresolved. We keep the Lopez energy complex (FGEN, FPH) on governance watch — constructive on the assets, cautious until the control fight is settled.

> GOVERN — GOVERNANCE WATCH Relief bid holds on the hydro endorsement, but intra-Lopez dispute unresolved across the complex. Governance watch.

PLDT Home + Meralco/MSpectrum Broadband-Solar Bundle — Connected-Home Push Continues

PLDT, through PLDT Home, partnered with Meralco and solar arm MSpectrum to offer bundled broadband-and-solar packages to households — an MVP-group collaboration to "own the whole home" by pairing connectivity with rooftop solar (design, permitting, installation, financing). TEL eased to ₱1,100 (-0.72%) with ₱62.3M of foreign net selling on the session. Separately, ePLDT is pushing an AI-powered enterprise contact-center platform.

A sensible, stickiness-enhancing bundling play leveraging intra-group synergies (PLDT + Meralco + MGEN solar), but incremental to the investment case rather than transformational. TEL's foreign selling on the day reflects the broader telco profit-taking (GLO also sold) after the GCash-IPO-driven run, not this specific initiative.

View — A modest strategic positive for the connected-home/ARPU narrative; not a near-term catalyst. Monitor TEL for the data-center/AI and bundling optionality; the foreign selling is rotation after the telco run-up.

> MONITOR Broadband+solar bundling deepens household stickiness; incremental. Foreign selling is post-run rotation. Monitor.
