Pre-Market Institutional Brief

Publication: Tuesday, 08 September 2026 | Covering PSE session: Monday, 07 September 2026

ACTIONABLE HIGHLIGHTS — THE CALL

ACCUMULATE IMI ₱8.40 ▲

Standout of the session and the sole prop for a green Industrial index. Back to profitability (US$13.5M consolidated net income) after a multi-year restructuring, IMI trades as our cleanest listed AI-hardware / EMS proxy — riding the GPT-6 'Astra' semiconductor rally that lifted KOSPI and Taiwan's TWSE. Foreign desks were net buyers of ₱14.6M. Momentum name; scale into strength, mind the sharp intraday run.

ACCUMULATE MER ₱480.00 ▲

Defensive quality with a catalyst: the MTerra Solar phase launch (billed as the world's largest integrated solar facility) plus reported chairman-level insider buying. ~5.9% dividend yield and recurring, regulated revenue cushion the downside in a risk-off tape. Foreign net buying of ₱38.5M — the second-largest inflow of the day.

MONITOR Index heavyweights & banks

The tape's weak internals sit in the large caps: SM (–₱119.0M), MBT (–₱71.2M), AC (–₱53.7M) and ALI (–₱21.2M) all saw heavy foreign distribution. With the PHL 10-year back up at 7.31% — above our 7% bank-caution line — BDO / BPI / MBT stay on Monitor. Rotation, not capitulation: money is leaving benchmark weights and moving into ICT, MER, IMI and miners.

PHILIPPINES STRATEGY

The PSEi slipped a shallow 6.92 points to 6,083.68 (–0.11%), holding the 6,000 handle for a fifth straight session but giving back part of Friday's advance on thin, cautious flow. Breadth was mildly negative (92 advancers to 98 decliners) and five of the six sectors closed red — only Industrial (+0.97%) finished higher, carried almost single-handedly by a violent rally in IMI. This is a market marking time: no seller's panic, but no conviction to break the 6,100–6,200 ceiling either. The read-through is rotation rather than exit. Net foreign selling was a modest ₱311.0M even as benchmark weights bled — SM alone shed ₱119.0M of foreign money — because desks simultaneously piled into ICT (+₱46.7M, on its Mexico terminal expansion), Meralco (+₱38.5M) and IMI (+₱14.6M). The macro frame is a hawkish one: a hot US payrolls print has revived Fed-hike bets and pushed the PHL 10-year back to 7.31%, keeping the big banks capped. Offsetting that, the external buffer improved — August GIR rose to US$104.81B (6.8 months' import cover) — and the peso's second straight slide to the ₱62.66 area is now a slow grind rather than a rout.

Where we lean in: quality with a catalyst and a dollar or commodity tailwind. IMI and Meralco are our two accumulate calls; ICT's flow reversal is worth respecting; and the energy-squeeze backdrop (Brent near US$97, coal firmer) keeps a bid under Mining & Oil despite the sector's flat close. We stay selective on the index heavyweights under foreign distribution and on banks while the 10-year sits above 7%.

GLOBAL MARKETS

U.S. cash markets were shut Monday for Labor Day; levels below are Friday's close, when strong August payrolls (162k vs ~53k expected) lifted yields and Fed-hike odds. Asia traded firmer, led by a semiconductor rally on OpenAI's GPT-6 'Astra' debut — Taiwan's TWSE +1.66% and KOSPI +1.64%.

COMMODITIES

An escalation in Middle East / Strait of Hormuz risk over the weekend drove an energy squeeze and a safe-haven bid — supportive for the Philippine mining, coal and precious-metals complex.

Five of six sectors closed red. Industrial was the lone gainer, propped by IMI and firmer power names; Property was the weakest.

FOREIGN FUND FLOW

Net foreign SELLING of ₱311.0M (buying ₱1.80B vs selling ₱2.12B) — modest at the index level, but with sharp two-way rotation beneath it.

TURNOVER CAVEAT

Two BDO block crosses (₱336.5M + ₱98.7M = ₱435.2M) account for the bulk of the ₱557.3M block value and inflate BDO's apparent activity. Stripping blocks, real regular-market turnover was roughly ₱3.33B versus the ₱3.89B grand total — a genuinely thin session.

CORPORATE STANCE CARDS

ACCUMULATE ICT ₱933.50

ICTSI shares climbed on its Mexico terminal expansion, and — notably — foreign desks flipped to the day's largest net buyer at ₱46.7M, reversing multi-session sell-side pressure. Turnover of ₱554M led the exchange by a wide margin. The flow reversal is the signal to respect.

SPECULATIVE BUY WEB ₱15.00

PhilWeb was the #2 turnover name (₱160M) on news its unit will invest ₱4.23B in Epic Game administrator JKS Tech and take a 30% stake (~₱660M in additional annual profit share). Follows Lance Gokongwei's ₱2.02B personal equity injection for a 10–15% stake and a B2B AI-enabled gaming pivot. High-beta, event-driven — size accordingly.

MONITOR FGEN ₱26.85

Parent FPH publicly blocked the KKR take-private, calling ₱35/share short of fair value. Shares hold a speculative premium on bets for a sweetened bid or alternative restructuring, but foreign desks sold ₱10.3M into the pop. Event risk cuts both ways — watch, don't chase.

MONITOR BDO · BPI · MBT

With the PHL 10-year at 7.31% — above our 7% caution threshold — bank NIM/mark-to-market optics stay pressured. MBT (–₱71.2M) and BDO (–₱24.5M) led financial-sector foreign outflows; BPI (+₱17.5M) was the outlier bid. Neutral until the 10-year cools back below 7%.

REDUCE / AVOID SM ₱561.00

The single heaviest foreign outflow of the session at ₱119.0M, part of a broader distribution of index-heavyweight holding and property names. No stock-specific catalyst to offset the flow. Stand aside while foreigners lighten benchmark weights.

GOVERNANCE WATCH

The Ombudsman filed a plunder case against former Speaker Martin Romualdez and others — the flood-control governance overhang that has weighed on foreign confidence since 2025 remains live. A credible, visible resolution is what foreign desks say they need before re-rating the market.
