PSE session — Wednesday, 26 August 2026

ACTIONABLE HIGHLIGHTS — THE CALL

ACCUMULATE	IMI catches the tape’s largest foreign bid on Nvidia’s blowout Integrated Micro-Electronics jumped ~6.4% to ₱7.12 and drew the day’s single largest foreign net inflow (+₱42.49M), landing sixth on value at ₱148.75M. The bid rode Nvidia’s Q2 FY2027 result — revenue $96.2B (+106% y/y), data-center $89.0B (+117%) — which reasserted global semiconductor/EMS demand. We move IMI to our lead accumulate as the clearest local proxy for the AI-hardware cycle.
MONITOR	Foreign desk sells ₱692M — ICT and ALI drive the exit Net foreign selling widened to ₱692.10M, ~two-thirds of it in just two names: ICT (–₱254.74M, a second day of heavy distribution plus ₱444M of block crosses) and ALI (–₱207.62M). ALI reversed sharply from Tuesday’s tape-leading inflow (+₱74.24M) to Wednesday’s second-largest outflow, closing –2.5% at ₱15.40. Buying stayed selective in AP (+₱34.0M), WEB, JFC and FGEN.
WATCH	Services-led dip; banks firm even with 10Y above 7% The PSEi fell 0.86% to 6,137.23, dragged by Services (–2.47%, largely ICT) and Property (–0.45%). Financials bucked the trend (+0.30%) despite the PHL 10-year holding at 7.213% — still above our 7% bank-caution trigger, keeping BDO/ BPI/MBT on watch for rate sensitivity. AP’s two-day foreign accumulation keeps power constructive.

Wall Street closed nearly flat to slightly lower Wednesday as investors held back ahead of Nvidia’s results — which then beat sharply after the bell (revenue $96.2B, +106% y/y; GAAP net income $59.69B, +126%), with the CFO guiding to further FY2028 growth. Asia was mostly firmer, led by Japan, Taiwan and Vietnam.

PHILIPPINES STRATEGY

The PSEi slipped 0.86% to 6,137.23 on ₱5.35B turnover in a Services-led decline (–2.47%), where International Container alone accounted for the bulk of the drag and the heaviest foreign selling. Property (–0.45%) and Holding Firms (–0.21%) also softened, while Financials (+0.30%), Mining & Oil (+0.14%) and Industrial (+0.02%) closed higher. Breadth was only mildly negative (78 advancers vs 94 decliners), underscoring that the index fall was concentrated in a few heavyweights rather than broad-based. Foreign investors were net sellers of ₱692.10M; the peso firmed to 61.65.

CORPORATE STANCE CARDS

IMI	₱7.12 +6.43%	AI-hardware proxy takes the day's biggest foreign bid Integrated Micro-Electronics surged ~6.4% and pulled in ₱42.49M of net foreign buying — the single largest inflow — while ranking sixth by value at ₱148.75M. The move tracked Nvidia's Q2 FY2027 blowout (revenue $96.2B, +106% y/y; data-center $89.0B, +117%), which reaffirmed global demand for semiconductors and electronics manufacturing services. IMI is the cleanest listed local expression of the AI-hardware upcycle; the flow and price action argue for accumulation, mindful that EMS margins remain cyclical and order-driven. Stance: ACCUMULATE
AP	₱45.90 -0.86%	Two straight days as a top foreign buy Aboitiz Power drew ₱34.0M of net foreign buying, its second consecutive session as one of the tape's largest inflows (+ ₱42.7M Tuesday). The stock eased fractionally with the market, but the sustained institutional bid underscores demand for defensive, cash-generative power exposure amid firmer energy prices. Persistent accumulation into a modest price pullback is constructive; we keep AP on accumulate as a core defensive holding. Stance: ACCUMULATE
ICT	₱920.50 -3.00%	Value leader, but a second day of heavy distribution International Container again led the board on value (₱1,222.65M regular) yet posted the largest foreign net sell (– ₱254.74M) on top of ₱444M of block crosses, and drove the bulk of the Services sector's 2.47% drop. Two consecutive sessions of outsized foreign selling into an otherwise premier franchise warrant patience; we would wait for the distribution to clear before adding. Stance: MONITOR
ALI	₱15.40 -2.53%	Leasing-pivot bid unwinds a day after leading inflows Ayala Land reversed hard from Tuesday's tape-leading foreign inflow (+₱74.24M) to a –₱207.62M outflow — the day's second-largest — with the stock down 2.5% and a ₱51.5M block crossing. No adverse company news accompanied the move; it reads as position-squaring after a sharp two-session round trip. The recurring-income thesis is intact, but the flow whipsaw counsels neutrality until foreign positioning settles. Stance: MONITOR

SMARTWATCH

Nvidia earnings	Q2 FY2027 blew past estimates — revenue $96.2B (+106% y/y), data-center $89.0B (+117%), GAAP net income $59.69B (+126%); CFO guided to further FY2028 growth. Nvidia outperformed Magnificent-7 peers pre-market. Read-through positive for PH tech/EMS (IMI, TECH, ION).
Gold	Held near a fresh three-month high, ~$4,640–$4,690/oz, on the returning debasement trade — supportive for Philippine gold miners (APX, AT, PX, NIKL).
Meta settlement	Meta agreed to a landmark settlement of up to $17.1B to resolve suits alleging its platforms were designed to be addictive to children.
China–Nepal floods	Flash flooding/mudslide at Gyirong Port (Tibet) on the Nepal–China border killed at least 160, with hundreds — including tourists — missing.
RCR ex-dividend	RL Commercial REIT’s ~4% slide to a three-month low reflects a cash-dividend adjustment (ex-date), not a fundamental change — relevant for yield-tracker readers.
