The Ayala group flashed conviction, with parent AC buying ₱56M of ALI shares, and Mining ripped (Apex +6.2%). Global risk appetite is firm (VIX below 16). Lean into the leaders — ICT, ALI, JFC — while keeping banks on a light watch with the PHL 10-year still at 7.24%.

The PSEi rose 62.83 points (+1.01%) to 6,286.70 in a broad-based advance, with all six sectors higher and positive breadth of 102 advancers to 82 decliners and 61 unchanged on a heavy ₱9.04B turnover (including a ₱2.25B block-sale day). Mining & Oil led (+2.32%) on a domestic-driven surge in Apex Mining (+6.2%); Property (+1.23%) firmed as foreigners returned to ALI and SMPH; Financials (+0.97%), Services (+0.77%), Holding Firms (+0.76%) and Industrials (+0.66%) all gained. Foreigners were net buyers of ₱772.1M (≈ +$12.5M) for a second straight session — ICT (+₱387M), ALI (+₱98M), Bloomberg (+₱96M) and BPI (+₱93M) led inflows against selling in SM, TEL and URC. The peso held near ₱61.6 and the PHL 10-year was steady at 7.24%.

ICT ₱985.00 ▲ +1.39% · PT ₱1,200 · RSI 64

ICTSI completes its Brazil logistics acquisition, extending the dollar-earner footprint.

International Container Terminal Services confirmed it has closed the acquisition of a Brazilian logistics business, adding to a portfolio spanning terminals across the Americas, Europe, Asia and Africa. ICT was again the market's turnover leader at ₱2.45B in value and the single largest foreign inflow of the day at +₱387M. The shares rose 1.39% to ₱985.00 as offshore sponsorship stayed relentless. Momentum is constructive with the RSI at a still-healthy 64.

ICT remains our top structural long — a peso-hedged, globally diversified dollar earner with the deepest and most consistent foreign bid on the board. We carry a ₱1,200 price target and would add on any dip.

● STANCE: ACCUMULATE ON DIPS

ALI ₱16.00 ▲ +5.96%

Ayala Corp buys 3.6M Ayala Land shares — a definitive vote of confidence in deep value.

Parent Ayala Corp purchased 3,605,300 ALI common shares at ₱15.4641 apiece (about ₱56M), a continuation of group buying after ALI slumped roughly 37–40% in 2026 on sector headwinds. The market read it as conviction from the Ayala-Zobel group: ALI jumped 5.96% to ₱16.00 and drew the day's second-largest foreign inflow at +₱98M, ranking third in turnover. The bounce lifted the whole property board (+1.23%).

This is the local-conviction, deep-value setup we have flagged: a beaten-down blue chip where the controlling group is buying and foreigners are following. We stay ACCUMULATE and view parent purchases as a floor under the price.

● STANCE: ACCUMULATE

AC ₱476.00 ▲ +1.71%

AC Health pursues acquisitions for hospital growth as the parent doubles down on the group.

Ayala Corp's healthcare arm, AC Health, is pursuing acquisitions to expand its hospital network, extending the conglomerate's push into higher-growth services. The disclosure landed the same day AC was buying ALI shares, underscoring capital-allocation confidence across the group. AC firmed 1.71% to ₱476.00. Healthcare M&A adds a secular growth leg to a portfolio anchored in banking, property and utilities.

The group is signalling conviction with its own balance sheet, and AC Health broadens the growth story. We keep AC on MONITOR with a constructive bias, preferring ALI as the more direct expression of the deep-value trade.

● STANCE: MONITOR

TEL ₱1,163.00 ▲ +0.61%

PLDT's data-center arm VITRO files for a Philippine REIT IPO to raise up to ₱24.2B.

VITRO Inc., PLDT's data-center subsidiary, has filed for a 2026 Philippine IPO, aiming to raise up to ₱24.2B ($397M) via a REIT listing of up to 2.2 billion secondary shares priced at ₱11 each to boost liquidity. Separately, Smart secured GSMA certification for a device-roaming API. TEL rose 0.61% to ₱1,163 even as foreigners trimmed ₱24.7M. The REIT crystallizes value in PLDT's fast-growing digital-infrastructure franchise.

A data-center REIT is a credible value-unlock for TEL's most strategic asset and a read-through positive for PH digital infrastructure. The offer is secondary (liquidity, not fresh capital), so we stay MONITOR and watch pricing and foreign flow for the re-rate.

● STANCE: MONITOR

JFC ₱145.80 ▲ +1.60%Jollibee leans on buybacks to signal that management sees the shares as undervalued.

Jollibee Foods is using share buybacks through its corporate units to support the stock, providing a reliable demand layer that limits downside during panics and signalling leadership's belief that the shares are undervalued. JFC advanced 1.60% to ₱145.80 with foreigners net buyers of ₱3.6M. The buyback backdrop, paired with the group's global store-network expansion, underpins the medium-term earnings story.

Buyback support plus returning foreign interest is a constructive combination. We stay ACCUMULATE for patient positions and would use weakness in the low-₱140s to add.

● STANCE: ACCUMULATE*SMPH ₱18.24 ▲ +0.77%SM Prime's ₱7-billion Cebu arena anchors its experiential-retail lead — and foreigners return.

SM Prime's newly opened ₱7-billion Cebu arena is designed to draw concerts, sports and MICE events that lift mall footfall and ancillary spend across its surrounding Visayas developments. Unlike the prior session, foreign investors turned net buyers of SMPH (+₱12.6M) as the property board rallied, and the stock rose 0.77% to ₱18.24. The venue reinforces the group's structural footfall advantage and regional expansion.

Flow has flipped constructive and the fundamental story is intact. We keep SMPH on MONITOR with an improving bias and would look to accumulate as rate pressure eases.

● STANCE: MONITOR*CNVRG ₱9.20 ▼ -1.71%Converge slips on PSEi-exclusion concerns — but foreigners aggressively buy the dip.

Converge shares fell on concerns it may be excluded in an upcoming PSEi reconstitution, an index-membership overhang that can trigger tracker-driven selling. Yet the tape told two stories: while the price dropped 1.71% to ₱9.20, foreign investors were the day's fourth-largest net buyers at +₱57M, and CNVRG ranked tenth in turnover. That divergence — index-fear selling met by heavy offshore accumulation — is the key tell.

Index-exclusion risk is a real near-term overhang, but contrarian foreign buying at these levels suggests smart money sees value below the noise. We stay MONITOR pending the reconstitution decision and would treat confirmed exclusion-driven weakness as an opportunity.

● STANCE: MONITOR*MER ₱578.00 ▲ +0.35%Meralco lifts July rates ₱0.3428/kWh while pledging no disconnections on disputed bills.

Meralco's July rates rose ₱0.3428/kWh on a higher generation charge, a revenue-supportive move via its pass-through mechanics, even as it said customers with pending billing disputes will not be disconnected — a goodwill gesture that tempers the consumer optics. MER firmed 0.35% to ₱578 with ₱6.8M of foreign buying. The name remains a defensive utility with regulated, pass-through economics.

Rate pass-throughs protect margins and the no-disconnect stance manages headline risk. We stay MONITOR on MER as a defensive holding.

● STANCE: MONITOR

GLO ₱1,810.00 ▲ +0.06%Globe plans to deepen its fiber footprint to defend and grow its broadband franchise.

Globe Telecom outlined plans to deepen its fiber footprint, extending fixed-broadband reach in a competitive market. The build supports long-run subscriber and ARPU growth but carries near-term capex. GLO was flat at ₱1,810 and saw ₱18.3M of foreign selling. Fiber depth is strategically necessary as data demand rises.

Sensible strategic investment, but capex intensity and foreign selling keep us patient. We stay MONITOR on GLO.

● STANCE: MONITORMWIDE ₱4.13 ▲ +1.23%Megawide eyes more housing projects in Cavite and Bulacan.

Megawide is targeting additional housing developments in Cavite and Bulacan, broadening its property and construction pipeline in high-demand growth corridors. MWIDE rose 1.23% to ₱4.13 with modest foreign buying. The expansion fits the infrastructure-and-housing theme but the name remains a smaller-cap, execution-driven story.

A reasonable pipeline addition, though scale and execution keep this a watch item rather than a core position. We stay NEUTRAL.

● STANCE: NEUTRALWEB ₱14.16 ▲ +4.42%PhilWeb's Pragmatic Play tie-up broadens its gaming-content services.

PhilWeb's partnership with content provider Pragmatic Play targets the fast-growing online and integrated-gaming segment, where content depth drives player engagement and revenue share. WEB rallied 4.42% to ₱14.16 on domestic demand, though foreigners were net sellers of ₱10.4M. Earnings contribution will take time in a competitive, regulation-sensitive sector.

The content strategy is right, but foreign selling and regulatory sensitivity warrant patience. We stay NEUTRAL pending visible revenue traction.

● STANCE: NEUTRALPCOR ₱2.28 ▼ -0.44%CTA orders the BIR to refund Petron ₱45.39M in alkylate excise tax.

The Court of Tax Appeals ordered the Bureau of Internal Revenue to refund Petron ₱45.39M in alkylate excise tax, a further favorable if modest legal outcome following earlier partial refund rulings. PCOR eased 0.44% to ₱2.28 in quiet trade. The decision trims a slice of the tax overhang without altering the refining-margin earnings driver.

Incremental legal relief is welcome but small; the investment case still hinges on margins and volumes. We stay MONITOR on PCOR.
