FIRST NEWS

Pre-Market Institutional Equity Research | July 20, 2026 | PSE Session: July 17, 2026

THE CALL

PSEi surged +1.24% to 6,404.11 on broad-based risk appetite led by Property (+2.61%) and Holdings (+2.07%), defying a global tech selloff that pushed chip stocks into bear-market territory. Foreign investors were decisive net buyers at +P857M, with ICT (+P211M), ALI (+P147M), and BPI (+P107M) commanding the heaviest inflows. Oil prices jumped 3.8% on escalating U.S.-Iran strikes, pushing Brent above $88. PHL 10Y crept higher to 7.276%, keeping the yield-gap warning alive for rate-sensitive plays.

QUICK HIGHLIGHTS

	PSEi +1.24% to 6,404 — Property & Holdings led; breadth positive (103 adv / 85 dec)
	Net foreign buying P857M — ICT, ALI, BPI top three; GLO saw P58M outflow on Mynt IPO rotation
	Brent crude >$88 — US-Iran strikes enter 6th night; supertanker Belma disabled in Persian Gulf
	BPI 1H26: NI flat at P32.8B despite 12% revenue growth; provisions jumped 84% to P13.3B
	Mynt (GCash) filed SEC registration for up to P92.3B IPO — largest PH listing ever if priced at cap
	ERC rejected Meralco-Sual 200MW PSA; Barito $5B non-binding bid for EDC under DOE scrutiny

CORPORATE STANCE CARDS

ICT 998.00ICTSI Leads PSE Turnover Again with P968M Value; P211M Foreign Inflow

International Container Terminal Services continued its dominance of the Philippine bourse, generating the highest turnover at P968 million with 969,730 shares traded. The port operator attracted a commanding P211.4 million in net foreign buying, far outstripping every other name on the board. ICT has consistently led multi-day foreign flows, underscoring institutional conviction in its dollar-denominated revenue profile, global port diversification, and resilient earnings trajectory. The stock remains the first PSE-listed company to close above a P2-trillion market capitalization, a distinction achieved earlier this month.

ICT is the quintessential peso-weakness hedge in the PSEi. With Brent crude surging past $88 on U.S.-Iran escalation and the peso hovering near 61.60, ICT's dollar revenue base makes it an anchor holding. The P211M single-session inflow signals sustained institutional accumulation rather than speculative rotation.

ACCUMULATE ON DIPS*ALI 17.00Ayala Land Surges with P147M Foreign Buying; Property Sector Leads Market

Ayala Land was the second most actively traded stock at P829 million, rallying with the broader property sector which gained 2.61% on the session. Net foreign buying hit P146.9 million, the largest single-session foreign inflow for ALI in recent weeks. The buying conviction came as the broader market shifted toward domestic consumption and property plays, defying the global tech-led selloff. With nearly 49.3 million shares changing hands, ALI saw intense interest from both local and foreign institutional investors.

The property sector's outperformance reflects a rotation into domestic-facing value names as global tech sentiment sours. ALI remains deeply undervalued relative to its NAV and the P147M foreign buying session suggests institutional repositioning ahead of anticipated BSP policy support.

ACCUMULATE*BPI 104.00BPI 1H26: Net Income Flat at P32.8B; Revenue Growth Offset by 84% Provision Jump

Bank of the Philippine Islands reported first-half 2026 net income of P32.8 billion, essentially flat versus the P33.0 billion posted a year ago. Revenue surged 12% year-on-year to P104 billion, driven by broad-based loan growth across institutional, SME, and consumer segments. However, provisions for loan losses jumped 84% to P13.3 billion, reflecting a deliberate front-loading of credit buffers amid an uncertain macro environment. Total loans expanded 12.4% to P2.7 trillion, with the SME segment posting a remarkable 74.5% increase. Credit card loans rose 28.9% and personal loans grew 21.4%. Total assets stood at P3.7 trillion, up 9.6% year-on-year.

Analysts see BPI's elevated provisioning as prudent rather than alarming, as the bank builds reserves against potential credit deterioration from Middle East conflict spillover and elevated inflation. The strong revenue trajectory supports a 2026E parent net income forecast of P68-73B. Support at P100; resistance at P107-110. The PHL 10Y above 7.25% keeps the caution flag alive for the banking sector.

GLO 1,870.00Globe Secures P10B Landbank Loan; Mynt IPO Filing Advances

Globe Telecom locked in a P10 billion term loan from the Land Bank of the Philippines to finance capex, refinance debt, and fund general corporate requirements. This follows a P5 billion loan from BDO announced in June. The company maintained its sub-$1 billion full-year cash capex guidance while first-quarter capex jumped 51% to P12.7 billion, with 91% directed toward data infrastructure. Separately, Globe's fintech subsidiary Mynt (GCash) has filed its SEC registration statement for a proposed P92.3 billion IPO, targeting the fourth quarter. If completed at the indicative price, it would be the largest IPO in Philippine history. Globe also noted that Executive Order 119 would strengthen government data security, positioning the telco as an enabler of digital government services.

Globe attracted P58M in net foreign selling on the session, likely reflecting rotation out of telcos into property and consumer plays. However, the Mynt IPO remains the key value-unlock catalyst for the second half. At P1,870, GLO trades at a meaningful discount to the implied value of its GCash stake alone.

SMPH 19.08SM Prime Expands Xiamen Mall; Dividend Yield Gap Widens vs. PHL 10Y

SM Prime Holdings is launching the P1.5 billion CHAO Block at SM Xiamen City as it narrows its China expansion strategy exclusively to Fujian province, where the SM brand has deep recognition. President Jeffrey Lim confirmed no immediate plans to expand outside Fujian. The first phase opens in September, with the second by Q4 2027. Domestically, SMPH's projected dividend fell 9% to P0.42 per share, producing a 2.27% yield that sits 499 basis points below the PHL 10-year Treasury yield of 7.26%. SMPH attracted P45M in net foreign buying on the session, suggesting institutional interest despite the yield-gap headwind.

SMPH remains the premier vehicle for capturing Philippine domestic consumption growth through its integrated property model and unmatched mall scale. However, the widening gap between its dividend yield (2.27%) and the risk-free rate (7.26%) puts a ceiling on near-term re-rating. Best positioned as a medium-term accumulate on dips below P18.50.

MER 585.00ERC Rejects Meralco-Sual Power 200MW Supply Deal

The Energy Regulatory Commission formally denied the joint petition by Manila Electric Co. and Sual Power Inc. (a San Miguel Corp. subsidiary) for a 200-megawatt power supply agreement. The ERC ruled that Meralco failed to demonstrate urgency, noting the utility had a projected surplus of 479 MW in 2026 even without the Sual contract. Sual Power had won Meralco's competitive selection process with the lowest bid of P4.2955 per kWh. The rejected deal was intended to cover four-year baseload requirements and support compliance with renewable portfolio standards through renewable energy certificates.

The ERC rejection creates a gap in Meralco's long-term contracting strategy but is not immediately negative given the existing supply surplus. MER attracted P44.6M in net foreign buying, suggesting investors view the ERC decision as immaterial to Meralco's near-term earnings. The next catalyst is the 600MW competitive selection process with a July 28 pre-bid conference.

EDC / FGENDOE Monitoring Barito Renewables $5B Bid for EDC

The Department of Energy said it would assess the impact of the proposed $5 billion acquisition of Energy Development Corp. by Indonesia's PT Barito Renewables Energy. Energy Secretary Sharon Garin noted the deal would be "a welcome change" if it brings investment into the geothermal sector, while stressing compliance with legal requirements. EDC accounts for roughly one-fifth of the Philippines' installed renewable energy capacity with 1,480 MW across geothermal, wind, hydro, and solar assets. First Gen Corp. confirmed the offer as "unsolicited, indicative, and non-binding" with no discussions or agreements yet signed. EDC generated 87% of First Gen's revenues last year at P48.6 billion.

The Barito bid introduces optionality for FGEN shareholders but regulatory complexity around foreign ownership and power supply security could delay or reshape the deal. FGEN saw P8.4M in net foreign selling on the session. Watch for formal due diligence announcements as the next catalyst.

SCC 20.25*Semirara Files Court Petition to Block DOE Data Disclosure

Semirara Mining and Power Corp. has filed a petition for declaratory relief with a Makati court to prevent the Department of Energy from requiring disclosure of proprietary mining data and detailed asset records. The dispute centers on information-sharing requirements ahead of competitive bidding for the country's largest coal mine operation. The DOE is demanding a comprehensive asset inventory to share with rival bidders, which SCC views as an overreach that threatens its competitive position.

The legal dispute adds governance overhang to SCC but does not affect near-term operations. Net foreign buying of P23.3M suggests institutional investors are comfortable with the stock at current levels. Coal prices remain supportive at $130/MT.

WEB 13.58*PhilWeb Launches NWR Play Platform for Newport World Resorts

PhilWeb Corp. and Travellers International Hotel Group officially launched NWR Play, an online gaming platform supporting Newport World Resorts' expansion into the regulated digital gaming ecosystem. The platform runs on PhilWeb's Online Gaming Platform which integrates gaming content, AI-enabled monitoring, cloud infrastructure, and regulatory compliance. This follows PhilWeb's recent P2 billion strategic investment from Lance Gokongwei and an exclusive partnership with Pragmatic Play. NWR Play joins an expanding ecosystem that includes Okada Manila, Hann Casino Resort, NUSTAR, FBM Philippines, and PT Gaming.

PhilWeb is building a scalable B2B platform play in Philippine regulated gaming. The Gokongwei capital injection provides a multi-year growth runway. Net foreign buying of P3.2M is modest but the stock's 96% year-to-date gain shows market recognition of the strategy.

CEB 28.95*Cebu Pacific Signs Wet Lease Deal with Vietnam Airlines

Cebu Pacific has entered into a wet lease agreement with Vietnam Airlines to deploy one Airbus A320neo aircraft, complete with pilots and cabin crew, for domestic operations out of Ho Chi Minh City from July 15 to September 7. The aircraft will serve routes to Cam Ranh, Phu Quoc, Vinh, and Da Nang. CFO Mark Cezar said the arrangement allows productive use of available capacity during the Philippines' off-peak season while generating additional revenue.

The wet lease strategy demonstrates CEB's fleet management sophistication, monetizing idle capacity during seasonal troughs. CEB saw P715K in net foreign selling, which is negligible. The stock is a second-half recovery candidate as domestic travel volumes rebuild.

TEL 1,250.00PLDT Signs MOA with Tagbanua Communities for Palawan Submarine Cable

PLDT Inc. signed a memorandum of agreement with the Tagbanua Indigenous Cultural Communities for the Palawan Resiliency Submarine Cable Project. The project aims to improve network reliability and expand internet capacity across the province through additional subsea cable routes. TEL attracted P25.5M in net foreign buying on the session, making it a top-ten foreign flow name.

PLDT's infrastructure investment in underserved regions supports long-term subscriber growth and positions the company for regulatory goodwill. At P1,250, the stock offers a compelling dividend yield relative to sector peers.

SEVN 35.00Philippine Seven Prioritizes VisMin Store Expansion

Philippine Seven Corp., the exclusive 7-Eleven licensee, is accelerating expansion in Visayas and Mindanao where consumer demand continues to outperform. The company had 4,575 stores as of end-March 2026, with VisMin accounting for an increasing share of new openings. PSC allocates up to P5 billion in annual capex for store rollouts, with more than half of 2026 openings targeted for VisMin. First-quarter net income rose 21.2% to P639M.

SEVN's VisMin pivot aligns with structural consumer spending growth outside Metro Manila. The P120K net foreign selling is immaterial. The stock offers domestic consumption exposure with strong same-store sales momentum.

SM 597.00SM Investments Dividends Seen Rising 5% to P23.36/Share

SM Investments Corp. dividends are estimated to rise 5% to P23.36 per share from P22.33, lifting the estimated yield to 3.97%. While this reflects strong underlying cash flow from the group's diversified portfolio spanning retail, banking, and property, the yield remains 329 basis points below the PHL 10-year Treasury yield of 7.26%.

SM remains a diversified conglomerate with irreplaceable domestic franchise value. The yield gap versus risk-free rates is a headwind but the dividend growth trajectory provides a floor for the stock. Net foreign selling was minimal at P639K.

INTERNATIONAL MACRO

U.S. stocks closed the week lower as a deepening selloff pushed chip stocks into bear-market territory, while escalating U.S.-Iran tensions sent oil prices surging 3.8% with Brent crude breaking above $88 per barrel. The U.S. military completed another wave of precision strikes across southern Iran, marking six consecutive nights of operations targeting air defenses, missile and drone storage sites, and coastal surveillance infrastructure. In a separate escalation, the U.S. military fired missiles at and disabled the sanctioned supertanker Belma in the Persian Gulf after it breached a newly reimposed shipping blockade heading toward Iran's Kharg Island.

The MSCI Asia Pacific Index fell as much as 2.1% as the tech selloff accelerated on concerns over AI-related spending, dragging most Asian markets lower. Taiwan's TWSE fell sharply (-6.5%) on semiconductor exposure. The Philippines and Malaysia were among the few regional gainers. South Korean markets were closed for a public holiday.

The Philippine SEC has proposed a revised framework for credit rating agencies, a structural reform that could deepen the domestic corporate bond market over time.
