AT A GLANCE — ACTIONABLE HIGHLIGHTS

Session snapshot PSEi 6,326.89 ▲ +37.68 (+0.60%) • Value ₱5.13B • Breadth 98 up / 91 down / 64 flat • Foreign ₱179.33M (net foreign buying)

► PSEi rose 37.68 pts (+0.60%) to 6,326.89, joining a broad Asian rebound (Shanghai +3.1%, Hang Seng +2.8%, SENSEX +2.8%) after Monday's selloff; Financials (+1.52%), Property (+1.84%) and Mining & Oil (+2.18%) all led.

► Foreigners turned net BUYERS (+₱179.33M — the week's first net buy), driven by a massive JFC inflow (+₱93.8M) and a sharp reversal back into the banks (BDO/BPI/MBT together ~+₱84.5M after Monday's heavy selling).

► JFC surged +5.05% to ₱156 on the day's biggest foreign buy, shrugging off a trimmed store-expansion target (1,000–1,100 from 1,200–1,300); ALI drew +₱66.6M as Q2 income rebounded +13% q/q to ₱6.1B and it lifted 2026 capex back to ~₱60B.

► But the advance was heavyweight-led and breadth thin (98 up / 91 down); SM round-tripped from Monday's top inflow to the day's largest outflow (-₱42.9M), and turnover was a moderate ₱5.13B.

► Mining & Oil jumped +2.18% on Atlas/copper strength (Dominion-deal follow-through) even as gold pulled back 1.0% from its record — a metal-price/deal-led move, not a bullion one; foreigners still trimmed AT, PX and NIKL.

► The peso led Asian currency losses, weakening to ₱61.26 on the oil surge (Trump's new Iran demands); PHL 10Y rose to 7.301% — we keep BDO/BPI/MBT on MONITOR despite Tuesday's tactical bounce.

THE CALL

The Philippine Stock Exchange index rebounded on Tuesday, adding 37.68 points (+0.60%) to close at 6,326.89 as it rode a broad recovery across Asian equities. Financials (+1.52%), Property (+1.84%) and Mining & Oil (+2.18%) all led higher, a decisive reversal of Monday's defensive tone. That said, participation stayed narrow — advancers edged decliners just 98 to 91, and turnover was a moderate ₱5.13 billion — so the gains were concentrated in the heavyweights the flows were chasing.

The tone tracked a rebound across the region: Shanghai jumped 3.1%, Hang Seng 2.8%, India's SENSEX 2.8% and Korea's KOSPI 1.7% as buyers stepped back in after Monday's oil-shock selloff (Tokyo was shut for a holiday). US markets, by contrast, slipped as crude climbed again — WTI up on President Trump's sweeping new demands on Iran, which revived Strait-of-Hormuz uncertainty ahead of key US inflation data. The Philippine peso bore the brunt of the oil move, weakening to ₱61.26 and leading Asian currency losses.

The flow story flipped constructively. Foreign investors were net buyers of ₱179.33 million — the week's first net inflow — led by an outsized ₱93.8-million bid for Jollibee and a sharp rotation back into the banks (BDO, BPI and Metrobank together drew roughly ₱84.5 million after Monday's heavy selling). Ayala Land added ₱66.6 million as its Q2 earnings sequential rebound reassured the market. Against that, SM round-tripped — Monday's largest inflow became Tuesday's largest outflow (-₱42.9M) — a reminder that the rotation is fast and name-specific rather than a broad re-risking.

The brief's two columns map to the Aug 10 and Aug 11 closes (prior → latest). The brief repeats an erroneous PSEi "prior" of 6,281.01; we use the actual Aug-10 DQR close of 6,289.21, giving +37.68 (+0.60%). ‡ Nikkei is unchanged because Japan's markets were closed for the Mountain Day holiday. Asia rebounded broadly after Monday's selloff, while US indices slipped as oil climbed ahead of US inflation data.

Oil extended its climb (WTI +1.47%, Brent +1.22%) after President Trump issued sweeping new demands on Iran, keeping Strait-of-Hormuz risk live. Gold pulled back about 1% from its record (~US$4,470 → US$4,425) and silver eased — so the local Mining & Oil rally (+2.18%) was driven by Atlas and copper/base-metal names on the Dominion-deal follow-through, not by bullion. Cocoa dropped sharply (-4.7%).

FX & RATES

Instrument	Aug 10	Aug 11	Chg	Comment
PHL 10-Yr Bond (%)	7.256	7.301	+0.045	rising; well >7%

The peso led Asian currency losses, weakening to ₱61.26 as rising crude hit oil-importing nations (the DQR's DDS conversion reference was USD1 = ₱60.705). The PHL 10-year climbed to 7.301%, further above our 7% bank-caution line, while the US 10-year eased to 4.690% ahead of US inflation data; local bond yields are otherwise seen drifting sideways on a less-hawkish BSP.

PHILIPPINES STRATEGY

Tuesday's tape rewarded the cyclical, rate-sensitive corners of the market — banks and property — even as the macro news flow stayed mixed. Ayala Land is the clearest case: first-half net income fell 19% to ₱11.5 billion, but Q2 rose 13% quarter-on-quarter to ₱6.1 billion, inventory is back to pre-pandemic ~15 months, and management lifted 2026 capex back to ~₱60 billion (from a trimmed ₱50 billion) as a signal of renewed conviction. Combined with receding MSCI-deletion risk and ₱66.6 million of foreign buying, we lift our operating conviction on ALI and stay Accumulate.

We are less willing to chase the bank bounce. Financials led the board and foreigners bought BDO (+₱42.9M), Metrobank (+₱21.5M) and BPI (+₱20.1M) — a striking reversal of Monday — but the PHL 10-year rose again to 7.301%, further above our 7% caution line, as the oil-driven inflation scare and a weaker peso pressured local rates. We read Tuesday as a tactical, valuation-driven bounce rather than a trend change, and keep BDO, BPI and MBT on MONITOR pending a sustained sub-7% move; note the offsetting macro positive that the market now sees a less-hawkish BSP and bond yields drifting sideways.

In the rest of the book we lean with the earnings and the flows. Jollibee's ₱93.8-million foreign bid and 5% jump — despite a trimmed store target — mark it as a high-conviction accumulation name on its dollar-linked global growth. In staples-adjacent holdcos, LT Group's Q2 profit jump to ₱9.54 billion and DMCI's third straight day of buying keep both as Accumulate. On mining, we stay selective: Tuesday's +2.18% sector move was driven by Atlas and copper names on Dominion-deal follow-through, not by gold (which pulled back from its record), and foreigners were still net sellers of AT, PX and NIKL — so we continue to prefer taking profits into strength over chasing the momentum.

CORPORATE UPDATES

JFC Jollibee Foods Corp. ₱156.00

Jollibee jumps 5% on the day's largest foreign inflow (+₱93.8M), shrugging off a trimmed store target

Jollibee Foods was the market's standout: it surged 5.05% to ₱156.00 on the single largest net foreign inflow of the session at +₱93.8 million, and was the fourth most active name by value (₱263.5M). The buying came even as management lowered its 2026 store-expansion target to 1,000–1,100 new outlets (from an initial 1,200–1,300) to manage rising costs and supply pressures tied to the Middle East conflict — and days after signing a 16-store British Columbia franchise deal that presses its target of 500 North American locations by 2030.

Analysis. The market looked straight through the softer store-count guidance and focused on the franchise's dollar-linked international growth runway and disciplined cost management. An inflow of this size into a single consumer name is a strong conviction signal, and JFC remains one of the cleaner ways to own Philippine-anchored global expansion. We stay Accumulate.

Stance: ACCUMULATE — decisive foreign accumulation on a global-growth story; look through the store-count trim.

ALI Ayala Land, Inc. ₱16.10

ALI's Q2 rebounds 13% q/q and it lifts capex back to ~₱60B — a confidence signal drawing + ₱66.6M foreign

Ayala Land firmed to ₱16.10 on +₱66.6 million of net foreign buying — the second-largest inflow of the day — as investors focused on a sequential earnings recovery. While first-half net income fell 19% to ₱11.5 billion (revenue -9.75% to ₱75 billion) on the soft residential market and high rates, Q2 net income rose 13% quarter-on-quarter to ₱6.1 billion, and management brought inventory down to a pre-pandemic ~15 months. CEO Anna Ma. Margarita Bautista-Dy said ALI is raising 2026 capex back to about ₱60 billion (from a trimmed ₱50 billion in May) to complete high-conviction projects — 13,000 residential units, 200,000 sqm of mall GLA and 30,000 sqm of offices — describing the increase as a reflection of confidence.

Analysis. This is exactly the stabilisation narrative we wanted to see: sequential bottom-line improvement, inventory normalisation and a capex step-up funded from internal cash. Layered on receding MSCI-deletion risk and continued parent buying, the risk-reward on the most-shortened deep-value blue chip is improving. We lift our operating conviction and stay Accumulate near ~0.6x book.

Stance: ACCUMULATE — sequential Q2 recovery, inventory normalising, capex re-raised; deep value with improving momentum.

BANKS BDO • BPI • MBT BDO ₱125.00 • BPI ₱103.00 • MBT ₱66.95

Foreigners pile back into the banks (~+₱84.5M) as Financials lead — but the 10Y keeps rising

Financials were the day's second-best sector (+1.52%) as foreign investors reversed Monday's selling and bought the big three lenders hard — BDO (+₱42.9M), Metrobank (+₱21.5M) and BPI (+₱20.1M), roughly ₱84.5 million combined. BPI led on price (+2.79% to ₱103.00), with BDO +1.71% and MBT +0.90%. Yet the rate backdrop worked against the group: the PHL 10-year rose again to 7.301%, further above our 7% caution line, as the oil-driven inflation scare and a weaker peso lifted local yields.

Analysis. The snapback in bank flows is encouraging and consistent with cheap valuations and a solid Q2 earnings season, but a one-day reversal against a still-rising 10-year is a tactical bounce, not a trend change. We keep BDO, BPI and MBT on MONITOR pending a decisive sub-7% move or a clear BSP peak signal; the market's shift toward a less-hawkish BSP is the medium-term catalyst to upgrade.

Stance: MONITOR — tactical bounce on strong flows, but the 10Y at 7.30% keeps us

SM SM Investments Corp. ₱602.00SM round-trips — Monday's top inflow becomes Tuesday's largest outflow (-₱42.9M)

SM Investments closed marginally lower at ₱602.00 and drew the day's single largest net foreign outflow of -₱42.9 million — a complete reversal of Monday, when it had led the market with a +₱52.4 million inflow. It nonetheless remained the second most active name by value (₱370.2M), and featured in the block tape with two crosses totalling ₱89.4 million. The move looks like profit-taking after Monday's surge rather than a change in view, with the group's property arm (SM Prime, +₱21.4M) drawing fresh buying the same day.

Analysis. A one-session round-trip in the market's most liquid holdco is position management, not a thesis break — SM's diversified, cash-generative franchise (banking, property, retail) remains our core domestic-demand proxy. We would treat flow-driven wobble as noise and stay Accumulate.

Stance: ACCUMULATE — profit-taking after Monday's surge; core holdco thesis intact.

SMPH SM Prime Holdings, Inc. ₱19.10SM Prime leads the property rally (+3.4%) on Q2 income of ₱12.9B and +₱21.4M foreign buying

SM Prime jumped 3.35% to ₱19.10 — the third most active name by value (₱334.4M) — on +₱21.4 million of net foreign buying, helping drive Property to a +1.84% sector gain. The move follows Q2 net income rising to ₱12.9 billion, underscoring the resilience of the group's mall-led recurring-income model even as the residential market stays soft. REITs and landlords broadly firmed on the day (AREIT +1.6%, RCR steady on a ₱2.55B Q2).

Analysis. SMPH is the premier mall-and-integrated-estate landlord in the country, and its recurring-income base is precisely the defensive-growth profile that holds up through a soft consumer cycle. With earnings resilient and foreign buying supportive, we are Accumulate.

Stance: ACCUMULATE — resilient mall-led recurring income; property-rally leader.

LTG LT Group, Inc. ₱14.70LT Group Q2 profit jumps to ₱9.54B

LT Group reported a jump in second-quarter net income to ₱9.54 billion, extending the earnings strength of its banking (PNB), tobacco, beverage and property interests. The stock firmed to ₱14.70 on +₱3.3 million of net foreign buying. LTG remains one of the cheaper diversified holdcos on the board, with a bank (PNB) leg that benefits from the same healthy franchise earnings lifting the sector.

Analysis. A strong Q2 print reinforces LTG's appeal as a low-multiple, cash-generative holdco with a dependable dividend and a well-capitalised banking arm. It screens attractively on earnings yield against the broader market, and we stay Accumulate.

Stance: ACCUMULATE — cheap, cash-generative holdco with a strong Q2 and dependable payout.

DMC DMCI Holdings, Inc. ₱7.57DMCI extends its buying streak to a third session (+₱15.4M)

DMCI Holdings rose 1.61% to ₱7.57 on +₱15.4 million of net foreign buying — its third consecutive session among the market's larger inflows (after +₱29.1M and +₱24.4M earlier in the week). The diversified holdco continues to screen well on the cash generation and dividend track record we have highlighted, with a Q1 net income of ₱4.87–4.9B on a base spanning construction, Semirara coal/power, DMCI Homes, nickel and cement, plus optionality on the emerging Sy–Consunji mining consolidation via the Dominion–Atlas vehicle.

Analysis. Three straight days of concerted accumulation into a cash-generative, dividend-friendly holdco is a persistent signal, and the group's exposure to the mining-consolidation theme adds upside optionality on top of a solid base. We stay Accumulate.

Stance: ACCUMULATE — sustained institutional demand; cash-generative holdco with mining optionality.

MINING Mining & Oil Complex AT ₱16.00 · APX ₱15.06 · PX ₱10.18 · NIKL ₱4.25 · OGP ₱35.90Mining leads the board (+2.18%) on Atlas/copper strength — but not on gold, and foreigners kept trimming

Mining & Oil was the day's top sector, up 2.18%, led by Atlas Mining (+3.2% to ₱16.00), Apex (+2.7% to ₱15.06) and Philex (+3.9% to ₱10.18) as the Dominion–Atlas deal and firmer copper sentiment lifted the base-metal names. Notably, the rally came despite gold pulling back about 1% from its record — so this was a metal-price and deal-driven move rather than a bullion one. And the foreign tape stayed one-directional: Atlas (-₱15.5M), Philex (-₱16.3M) and Nickel Asia (-₱9.5M) all saw net outflows even as prices rose; OceanaGold bucked with +₱3.8M.

Analysis. A sector rally that the offshore money keeps selling into is a caution flag, not a green light. We continue to prefer taking profits into strength across the higher-beta miners (AT, APX, PX) after their outsized runs, retaining OceanaGold as the cash-flow-quality hold. The Dominion–Atlas story is a real catalyst but is now well-telegraphed.

Stance: SELECTIVE — TAKE PROFITS into the rally; keep the cash-flow leader (OGP). Foreigners are still distributing.

FGEN First Gen Corp. ₱21.30First Gen surges ~8.7% on heavy volume and modest foreign buying

First Gen was among the day's biggest movers, jumping roughly 8.7% to ₱21.30 as the tenth most active name by value (₱116.0M) on +₱4.0 million of net foreign buying. The move — on notably heavy volume — points to renewed interest in the clean-energy generator, whose gas and geothermal fleet underpins a recurring-income earnings base within the Lopez group. (Sector peer ACEN separately swung to a ₱978-million Q2 profit on stronger generation.)

Analysis. The scale of the one-day move warrants a note of caution — momentum this sharp can retrace — but the underlying story is a well-run, contracted power generator with a green-transition tilt trading at an undemanding multiple. We would treat strength as a speculative, catalyst-driven trade pending confirmation from the Q2 earnings detail.

Stance: SPECULATIVE BUY — momentum plus a solid generation base; size for volatility and confirm on earnings.

ACEN ACEN Corp. ₱2.99ACEN swings to a ₱978M Q2 profit on stronger generation, but the stock and flows stayed soft

ACEN swung to a second-quarter net profit of ₱978 million on stronger generation output, a clear operational improvement for the Ayala group's renewables platform. The market reaction was muted, however — the stock eased 1.97% to ₱2.99 and drew -₱8.3 million of net foreign selling, one of the day's larger outflows, even as sector peers (AP +2.4%, FGEN +8.7%) rallied.

Analysis. The earnings turn is genuine and supportive of the long-term renewables build-out, but the soft price action and foreign selling suggest the market wants clearer evidence of sustained profitability and funding discipline before re-rating the name. We stay neutral pending follow-through.

Stance: HOLD — Q2 profit swing is encouraging, but await sustained delivery before adding.

SMARTWATCH SUMMARY

- ▶ Peso & rates: The peso led Asian currency losses, weakening to ₱61.26 on the oil surge; PHL 10Y rose to 7.301% while the US 10Y eased to 4.690% ahead of US CPI. Local yields are otherwise seen sideways on a less-hawkish BSP.
- ▶ Growth downgrades: Deutsche Bank cut its 2026 Philippine growth forecast to 3.5% after the weak Q2 print; separately, FDI net inflows plunged to an 11-year low in May, and national government debt is seen hitting a record ₱21.48 trillion in 2027.
- ▶ Oil & geopolitics: Oil rallied further after President Trump issued sweeping new demands on Iran, deepening Strait-of-Hormuz uncertainty; North Korea fired a suspected ballistic missile toward the sea.
- ▶ Earnings wrap: LT Group Q2 profit jumped to ₱9.54B; ACEN swung to a ₱978M Q2 profit on stronger generation; RCR Q2 rose to ₱2.55B on mall infusions; Filinvest Land Q2 climbed 3.3%; higher costs dragged Converge's Q2.
- ▶ ALI capex: Ayala Land lifted its 2026 capex back to ~₱60B (from a trimmed ₱50B) after Q2 stabilised — a confidence signal even with 1H income down 19% to ₱11.5B.
- ▶ ESG & retail: PLDT retained its FTSE4Good Index Series inclusion; an Ayala retail unit is bringing Korean fashion brand Musinsa Standard to the Philippine market; retailers are betting on a second-half rebound.
- ▶ Politics: A COA official testified that VP Duterte's office spent ₱73.287M of 2022 confidential funds on unauthorized, non-security activities (Christmas parties, tree-planting); a notice of disallowance was issued.
- ▶ Suspension: Robinsons Retail (RRHI) remains under exchange suspension (Gokongwei/JE Holdings ₱48.30 voluntary-delisting tender); no trades recorded.
