THE CALL PSEi 6,126.22 ▲ 1.51% (+91.20 pts)

The PSEi rebounded +1.51% (+91.20 pts) to 6,126.22, recovering nearly all of Monday's drop and decoupling sharply from a regional “chip-wreck” — Korea's KOSPI cratered 9.99% (circuit breaker), Japan's Nikkei fell 3.55%. Locally, Services (+3.53%) and Industrials (+1.06%) led; ICT alone surged +3.6% and drew ₱361M of foreign buying. Foreigners turned net BUYERS of ₱262.5M ($4.28M) — the first inflow after the prior selling streak, trimming June net selling to ~$393M. Value was lighter at ₱6.83B.

Catalysts: (1) RCR to absorb six RLC malls in a ₱10.62B share swap — becoming the country's largest mall REIT; (2) Meralco/MGEN–VinEnergy MOU for up to 25GW of RE + storage; (3) Globe signs a ₱5B BDO term loan; (4) PLDT's VITRO data-center REIT seen net credit-positive.

Where we lean — ICT ACCUMULATE-on-dips (foreign-flow leader, dollar earner, but near highs); BPI, BDO ACCUMULATE (BPI drew +₱96.7M foreign); RCR ACCUMULATE (mall-REIT scale-up); AREIT ACCUMULATE (₱35.60/₱48.06). Monitors: TEL (foreign selling despite credit-positive REIT), gaming (soft 2H).

US figures are Tuesday (6/23) closes amid the global tech selloff; Asia-Pacific are 6/23 local closes. KOSPI -9.99% (verified) triggered a Korea Exchange circuit breaker. Hang Seng prior corrected to the 6/22 close of 23,523.53 (feed carried a mis-keyed 21,418.67). PSEi per PSE DQR: +1.51% / +91.20 to 6,126.22 (the brief's -1.51% was a sign error).

COMMODITIES

Commodity	Unit	Prev (6/23)	Latest (6/24)	% Chg

Metals were routed in the risk-off wave — silver -5.4%, copper -3.3%, gold -2.2% — as the AI-trade unwind and rate jitters drove broad de-risking. Oil eased further (Brent ~$76.71). Soft crude remains a PHL disinflation tailwind; lower metals pressure local miners (NIKL, APX, PX).

FX & FIXED INCOME

FX held steady in the feed (peso ~P61.12; DQR conversion 61.123). The US 10Y eased ~3bps to 4.478% even as the equity selloff cited "rate jitters" — the bond tape was calmer than the screens. PHL 10Y flat at 6.978%.

CORPORATE & SECTOR NEWS

Stance key: ● Accumulate/Buy ● Monitor/Neutral ● Avoid/Reduce ● Governance Watch ● Tender

RCR ₱7.09 Set to become PHL's largest mall REIT via ₱10.62B RLC swap

RL Commercial REIT's board approved acquiring six malls from sponsor Robinsons Land (RLC) in a ₱10.62B property-for-share swap — Robinsons Dumaguete, Tagaytay, Iligan, Galleria South, La Union and Naga, totaling 160,269 sqm of GLA. RLC will subscribe to ~1.29B new RCR shares at ₱8.25 each (a premium to the ₱7.09 close). It follows a ₱33.9B, multi-asset infusion completed in 2025; analysts (AP Securities) note the deal makes RCR the country's largest mall REIT by mall GLA (~278,526 sqm vs AREIT's ~217,340), though AREIT still leads on total GLA. Q1 net income rose 41% to ₱2.4B on 96% occupancy. RCR closed +0.57% (foreign +₱1.0M); RLC +1.48% to ₱16.48 (+₱0.4M).

Analysis. A clear positive: the swap diversifies RCR away from pressured offices toward higher-traffic retail, scales distributable income, and is struck at a premium to market — accretive optics for both RCR and RLC. The ₱8.25 subscription versus a ₱7.09 share price implies upside to fair value if the malls' yields hold. We like the retail pivot as consumer footfall improves; watch for regulatory approval and the second infusion batch flagged for this year.

Stance: ● RCR — ACCUMULATE Scale + retail diversification at an accretive price. RLC — ACCUMULATE (value crystallization at the sponsor).

MER ₱580.00 Meralco/MGEN ink VinEnergy MOU for up to 25GW RE + storage

Meralco and its generation arm MGEN signed an MOU with VinEnergy (Vingroup's renewables arm) to explore up to 25GW of integrated renewable energy and storage capacity, targeting ~5GW of baseload-equivalent supply, plus potential EV-charging infrastructure. VinEnergy is pursuing a 100GW global RE pipeline. The agreement is exploratory (MOU-stage), with projects subject to further evaluation and regulatory approval. MER closed +0.87% intraday to ₱580 (foreign -₱19.1M).

Analysis. Strategically sound — it extends MGEN's clean-energy build-out (already ~5,070MW net sellable) and aligns with energy-security and decarbonization goals, with optionality on EV charging. But it is an MOU, not a committed capex program, so near-term earnings impact is nil; value accrues only as binding projects and financing firm up. Soft oil and the ERC transmission-reform backdrop are broadly supportive of the power theme.

Stance: ● MER — MONITOR / ACCUMULATE-on-weakness Long-dated RE optionality; MOU-stage, no near-term EPS.

GLO ₱1,770.00 Globe signs ₱5B term loan with BDO

Globe Telecom secured a ₱5B term loan facility with BDO Unibank, adding funding flexibility for capex/refinancing. GLO eased -0.56% intraday to ₱1,770 (foreign -₱12.4M); BDO closed ₱130.70 with foreign net buying of +₱16.8M.

Analysis. Routine but mildly positive liquidity management for GLO amid heavy network/data-center capex; a ₱5B facility is modest relative to balance-sheet scale and not a thesis-changer. The Mynt/GCash value-unlock remains the bigger GLO catalyst. For BDO, incremental fee/lending income plus the day's foreign buying reinforce the bank re-rating case.

Stance: ● GLO — MONITOR Funding flexibility; GCash unlock the real catalyst. BDO — ACCUMULATE (foreign buying + rate path).

TEL ₱1,130.00 VITRO data-center REIT seen as net credit-positive for PLDT

Following Monday's ₱24.2B VITRO REIT filing, analysts characterized the planned listing as net credit-positive for PLDT, as proceeds (to ePLDT) pare debt against PLDT's ~₱282B net-debt load while retaining operating exposure to the data-center platform. TEL nonetheless fell -0.96% to ₱1,130 and saw the day's largest single-name foreign outflow (-₱56.3M).

Analysis. The credit read affirms our deleveraging thesis — value crystallization plus a lighter balance sheet. The share-price softness and foreign selling look like profit-taking/rotation rather than a fundamental shift, especially on a risk-off global tape. We keep TEL constructive on the VITRO unlock but flag the near-term flow headwind.

Stance: • TEL — ACCUMULATE-on-weakness / MONITOR Credit-positive REIT unlock vs near-term foreign outflow.

SECTOR WRAP Corporate & sector briefs

SM (Watsons): The CTA ordered the BIR to refund Watsons ₱447.1M in excess taxes — a modest one-off positive for the SM Retail ecosystem. DMC: DMCI Homes targets a 2027 launch for a Batangas beach resort, extending its leisure-residential pipeline (DMC closed +0.75%, foreign +₱3.2M). Aviation: An aircraft-parts maker will invest ₱600M in a Clark expansion — supportive of the Clark aero-industrial cluster. Gaming: Analysts see a muted 2H as casino demand stays soft — a caution flag for BLOOM and DigiPlus (PLUS). Governance/AI: Sustainability is rising on board agendas as reporting rules tighten, and firms are hunting practical AI use-cases as the government advances a ₱30B AI roadmap.

Analysis. Net-net, idiosyncratic positives (SM tax refund, DMC pipeline, Clark capex) against a softer gaming read. The AI/sustainability threads are medium-term structural rather than day-trade catalysts; DigiPlus and Bloomberry warrant closer monitoring into 2H.

Stance: • Sector watch — NEUTRAL SM / DMC mildly positive; BLOOM / PLUS — MONITOR on soft gaming demand.

GLOBAL “Chip-wreck”: ~$1T AI-trade unwind routs Asian tech

A violent unwind of the AI trade hit global tech. Korea's KOSPI plunged 9.99% to 8,203.84 — its 2nd-worst day of the year — triggering a 20-minute Korea Exchange circuit breaker as SK Hynix (-12.5%) and Samsung (-12.3%) cratered and foreigners dumped ₩5.79T ($3.8B). Japan's Nikkei fell 3.55% (snapping an 8-session run). On Wall Street, the Nasdaq dropped ~2.2% with Nvidia -9.5% (~$300B wiped), AMD -7.8%, Intel -8%, Broadcom -6%, Marvell -8.2%, Qualcomm -7%, on fresh chip-export curbs and profit-taking after parabolic gains; the VIX spiked ~33% toward 20. SpaceX shares bounced to snap a 3-day, $600B+ slide (now ~$156 vs a $225.64 post-IPO peak; its bond sale drew ~$89B of demand). Separately, Japan data showed foreigners bought ¥448B of Topix futures (their first in 12 weeks) while net-selling ¥522B of Nikkei futures — a rotation away from tech-heavy benchmarks.

Analysis. The key cross-asset signal for the PSEi: the local market's defensive, domestic-demand tilt and light chip exposure let it decouple — rising while chip-heavy Asia fell. A sustained global de-risking could still pressure foreign flows and the peso, but soft oil and a calmer US bond market cushion the macro. We would treat the Asian tech rout as a sentiment risk to monitor, not a direct PHL earnings threat.

Stance: • Global tone — RISK-OFF (tech) PSEi decoupled; watch flow/peso spillover if de-risking persists.
