PSEi Rallies +2.03% as Services Soar and Foreigners Turn Net Buyers; GCash IPO Priced at ₱6.60

The PSEi surged 114.18 points (+2.03%) to 5,743.21, marking the first strong session in five days. Services led the charge (+4.00%), propelled by ICT's 3.42% spike on ₱265.4M of net foreign buying—a dramatic reversal from four straight days of selling. Foreigners turned net buyers for the first time this week, purchasing ₱134.2M net. Value traded thinly at ₱7.74B due to retail investor focus on the GCash IPO opening tomorrow at ₱6.60/share. Breadth remained negative (85 up, 95 down, 77 flat), yet the index held gains despite profit-taking in heavyweights. Block crosses totalled ₱463.2M, led by BPI, AC, MBT and URC. GCash's ₱6.60 offer values Mynt at ₱441.5B ($7B USD), making it the largest IPO in Philippine history.

THE CALL — ACTIONABLE HIGHLIGHTS

IPO WATCH MYNT (GCash) ₱6.60 final — Offer Oct 6–12: we would subscribe

The PSE confirms the ₱6.60 IPO price: 8.03B shares (₱53.0B) plus 1.2B-share overallotment (₱60.9B total). GCash transforms from a digital wallet into a full banking challenger, targeting a young, underbanked demographic with loans, insurance and investing. At ₱6.60, it trades near our fair-value estimate. El Niño poses seasonal risks to rural users. Listing Oct 20.

ACCUMULATE ICT ₱905.00 (+3.42%) — Foreigners bought ₱265.4M; breakout territory

ICT broke above Friday's ₱884 resistance on the heaviest foreign inflow of the day. It accounted for 29% of main-board value. The stock has been range-bound but now tests resistance near ₱920. Technically strong. Accumulate on dips.

ACCUMULATE AC ₱525.00 (−0.94%) — GCash deal adds optionality; AC stake now visible

Mynt's ₱6.60 IPO price pegs AC's 20% stake at roughly ₱88B, far above the ₱10B originally invested. AC closed slightly lower but held the ₱515+ level. Foreign buying turned positive (+₱40.1M). Continue accumulating on weakness below ₱520.

ACCUMULATE ALI ₱15.38 (+2.73%) — Strong foreign interest; real estate recovery play

ALI rallied +2.73% on ₱16B of net foreign buying, outperforming the broader property index (+1.75%). The stock is benefiting from the IPO rotation and renewed appetite for domestic real estate. Buy dips below ₱15.20.

MONITOR GLO ₱1.564 (−0.06%) — Subsea cable fully restored; focus on Mynt offer week

GLO traded inside the range despite foreigners rotating out (−₱15.8M). The offshore cable fault that slowed international traffic was fully repaired Oct 4. Mynt's offer week may pull some rotation. Watch for re-entry above ₱1,555 next week.

GLOBAL MARKETS

Wall Street rallied Monday on hopes of peak rate hikes despite Friday's weak jobs data still supporting "higher-for-longer" inflation concerns. The S&P 500 edged up and Nasdaq pushed toward record highs on AI momentum from Nvidia, which reached an intraday peak near $239/share. Bond yields surged at the long end (10Y/30Y at 52-week highs), signaling bear-steepening and market anxiety over US fiscal risk. Oil oscillated wildly between $100–$103/barrel (Brent) before easing slightly. The dollar held steady while the peso weakened to ₱62.66, adding imported inflation pressure. Gold stayed firm, copper rose 1.2%. Contagion concerns over Singapore Exchange's sharp selloff (down $4.2B from August peak) spiked chatter of Europe bond-market stress.

- The bigger picture: Fed-speak this week will dominate. Market pricing shows <15% chance of October hike, but "higher-for-longer" inflation and fiscal risk keep yields elevated. Election-year politics and oil supply concerns add volatility.
- China: Golden Week ends today; reopening Tuesday. EV demand remains soft despite subsidy support. Bitcoin hovered near $80K after briefly topping $87K.

COMMODITIES

Oil volatility dominated Monday: Brent swung between $100–$103/barrel as markets weighed Europe's emergency diesel reserve release (as part of G7/IEA plan) against geopolitical risk in the Middle East and potential OPEC+ action. Gold remained steady near $4,192/oz, held aloft by weak-USD tailwinds from the jobs data. Copper rose 1.2% to near $6.49/lb, testing a potential correction toward $5.90/lb near-term if technical support fails.

FX & RATES

The peso weakened to ₱62.66/$, adding 9 centavos from Friday's ₱62.535, as the dollar rebounded despite the soft US jobs data. Higher US Treasury yields (10Y near 5.3%, 30Y at 52-week highs) attract carry-trade funding but pressure EM currencies. PH September CPI is due this week; BSP expects 6.4–7.4% (vs. August 2.3%). A hotter-than-expected read could rattle bond markets further. El Niño pricing remains a risk.

PHILIPPINES STRATEGY

Inflection point confirmed. Foreigners bought ₱134.2M net on Oct 5 after four days of -₱4.644B selling. This reversal is real: GCash IPO ₱6.60 pricing restored confidence in PH growth; AC's Mynt stake now worth ₱88B; technical oversold conditions. Services sector (+4.00%) is the beneficiary. But breadth (85/95 negative) and thin trading (₱5.549B) signal caution—this needs follow-through.

Where we lean in: Subscribe to Mynt at ₱6.60 (Oct 6–12). Accumulate ICT (₱265.4M foreign buying is the real story), AC (Mynt stake optionality), and ALI (real estate rotation +₱16B foreign buying). Hold GLO for re-entry above ₱1,555.

What to avoid: Banks (persistent outflows: BDO -₱62.3M, MBT -₱62.9M). SM (-₱34.1M) remains under pressure. PX faces Padcal strike risk. Governance overhang names (VP Sara AMLC scrutiny continues).

- GCash IPO: Offer Oct 6–12 at ₱6.60; largest PH IPO ever (₱53–60.9B). Fair value near ₱8 (21% cushion). Listing Oct 20.
- MPIC/Meralco: Acquiring 1.9% Meralco stake from SMC for ₱12.4B (₱580.99/share, 39% premium), raising MPIC to 49.4% control. SMC nets 6-fold return.
- VP Sara/AMLC: Scrutiny over ₱6.77B flagged transactions (2006–2025); investigation ongoing, no charges filed. Governance risk remains for equities linked to political figures.

Services was the clear outperformer (+4.00%) on ICT's 3.42% surge. Property rebounded (+1.75%) on real estate appetite. Industrial (+1.28%) benefited from broader market strength. Financials nearly flat despite foreign outflows from banks. Holding Firms stable. Sector values include block sales.

FOREIGN FUND FLOW

Foreigners bought ₱2.006B and sold ₱1.871B, a net buy of ₱134.2M—the first positive day since Sep 29 and a dramatic reversal from four days of −₱4.644B selling. ICT dominated (₱265.4M inflow), but buying also appeared in ALI (+₱16B), LTG (+₱24.3M), AREIT (+₱3.3M) and SECB (+₱6.9M). Selling concentrated in the banks: SM (−₱34.1M), BDO (−₱62.3M), MBT (−₱62.9M). This flow pattern is consistent with a rotation out of defensive stocks toward growth (GCash hype, real estate recovery).

CORPORATE STANCE CARDS

IPO WATCH MYNT (GCash) P6.60 — Largest IPO in PH history: P53-60.9B

Mynt offer Oct 6-12 at P6.60 per share. 8.03B shares base, 1.2B overallotment, P441.5B ($7B USD) valuation. GCash holds 89% of consumer e-wallet market with 94M users. Transforms into full banking challenger (loans, insurance, savings). Fair value near P8 (21% cushion). El Nino seasonal risk. Listing Oct 20. We would subscribe.

ACCUMULATE MPIC (Philippines) P121.00 — Acquiring Meralco stake; control consolidation

MPIC is acquiring 1.9% of Meralco (16.9M shares) from SMC for P12.4B at P580.99/share (39% premium to previous close). This raises MPIC to 49.4% of Meralco. SMC nets a 6-fold return on its Meralco stake (bought approx P2B years ago). Strategic move by MPIC to lock in majority control ahead of rate-hike cycle. Meralco dividends (4% yield) attractive in rising-rate environment.

MONITOR SM P497.00 (-0.81%) — Foreign selling persistent despite sector rotation

SM endured -P34.1M of net foreign selling despite the broader market rally (+2.03%). P5B buyback is providing a cushion, but foreigners prefer growth names (ICT, ALI) over defensive retail. Hold above P490; P480 is secondary support.

MONITOR MER (Meralco) P424.00 — MPIC deal is positive; baseload tender pending

Meralco trades on steady utility fundamentals and 4% dividend yield (competitive with rising PHL 10-year at 7.55%). MPIC acquisition of 1.9% stake suggests confidence in the business. Foreign selling (-P10.1M) is mild. Watch the 900MW baseload tender (due Oct 14-15) and final approval of the P2.64B customer refund. Hold; accumulate on dips below P420.

AVOID VP Sara / AMLC Scrutiny — P6.77B flagged (2006-2025); governance risk

The AMLC flagged P6.77B in transactions linked to VP Sara and Justice Manases Carpio (2006-2025). Investigation is ongoing; no charges filed. Governance risk remains elevated for equities tied to political figures. Avoid Ayala Corp (AC), Ayala Land (ALI) and similar holdings until clarity emerges.

SMARTWATCH - WHAT MOVES THE TAPE NEXT

- This week: Mynt IPO offer (Oct 6-12); SEC permit (Oct 5). PH September CPI (BSP expects 6.4-7.4%). Fed speakers on rate path.
- Oct 14-15: SEC comment deadlines (broker capital P120M floor, debt-collector accreditation). Meralco 900MW baseload expressions of interest. Oct 20: Mynt listing.
- Oct 23: Atlas Mining (AT) earnings; test of earnings-yield vs. 10-year bond yield (7.6% PHL, 5.3% US).
- Levels: PSEi support 5,630, next target 5,800-5,900. USD-PHP: P63 line, support P61.94. US 10-year: 5.34% (52-week high). Oil: $100-$103 range.

LEARN — FOREIGN FUND FLOWS & INFLECTION POINTS

The concept. In equity markets, foreign fund flows are a leading indicator of sentiment shifts. When foreigners turn from sellers to buyers, it often marks the bottom of a correction. Why? They have global optionality: if selling, they're rotating to better opportunities (US rates higher, China softer, etc.). When they return as net buyers, they're signaling that a market has become attractive again relative to alternatives.

Oct 5 as an inflection: Foreigners sold ₱4.644B over four sessions (Sep 29–Oct 2), concentrating outflows in SM, ICT, and banks. This morning, they suddenly bought ₱2.006B vs. ₱1.871B sold, for a net +₱134.2M. What changed? GCash IPO ₱6.60 pricing validated PH growth story; AC's Mynt stake is now worth ₱88B (vs. ₱10B invested); ICT is technically oversold; Services sector is in a secular growth story. The inflection is real: it signals confidence in domestic equities over alternatives (higher US rates, China slowdown).

Watch this carefully: Inflections are fragile. Oct 5 is one day of buying after four of selling. To confirm the reversal, we need: (1) Follow-through foreign buying or at least no resumption of selling, (2) Improvement in breadth (currently 85/95 negative), (3) Sustained sector rotation (Services maintaining +4% momentum), and (4) ICT holding above ₱884 (Friday's high). If any of these falter, the selling could resume.

Takeaway. Inflection points are catalyst moments to reassess risk/reward. The PSEi tested support at 5,584 (Nov-2025 low) over four days and held it. Oct 5's foreign reversal is consistent with a bottom-formation. But it requires confirmation: watch the foreign flows closely this week (Mynt offer week may distract locals, but foreigners focus on fundamentals). If they sustain buying, PSEi targets 5,800–5,900 quickly. If selling resumes, all bets off.
