On Friday the Nasdaq Composite staged a late-session 1.1% surge to 24,579.42 on a dip-buying rebound in semiconductors (Nvidia +6.5%, AMD +11%), but the broader market could not shake off a bruising week. US job growth surged in October, with nonfarm payrolls up 165,000, topping all forecasts, and the unemployment rate edged lower. The desk supplied no Dow Jones or S&P 500 levels this morning.

PHILIPPINES STRATEGY

The PSEi held up on a day Asia fell hard, but the quality of the session was thin. The index lost 16.19 points to 5,761.95, a 0.28% decline against drops of 0.49% to 6.02% in the ten falling Asian markets in the desk table. Below the surface, 96 issues fell against 69 that rose, the equal-weighted PSEi-30 gained only 0.08%, and the day's lift came from Financials (+1.24%) and AC (+2.49%), with ₱756.3M of foreign buying in BDO and AC. Foreigners were net buyers for a third day (+₱981.8M) and accounted for 57% of two-sided turnover, up from 48%.

What the tape shows

- Banks led the support. Financials rose 1.24% as CBC, BDO and BPI gained 1.3–3.0%; foreign buying in BDO (+₱462.7M) and BPI (+₱126.0M) is the day's clearest signal, and BDO's ₱815.2M turnover was second only to ICT.
- Sector breadth was poor. Five of six sector indices fell, led by Services (−1.39%) and Mining & Oil (−0.98%); ICT alone (−1.57%) was 19.0% of the day's turnover.
- Block activity jumped. Blocks were ₱842.2M, or 13.2% of value, against ₱344.2M on Nov 5; two CBC prints (₱468.5M) and ALI's ₱156.9M cross make up 74% of it. CBC's second print (₱44.9M at ₱44.90) crossed 7.6% below the close.
- Foreign flow data does not tie. The DQR's official net foreign is +₱981.8M, but the issue-level nets sum to +₱479.1M; the largest single item is SPNEC (−₱399.1M on ₱420.6M of value). Use the official total as the headline.
- Macro (desk): BSP gross international reserves fell to $97.35B in October from $99.49B in September (forex intervention, debt servicing and lower gold and asset valuations); September unemployment ticked up to 5.4% from 5.3%.

Risks to watch (desk items, not verified)

- Regional contagion: the MSCI Asia Pacific drop of 5.3% (desk post) and the Nikkei, KOSPI and TWSE falls of 4.5–6.0% came as the PSEi lost 0.28%; Monday's Asian open is the first read on whether that gap closes.
- US tech: the desk calls the Nov 5 rout tech's worst day since March 2020; Friday's 1.1% Nasdaq rebound recovered only part of it, and the Dow Jones and S&P 500 were not supplied.
- Earnings: SMPH reports nine-month results today; ALI's nine-month profit fell 18.2% to ₱17.5B, a reminder that property results are under pressure.

LEARN — DRAWDOWNS AND THE ARITHMETIC OF RECOVERY

The concept. A fall is not recovered by an equal rise. If an index drops 10%, it must rise 11.1% to get back to where it started, because the gain is earned on a smaller base. The larger the fall, the more lopsided the recovery. Traders also use size conventions: a fall of 10% or more from a recent peak is commonly called a correction, and 20% or more a bear market. A drawdown is simply the percentage decline from a peak to the current level.

Fall from the starting level	Gain needed to recover	Example
5%	5.3%	A routine pullback
10%	11.1%	Correction threshold
20%	25.0%	Bear-market threshold
50%	100.0%	Recovery requires a doubling
Nikkei, Nov 6: −5.96%	6.3%	To regain 61,077.90 from 57,434.77
KOSPI, Nov 6: −6.02%	6.4%	To regain 5,383.80 from 5,059.69
PSEi vs carried 52-week high (verify)	15.8%	13.7% below 6,673.61; to regain it from 5,761.95

Why it matters today. Friday's Asian declines of about 6% in Japan and Korea each need a gain of roughly 6.3–6.4% to undo, and the PSEi sits 13.7% below its carried 52-week high, which by the 10% convention is correction territory. A rebound of a few percent from here therefore recovers only part of the ground lost, and a rally that is narrow (Friday: 69 advancers against 96 decliners) is weaker evidence than one led by broad participation.

How to use it. (1) Convert any decline into the gain required: 1 ÷ (1 − fall) − 1. (2) Measure drawdowns from the relevant peak, not from yesterday's close. (3) Compare the size of a rebound with the size of the fall it is recovering. (4) Check breadth and foreign flows to see whether a rebound is broad. Takeaway: a 6% fall needs a 6.4% rise, a 20% fall needs 25%; position sizes and stop-losses should account for that asymmetry.
