PSEi 5738 (-0.87%) Ends at Day Low, 8 Points Above 2026 Floor; ₱664M Foreign Exit from AC Drives ₱973M Net Sell

The US 30-year Treasury yield hit its highest level since 2002, and US consumer confidence fell to a 12-year low. The PSEi fell 0.87% to 5,738.40, closing at the session low and only 8 points above the 2026 low of 5,730.02. Foreigners were net sellers of ₱973.5M. AC alone accounted for ₱664.1M of that, yet the stock rose 1.49% as local buyers absorbed the supply. Excluding AC, net foreign selling was about ₱309M. Mynt's GCash IPO prices tomorrow, October 1.

THE CALL — ACTIONABLE HIGHLIGHTS

● ACCUMULATE GLO ₱1,570 (+0.71%) — Mynt pricing, AI payback and data-center optionality in one name

GLO was one of seven index names to close higher, with ₱9.7M of net foreign buying plus a ₱7.9M VWAP trade at ₱1,571.12. Mynt prices on Oct 1, and Globe will keep its entire 33.84% stake with no secondary shares sold. Globe says its AI programme has delivered ₱1.2B in value at a 2.8x return. It is also open to a REIT or IPO of its data-center venture (STT GDC Philippines), which targets 30–35MW by end-2026 and 124MW within three years. The NTC fine is immaterial to earnings. Accumulate, using ₱1,555 (Tuesday's low) as the reference.

● ACCUMULATE ALI ₱15.10 (-1.44%) — Reference level tested and held

ALI traded as low as ₱14.94, briefly below our ₱15.00 reference, but closed back above it on ₱272.2M of value. Foreigners were net sellers (-₱25.8M), handing back most of Monday's buying. The leasing-income thesis is intact. Keep accumulating in tranches, but a daily close below ₱14.94 would put the call on review.

● MONITOR AC ₱490.00 (+1.49%) — ₱664M foreign exit absorbed, and the price rose

AC traded ₱839.2M, 16% of main-board value, with ₱664.1M of net foreign selling, 68% of the market's total. Local buyers took the other side and pushed the price up 1.49% from a ₱480 low. A large foreign exit that fails to push the price down usually means the supply has found a home. AC also owns part of Mynt, which prices tomorrow. We would upgrade on a close above ₱494 (Tuesday's high) once foreign selling stops; ₱480 is the line to hold.

● IPO WATCH MYNT (GCash) ~₱6.50–6.60 indicative — Pricing Oct 1 → offer Oct 6–12 → listing Oct 20

Timetable: bookbuilding Sep 23–Oct 1, pricing and allocation Oct 1, SEC permit to sell Oct 5, public offer Oct 6–12, PSE listing Oct 20. At about ₱60B it would be the largest Philippine IPO on record, with 21 cornerstone investors including BlackRock, Fidelity, Capital Group, Schroders and IFC. Expect some selling of other index names in the offer week as investors raise cash to subscribe.

MONITOR MER ₱417.20 (−4.09%) — Worst large-cap move; foreigners bought the drop MER traded ₱318.0M, fell from a ₱439.00 high and closed near its ₱416.00 low. Foreigners were the top net buyers of the day (+₱41.5M). Two items are in the background: the pending ₱2.64B customer refund and a new 15-year, 900MW baseload procurement (600MW from Feb 2031, 300MW from Feb 2032). Wait for the price to stabilise above ₱416 before adding.

AVOID AT ₱18.64 (−6.24%) — Miner sold off even as gold bounced

AT traded ₱104.0M with ₱18.4M of net foreign selling and fell below ₱19, reversing the multi-session foreign accumulation behind our metals thesis. Gold rebounded 1.1%, but higher yields and a stronger dollar are still forcing liquidation across base metals. The rest of the sector held up better: the Mining & Oil index closed at its session high, APX rose 1.64% on foreign buying, and OGP slipped 0.86% to ₱34.50. Stay out of AT until it recovers ₱19.80 (Tuesday's high).

GLOBAL MARKETS

Wall Street drifted slightly lower in a tight range. The Conference Board's consumer confidence index fell to 81.9, a 12-year low and well below the 89.2 consensus. Long-dated yields kept rising: the 30-year Treasury reached 5.62%, its highest since 2002, and the 10-year held near 5.26%. Markets increasingly worry that elevated oil will keep inflation high and push the Fed toward more hikes rather than easing. FICO fell 21.6% after the FHFA opened mortgage credit scoring to competition, while Carnival rose 11.7% on earnings. Asia was mostly lower, although Shanghai edged up. Asian gold stocks fell with the metal early in the session.

- What 5.62% buys: a $1.0M position in the 30-year Treasury at Tuesday's peak yield pays $56,200 a year in gross income, guaranteed by the US government for 30 years. That is the hurdle equities now have to beat, and it explains why investors are pausing new positions.
- Flows: equity inflows slowed to $11B from $39B in July as oil and rate risk kept investors waiting for a clearer signal.
- Asia credit: rising US inflation threatens to widen spreads on Asian dollar bonds. China Chengxin International Credit Rating estimates Chinese local governments and their affiliates owe 4.5 trillion yuan ($670B) in unpaid bills, more than 3% of GDP.
- Japan: the fee for permanent residency will rise twentyfold to ¥200,000 ($1,268) from ¥10,000. Fees to change or renew a residence status will go from a flat ¥6,000 to as much as ¥75,000, depending on the length of stay granted.

COMMODITIES

Oil fell back as supply concerns eased. Saudi Arabia restarted exports through its East-West pipeline and Red Sea loadings at Yanbu, Middle East crude exports recovered to their highest since the war began in late February, and the US offered up to 40M barrels from the Strategic Petroleum Reserve. The Hormuz standoff is still the key macro risk: Brent is on track for a double-digit monthly gain. Gold rebounded 1.1% after Monday's drop of as much as 4% to $4,115.71, its lowest close since early August, with buyers returning ahead of the October Fed meeting.

FX & RATES

The peso slipped 2 centavos to ₱62.565, touching ₱62.62 intraday. Now that the peso trades above ₱62.50, former resistance levels act as support; any pullback should find a firm floor around ₱61.94. The PHL 10-year yield eased 1.28bp to 7.69% on Monday but remains well above our 7% bank-caution trigger. The Treasury plans to borrow up to ₱892B in 4Q26: up to ₱462B in T-bills and up to ₱430B in T-bonds. The RTB 32 offering drew strong demand.

PHILIPPINES STRATEGY

Close at the low, right above the floor. The PSEi closed at its session low, 8 points above the 2026 low. Sellers were concentrated in consumer and property names (SMPH, URC, SM), while locals absorbed the large block of AC supply. A break below 5,730 opens the way to 5,584 (the Nov-2025 low). A close back above 5,800 would restore the range.

Where we lean in: Dollar earners and names with their own catalysts (GLO ahead of Mynt; ALI at support). Keep cash ready for the Mynt offer (Oct 6–12). Stay underweight banks while the PHL 10-year sits at 7.69%.

What to avoid: Airlines and fuel-sensitive transport (the Level 17 surcharge starts Oct 1; CEB fell another 2.74% to ₱18.44). Also avoid base-metal miners until the dollar stops rising. REITs are under pressure from high bond yields: RCR fell 4.62% on ₱114.1M of value.

- Property launches slow: Colliers says developers are holding back new launches as economic growth slows, and it sees them returning to expansion in 2027. This supports our preference for leasing-led developers (ALI) over residential sellers.
- DOE crackdown: the Department of Energy has cracked down hard on Green Energy Auction winners who missed their project development and delivery deadlines, which raises execution risk for renewable-energy developers.
- RCEP: SM Investments' Frederic DyBuncio and economist Robert Dan Roces urged local producers to make better use of RCEP. Tariff cuts have filled Philippine shelves with imports, while Filipino goods remain scarce abroad.
- SEC: the SEC ordered two beauty firms to stop soliciting investments, following last week's cease-and-desist orders against G's Kicks, NShop and AI Quest Trading.
- Buybacks: URC, SMPH and FRUIT reported share buybacks. Even so, foreigners sold SMPH (–₱57.5M) and URC (–₱51.5M), the second- and third-largest net sales of the day.

FOREIGN FUND FLOW

Foreigners bought ₱2.184B and sold ₱3.157B, a net sale of ₱973.5M. AC accounted for 68% of it. Excluding AC, the net outflow was ₱309.4M, spread across SMPH, URC, SM, ICT and TEL. Buying was selective: MER (+₱41.5M) and AP (+₱30.8M) led after falling in price, and BDO (+₱17.7M) saw buying for a second straight day. The YTD net foreign outflow is now above ₱40B.

CORPORATE STANCE CARDS

ACCUMULATE GLO ₱1,570 (+0.71%) — AI delivers ₱1.2B; data centers seen as the next billion-dollar business

As of August, Globe's AI programme produced ₱1.2B in value at 2.8x its investment: ₱825M in revenue from personalised offers (Rewards, roaming, loans, postpaid), ₱368M in cost savings from automation, and 52,000+ hours saved (about ₱28M). Nine in ten teams now use AI. Globe will spend at least $1B in 2027, mainly on data-center expansion, with capex guided at 23–28% of revenue. CEO Carl Cruz expects data traffic to rise three- to five-fold in the next couple of years. Globe will respond to the NTC show-cause order "in due time" and disputes the finding of poor broadband performance.

MONITOR MER ₱417.20 (–4.09%) — Bids out 900MW baseload under a 15-year PSA

Meralco is procuring 600MW for delivery by Feb 26, 2031 and 300MW by Feb 26, 2032. Expressions of interest are due Oct 15, the pre-bid conference is Nov 6, and bids are due Dec 9. The DOE has already issued a certificate of conformity for the terms of reference; the PSA still needs ERC approval. This locks in supply for 2031 onward and is not a near-term earnings driver. The ₱2.64B refund application is still pending.

MONITOR ALTER ₱0.66 (+1.54%) — ₱2B maiden green notes listed on PDEX; issue beat its target

Alternergy raised ₱2B, above the target issue size, with BDO Capital as sole arranger. The money funds a build-out from 119MW operating (Philippines and Palau) to about 311MW by year-end, including the 128MW Tanay Wind and 64MW Alabat Wind projects, plus a 762MW pipeline (Liberty Solar, Kalandagan Solar, Alegria Wind, Tayabas North Wind). Funding risk is lower, but the stock traded only ₱0.18M, and the DOE crackdown on missed auction deadlines is a sector

MONITOR MRC ₱0.73 (+5.80%) — Bitstar Telecom speculation; foreigners net buyers

MRC was the second-best gainer with more than ₱5M of value, trading ₱53.4M with ₱13.5M of net foreign buying (RSI 46.69). Its telecom unit, Bitstar, runs on a PT&T infrastructure partnership and is positioned to benefit from the open-access Konektadong Pinoy Act. This is a speculative trade, not a position: use ₱0.68 (Tuesday's low) as the stop.

MONITOR MRSGI ₱1.08 (+1.89%) — Metro Ormoc: three-storey hub with the Ormoc LGU

The hub will house a Metro Supermarket and Metro Department Store plus a space for local suppliers and small businesses, with rooftop solar. Groundbreaking is targeted for late 2026 and full construction from early 2027. MRSGI operates 84 stores across Luzon and the Visayas. Positive for the long term, but it adds nothing to earnings in the near term.

MONITOR BRN ₱0.80 (–1.23%) — A Brown to acquire 20% of property developer SBBI

A strategic minority stake that widens A Brown's property exposure. Deal terms were not available at press time. Colliers' view that developers are holding back launches argues for patience.

SMARTWATCH — WHAT MOVES THE TAPE NEXT

- Today (Sep 30): US inflation and GDP data. November Brent expires. Quarter-end window dressing.
- Oct 1: Mynt pricing and allocation. The Level 17 airline fuel surcharge starts (Oct 1–15).
- Oct 5–12: SEC permit to sell (Oct 5), then the Mynt public offer (Oct 6–12). Meralco's 900MW expressions of interest are due Oct 15.
- Early October: PH September CPI and the Oct 20 Mynt listing. Watch for US–Iran talk headlines via Qatar.
- Levels: PSEi support 5,730, then 5,584; resistance 5,800, then 6,000. USD-PHP support ₱61.94. US 10-year: 5.30% is the June-2007 peak.
