Wall Street rebounded on Monday (Dow +0.28%, S&P 500 +0.70%, Nasdaq +0.82%), after the PSE had closed, so it is the overnight signal for today. The desk attributes the rebound to Anthropic's reported IPO submission reigniting buying in technology names (single desk line, not verified). Asia was mixed on Monday: Sensex (+0.44%), Hang Seng (+0.51%), Shanghai (+0.19%) and Australia (+0.17%) rose, while KOSPI (−1.46%), Jakarta (−1.22%), the Nikkei (−0.80%), Vietnam (−0.60%), Kuala Lumpur (−0.45%) and Singapore (−0.12%) fell. Thailand's SET (+1.08%) is a desk paste whose implied prior does not match last edition's level, so treat it as unverified. Taiwan is N/A because its paste repeats Oct 22 exactly. The desk adds that the Thai baht softened after a record jump in imports and that markets expect the Bank of Thailand to hold at 1.00% on Wednesday, and that Saudi Arabia will lease storage at Singapore's Jurong Rock Caverns from 2H2027 for a strategic crude reserve, hedging Strait of Hormuz risk from the US–Iran conflict.

The peso weakened again and the local 10-year yield eased. USD-PHP rose 0.54% to 63.943 in the desk table; the desk's text cites an all-time low of 63.62, and the DQR conversion rate was ₱63.615, so the level is not reconciled. The PHL 10-year yield fell 2.5bp to 8.094%; the US 10-year is N/A. The desk also cites 35-day T-bills at a 5.589% average rate and a 182-day yield of 6.430% from the latest auction (date not stated), and the BTr is offering ₱10B of 5.925% 2036 bonds and ₱25B of 7% 2029 bonds today.

A third straight loss, with every sector lower. The PSEi fell 1.53% to close at its low, 3.1% below its Oct 21 close, with Holding Firms (−2.37%), Mining & Oil (−2.26%), Financials (−1.81%) and Services (−1.40%) leading. The desk calls the BSP's hike aggressive, says traders remain hesitant after the 5.5% tightening and persistently high crude costs, and sees Brent near $110 and WTI near $103 as upside risks to local inflation, with the peso at a record low. Foreigners turned net sellers (−₱45.1M) after three days of net buying, with SM (−₱46.8M), GLO (−₱45.7M) and PX (−₱36.6M) the heaviest sales, partly offset by GCASH (+₱60.3M) and MYNLD (+₱59.1M). Regular main-board value was ₱4.61B; block crosses lifted the total to ₱5.91B, including ₱562.1M in OPM and OPMB at about ₱0.015 a share.

What the tape shows

- Narrow leadership: only MER (+1.48%), SMPH (+0.47%), SMC (+0.23%), LTG (+0.13%) and EMI (+0.13%) rose among the PSEi-30; SM (−3.95%) was the biggest cap-weighted drag, with foreigners selling ₱46.8M of it.
- Standing house rule: banks stay on watch while the PHL 10-year is above 7% (8.094% today, down 2.5bp). Financials fell 1.81% (BPI −3.30%, MBT −2.20%, BDO −1.12%, PNB −0.26%); foreigners bought BDO (+₱27.0M) but sold MBT (−₱13.1M), and BPI drew ₱255.4M of block crosses.
- Property held up better than banks: Property fell 0.40% (SMPH +0.47%, RLC +0.87%, MEG +0.44%; ALI −1.66%, RCR −1.31%, CREIT −2.11%), even though a desk note says BSP rate increases hurt rate-sensitive developers and REITs.
- GCASH below its offer: unchanged at ₱6.27 against the ₱6.60 offer price after five sessions, with an intraday low of ₱5.95 and foreign buying of ₱60.3M, far below the ₱450.8M of Oct 23.

Risks to watch (desk and BusinessWorld items, not verified)

- Inflation and rates: a jumbo BSP hike, a record-low peso, crude near $110 and short-end yields of 5.589% (35-day) and 6.430% (182-day) keep funding costs in focus; today's bond sale tests demand.
- El Niño: the desk cites a record "very strong" El Niño peaking in late 2026 and lasting into 2027, a downside risk to corporate, agricultural and household earnings across Asia-Pacific.
- Bank credit quality: a desk note says Moody's cut RCBC's rating outlook to negative from stable, with 1H26 net income down 22.5% to ₱4.11B on higher provisions (single note, not verified; RCBC is not in the PSEi-30).

The concept. Volume counts how many shares changed hands; value counts how many pesos changed hands (shares × price). Share prices on the PSE range from fractions of a peso to more than ₱1,500, so a large volume in a cheap stock can be a small amount of money, while a modest volume in an expensive stock can be a large one. That is why most-active lists, and sector and market totals, are ranked by value, and why volume figures should be read alongside the price per share. It also helps to separate regular trading from block crosses, which are negotiated trades reported separately.

Volume and value, Oct 26 (DQR)	Value
All shares traded / total value	38.27B shares / ₱5.91B (Oct 23: 2.41B shares / ₱4.83B)
Average value per share traded	₱0.154 (Oct 23: ₱2.01)
Mining & Oil sector	37.20B shares (97.2% of all shares) / ₱740.4M (12.5% of value)
OPM + OPMB block crosses	37.05B shares (96.8% of all shares) / ₱562.1M (9.5% of value)
OPM + OPMB regular trading	89.8M shares / ₱1.4M
ICT (regular trading)	0.86M shares / ₱726.9M (about ₱842 a share)
GCASH (regular trading)	224.8M shares / ₱1.38B (about ₱6.14 a share)

Why it matters today. Shares traded jumped about 16 times from Oct 23 while value rose only 22%, because 20 block crosses in OPM and OPMB, priced at about ₱0.015 a share, supplied 96.8% of the share count. On value, the day's leaders were GCASH (₱1.38B) and ICT (₱726.9M), and ICT traded fewer than one million shares. Reading the 38.27B headline as heavy buying or selling would mislead; the ₱5.91B total, and the ₱4.61B of regular trading within it, is the better gauge of activity.
How to use it. (1) Rank stocks by value, not volume, when judging where money is moving. (2) When volume looks extreme, divide value by volume to see the price per share. (3) Check how much of the total is block crosses and how much is regular trading. (4) Remember that value traded counts both buyer and seller, so it is activity, not net buying. Takeaway: volume tells you how many shares moved, value tells you how much money moved, and the two can point in very different directions.
