GLOBAL & REGIONAL MARKETS

Wall Street "Sells On News": The U.S. rally has cooled. Major indexes snapped their recent winning streaks, experiencing a pullback after hitting record intraday highs as investors actively priced in the news and took profits.

Geopolitical Volatility Returns: Highlighting the fragility of the earlier ceasefire, oil prices are climbing once again following reports that the U.S. and Iran have resumed strikes in the Strait of Hormuz.

Safe Havens Pause: Despite the sudden return of geopolitical friction, traditional and alternative safe-haven assets, including Gold and Bitcoin, have paused their recent gains.

Asian Markets Surge on Deal Hopes: While Wall Street pulled back, an overriding optimism continues to support Asian markets. A fresh U.S.-Iran peace proposal has sustained hopes for an eventual, permanent reopening of the Strait of Hormuz. Coupled with strong corporate earnings, this risk-on mood lifted Asian equities higher following Wall Street's initially upbeat lead. Regional stocks hit record highs, with Japan experiencing a significant surge.

Regional Catalyst (Vietnam): In broader Southeast Asian market developments, Vietnam's stock market is gaining structural momentum. It could be added to the MSCI's market watch list for a potential upgrade to emerging-market status in an upcoming review scheduled for June.

PSE MARKET SUMMARY - THURSDAY MAY 7, 2026

Based on the provided Daily Quotation Report and the referenced BusinessWorld article, here is a comprehensive description of the Philippine stock market for Thursday, May 7, 2026.

Index Performance & Market Breadth

- PSEi Milestone: The benchmark Philippine Stock Exchange index (PSEi) successfully reclaimed the 6,000 level, jumping by 1.12% (an increase of 67.06 points) to close at 6,034.27. According to the BusinessWorld report, this marks a three-week high and the index's best finish since mid-April.
- All Shares: The broader All Shares index mirrored this optimism, rising 0.98% (32.96 points) to end at 3,396.41.
- Market Breadth: The session saw positive, broad-based participation with 125 issues advancing, 83 declining, and 53 remaining unchanged.
- Foreign Flows: Foreign investors supported the rally as net buyers, contributing a net foreign buying value of Php 213,383,367.54.

Sectoral Performance

All major sectoral indices closed in the green, reflecting across-the-board accumulation:

- Financials led the market surge, climbing 2.72%.
- Industrials posted strong gains, advancing 1.62%.
- Mining & Oil rose by 0.94%.
- Property gained 0.44%.
- Holding Firms and Services rounded out the gains, moving up by 0.37% and 0.34%, respectively.

Macro and Geopolitical Drivers

According to the context from the BusinessWorld article, two major contrasting narratives drove market sentiment:

- The Catalyst (Middle East Peace Hopes): Strong buying pressure early in the trading session was fueled by tracking gains in global markets. Investors priced in the easing of geopolitical tensions, driven by reports that the US and Iran are closing in on a memorandum to end the war.
- The Headwind (Dismal Q1 GDP): Despite the strong close, the local market's gains were actively tempered by domestic macroeconomic reality. The Philippine Q1 2026 gross domestic product (GDP) growth severely missed expectations, coming in at a sluggish 2.8%. This disappointing economic performance—heavily dragged by the recent energy supply crisis and oil shock—prompted more cautious positioning among investors toward the close.

PGOLD (Puregold Price Club, Inc.)	ACCUMULATE
Price: P44.10 Story: Puregold reported a robust Q1 2026 performance, with net income surging 24% year-on-year to P3.26 billion. Revenue climbed 12% to P58.78 billion, driven heavily by increased foot traffic and strong sales at its S&R warehouse clubs. Operating income also posted solid growth, up 20% to P4.77 billion. Analysis: The 24% bottom-line jump demonstrates PGOLD's highly resilient consumer base and the margin-accretive nature of S&R's wholesale model. Double-digit top-line and operating income growth validates its defensive positioning against broader macroeconomic headwinds and inflationary pressures. Stance: ACCUMULATE — ACCUMULATE. A definitive Q1 earnings beat. PGOLD remains a premier defensive consumer staple play.
URC (Universal Robina Corp.)	MONITOR
Price: P62.05 Story: URC's Q1 2026 earnings faced headwinds from lower sugar selling prices, causing net income to dip 2.2% year-on-year to P3.97 billion. Basic EPS contracted slightly to P1.86 from P1.89 in the previous year. Despite bottom-line pressures, top-line revenue managed a 5.7% growth to P47.87 billion. Analysis: While URC's volume and revenue growth remain intact (+5.7%), margin compression in its sugar segment is directly dragging down profitability. At P62.05, the stock price reflects these commodity-driven pressures. The recent Hormuz de-escalation may help alleviate input and freight costs in subsequent quarters, but near-term margins remain challenged. Recommendation: MONITOR / HOLD. Wait for clearer signs of margin recovery or stabilization in sugar prices before adding to positions.
MPI / GTCAP (Metro Pacific Investments / GT Capital)	ACCUMULATE
Story: MPIC reported a rise in Q1 core profit, propelled by strong contributions and gains from its power and healthcare portfolios. Analysis: MPIC continues to show fundamental strength in its core utilities and defensive healthcare segments. For GT Capital (which holds a strategic stake in MPI), this translates to positive equity earnings and reinforces the conglomerate's blended value. Recommendation: ACCUMULATE (GTCAP) on weakness.

CNPF (Century Pacific Food)	ACCUMULATE
Story: Century Pacific delivered a solid Q1 2026, with profit rising 10% to P2.1 billion. Analysis: A 10% bottom-line growth reinforces CNPF's status as a highly resilient, defensive staple. The company continues to demonstrate excellent cost management and pricing power, successfully navigating a high-inflation environment without sacrificing margins. Recommendation: ACCUMULATE. Consistent compounding growth story in the consumer sector.
ALI / AC (Ayala Land / Ayala Corp)	ACCUMULATE
Story: Ayala Land has officially opened the "Main Street" at Arca South, providing a crucial link between the newly opened mall and the estate's transport hub. Separately, AC-affiliated Honda is expanding its hybrid vehicle lineup as consumer demand grows despite EV infrastructure gaps. Analysis: For ALI, this infrastructural milestone drives immediate foot traffic to the 100,000 sqm Arca South Mall, accelerating its strategic pivot toward recurring leasing income. For AC, the hybrid pivot allows them to capture the transitional automotive market. Recommendation: ACCUMULATE. Both the property leasing pivot and transitional auto strategies are sound long-term value drivers.
OGP (OceanaGold Philippines)	ACCUMULATE
Story: OGP's Q1 income jumped significantly as higher global metal prices successfully offset a dip in production output. Analysis: OGP is perfectly positioned to capitalize on the recent surge in gold prices (driven by geopolitical safe-haven demand). The elevated price realization is effectively buffering operational volume dips, padding bottom-line margins. Recommendation: ACCUMULATE. Strong fundamental play on elevated precious metal prices.
SM (SM Investments / SM Prime)	ACCUMULATE
Story: SM Supermalls is aggressively scaling up its green initiatives across its property portfolio. Analysis: Enhancing ESG compliance not only attracts foreign institutional ESG-mandated flows but also structurally lowers long-term operational (energy/water) costs for SMPH, reinforcing its premium valuation. Recommendation: ACCUMULATE.
DITO (DITO CME Holdings)	MONITOR

Story: DITO signed a strategic connectivity agreement with Indonesia's Telin.

Analysis: This partnership improves DITO's international network infrastructure and bandwidth capabilities—a necessary step for market share acquisition and improving service reliability. However, the company remains deeply loss-making.

Recommendation: MONITOR. Positive operational development, but fundamental profitability remains the primary hurdle.

ENERGY (Sector Catalyst)

POSITIVE SECTOR CATALYST

Story: Three firms are actively eyeing the privatization of the Bakun Hydro plant.

Analysis: Increased competition for renewable energy assets underscores the sector's premium valuation, especially following the recent State of National Energy Emergency.

Recommendation: POSITIVE SECTOR CATALYST. Watch participating listed energy and power generation firms for potential capacity expansion.
