GLOBAL MARKETS OVERVIEW

US markets closed lower on Tuesday as Moody's US sovereign downgrade continued to weigh on sentiment. The Dow Jones slipped 0.65% to 49,363.88, the S&P 500 fell 0.67% to 7,353.61, and the NASDAQ declined 0.84% to 25,870.71. Longer-dated Treasury yields pushed higher with the US 10-year rising to 4.667%, reflecting fiscal concerns and a weaker dollar. President Trump's announcement that a strike on Iran had been called off briefly lifted risk appetite intraday before fading.

MACRO WATCH

Trump Calls Off Iran Strike — Risk-On Reprieve. President Trump announced late Monday that the US had called off a planned strike on Iran following back-channel diplomatic activity. While Middle East tensions remain elevated, the temporary de-escalation provided modest relief to regional equity markets overnight. Brent crude surged 5.28% to $111.28/bbl and WTI rose 3.17% to $104.22/bbl as energy supply-risk premiums stayed embedded — a headwind for the peso and Philippine fuel importers.

Japan Q1 GDP Beats — 2.1% Annualised. Japan's economy expanded 0.5% q-o-q in Q1 2026, translating to a 2.1% annualised rate — handily beating the 0.4% consensus and accelerating from the prior quarter's 1.3% pace. The outperformance supports the case for further BOJ normalisation and is reflected in USD-JPY pushing to 159.18, a continued yen weakness theme. The Nikkei 225 advanced 0.45% to 60,550.59.

Malaysian CPI +1.9% y-o-y in April. Malaysia's consumer prices rose a benign 1.9% year-on-year in April, underpinning expectations that Bank Negara Malaysia will maintain its current stance. KLCI was flat at 1,727.27.

Philippine Bank Lending to Moderate Post Rate-Hike. Following the BSP's recent rate actions, credit growth is expected to moderate as higher borrowing costs flow through to household and corporate balance sheets. The peso remains Asia's weakest performer, with USD-PHP at 61.745 and the 10-year Philippine sovereign yield jumping to 7.871% (+50 bps). BTr's rejection of all bids at its March 7-year T-bond auction underscores that the government and investors remain at an impasse on yields, potentially tightening domestic liquidity.

PHILIPPINES MARKET STRATEGY

The PSEi shed 44.72 points or 0.75% to close at 5,896.80 on continued broad institutional liquidation, with decliners outpacing advancers 107-to-63. Turnover of ₱5.36 billion remains respectable but foreign funds extended their net selling to $11.01 million on the session — bringing May-to-date net foreign selling to $254.8 million. The index has now breached several near-term technical supports and sits near its 52-week low range of 6,584–6,673 (note: 52-week range reflects prior year context; current levels reflect macro derating).

Key macro headwinds persist: the peso remains under pressure at ₱61.75/USD, Philippine 10-year yields have blown out to 7.871%, and oil prices at $111/bbl Brent add imported inflation risk to a BSP already in a tight spot. On the positive side, share buybacks by SM, SMPH, PLUS, and URC provide a modest floor, and foreign accumulation in names like GLO, PGOLD, DMC, DHI, and ACEN signals selective quality-hunting.

MSCI rebalance watch (August 12, 2026): MYNLD is a top contender for index weight increase; RRHI faces deletion from the small-cap index due to planned delisting; APX is also being monitored for potential inclusions. These flows could drive outsized near-term moves in the respective names.

CORPORATE NEWS & ANALYSIS

AREIT Q1 Net Income +23.8% to ₱2.6B

AREIT, Inc. posted a 23.8% year-on-year increase in Q1 2026 net income, reaching ₱2.6 billion. The strong performance was driven by income contributions from eight commercial properties acquired in 2025 — reflecting management's portfolio-expansion strategy — combined with stable leasing activity across the existing portfolio. The company continues to demonstrate the resilience typical of REIT structures, with recurring rental income providing earnings visibility. This result reinforces AREIT's standing as a core income generator within the Philippine REIT space. The broader REIT sector remains a relative safe haven given the elevated rate environment, as long-term lease contracts insulate revenues from short-term macro volatility. Foreign funds sold AREIT on the session, creating a potential entry opportunity for medium-term investors. The technical chart shows AREIT trading below the 0.382 Fibonacci level (₱42.45), currently at ~₱40.35, testing the base of the correction range.

DAMS View: Q1 beat supports the dividend thesis. With AREIT below Fibonacci 0.382 (₱42.45), current levels represent a technically oversold entry zone backed by improving fundamentals. The 23.8% net income growth gives management headroom to sustain or grow distributions. Watch the ₱40.55 base level as key floor. A recovery to ₱42.45–₱43.05 is a realistic 3–6 month target. Income-focused accounts should use any weakness to build positions ahead of the next dividend announcement.

GLO PHP 56B AI-Driven Capex; Enterprise Re-rating Catalyst

Globe Telecom's ₱56 billion AI-driven capital expenditure programme is emerging as one of the most compelling domestic re-rating stories of 2026. The company is aggressively building out enterprise cloud infrastructure and data center capacity to serve the growing demand from AI applications, BPO digitalization, and corporate digital transformation. Volume spiked notably on May 15, signaling institutional accumulation ahead of anticipated 1H26 results. Additionally, GCash — Globe's fintech arm — recently doubled its profit contribution to ₱1.9 billion, underscoring the breadth of the group's digital revenue streams beyond traditional telco. Globe closed at ₱1,804.00, confirming overbought RSI, which may create short-term consolidation before the next re-rating leg.

DAMS View: GLO is a structural BUY on the AI infrastructure buildout theme. The ₱56B capex translates directly to capacity additions that command premium enterprise pricing. GCash doubling its profit contribution adds a high-multiple digital asset to the valuation. Near-term RSI overbought condition may see some consolidation — use pullbacks as accumulation opportunities. Catalysts: 1H26 results (expected July), GCash monetization updates, enterprise cloud revenue disclosure.

DD Hotel101-Madrid Hits 100% Occupancy; Record Single-Day Revenue

DoubleDragon Corp. reported that its Nasdaq-listed subsidiary Hotel101 Global achieved a historic milestone on May 19: the 680-room Hotel101-Madrid registered 100% occupancy and generated a record single-day revenue exceeding €100,000 (approximately ₱7.18 million). Since its March 2026 opening, the property has accumulated over 45,000 hotel-night bookings totaling approximately €5.44 million (₱387 million) in revenue, with over 80% of guests originating from Europe, North America, and Latin America. Hotel101-Madrid is the company's first international property and serves as the prototype for its global rollout. The hotel is also the Official Partner of the Formula 1 Spanish Grand Prix 2026–2035. DD targets 2,229 new rooms across Madrid, Davao, Cebu, and Niseko (Japan) in 2026, potentially its largest expansion year on record.

DAMS View: The 100% occupancy and record single-day revenue validate the asset-light Hotel101 model's viability in a premium European market. The F1 partnership provides multi-year marketing leverage with global visibility. The upcoming Hotel101-Niseko opening in December will add JPY-denominated recurring revenues. However, high capital requirements and execution risk across multiple geographies warrant monitoring. With DD shares flat at ₱9.78, the current price may not fully reflect the global hospitality optionality embedded in Hotel101 Global's Nasdaq listing.

CEB Manila–Dubai Route to Resume July 2, 2026

Cebu Pacific (CEB) announced on May 19 the resumption of its Manila–Dubai–Manila flights effective July 2, 2026, following safety assessments and coordination with Dubai airport authorities. The carrier will initially operate four weekly frequencies (Tuesday, Thursday, Saturday, Sunday) under Flight 5J 14/15. The route had been suspended since early 2026 due to elevated security concerns stemming from the US-Iran conflict and associated Middle East airspace risks. CEB also confirmed continued four-weekly operations on the Manila-Riyadh route. The resumption is significant for the approximately 700,000 Filipinos working in the UAE, as CEB is the primary low-cost option on the corridor. Affected passengers may rebook via the airline's Manage Booking portal.

DAMS View: The route resumption is operationally positive and restores an important OFW corridor revenue stream. However, oil prices surging to $111/bbl Brent represent a structural margin headwind for an unhedged low-cost carrier. CEB appears in the foreign selling list for the session, indicating continued institutional caution. The key near-term catalyst is route normalisation paired with oil price stabilisation. Investors should note the airline's ongoing cost pressures before aggressively building positions.

TOP Top Line Plans Cebu Energy Complex — 4x Storage Expansion

Top Line Business Development Corp. (TOP) announced a sublease agreement with the Lu Do & LuYm Group for an approximately 30-million-liter fuel depot facility in Cebu City — the first phase of the planned "Top Line Energy Complex." The transaction will quadruple TOP's current storage capacity from 10 million liters to up to 40 million liters, with the initial phase targeting completion by Q4 2026. The company is simultaneously seeking to raise up to ₱1.5 billion through perpetual preferred shares to fund the ₱500M–₱1B total capex envelope. The expansion is designed to bolster Visayas fuel supply security, a region undersupplied relative to demand growth. TOP operates the Light Fuels service station brand and listed at a ₱732.6 million IPO in 2025. However, TOP appears in the foreign fund selling list, a potential negative signal.

DAMS View: The storage expansion is strategically sound — larger depot capacity improves logistics leverage and positions TOP for commercial client growth in Cebu and surrounding provinces. Oil price elevation at $104-111/bbl represents a double-edged sword: higher inventory values but cost pressures for end users. The preferred share issuance should be monitored for dilution impact. Near-term foreign selling pressure warrants caution. Longer-term, a successfully operationalised Energy Complex could be a significant earnings driver.

MRT-3 / LOGISTICS 74 Firms Express Interest in MRT-3 PPP Concession

The Department of Transportation (DoTr) revealed that 74 local and foreign firms from 14 countries participated in market consultations held May 14–18 for the MRT-3 Capacity Expansion, Operations and Maintenance (CEOM) PPP project. Acting Secretary Giovanni Lopez said the strong turnout reflects growing private sector confidence in Philippine infrastructure projects. The MRT-3 historically handles up to 630,000 daily riders and is Metro Manila's busiest rail corridor. Under the PPP structure, the winning bidder will operate the line uninterrupted, deploy Dalian trains, procure additional rolling stock, and upgrade signaling and power systems. Target timeline: EDC approval by August–September 2026, bidding launch October 2026, contract award June–July 2027, and handover October 2027.

DAMS View: The high interest level validates the project's commercial viability and reinforces the government's infrastructure pipeline credibility. Listed beneficiaries include MWIDE (infrastructure construction), DMC (construction materials), and potentially GTCAP and COSCO (diversified infrastructure plays). The solicited bidding process — preferred over unsolicited — should attract strong bids and competitive terms. Watch for formal TOR issuance as the next major catalyst. Longer-term, successful MRT-3 modernisation would reduce pressure on Edsa road traffic and benefit the broader corridor economy.

SSI Q1 Net Income Drops 59% Despite 11.4% Revenue Growth

SSI Group, Inc. — the Tantoco-led operator of over 550 stores across 90+ international luxury and lifestyle brands including Hermès, Cartier, Zara, and Shake Shack — reported a 58.49% decline in Q1 2026 attributable net income to ₱152.9 million, down from ₱368.4 million a year earlier. Revenue rose 11.4% to ₱7.64 billion, but profitability was severely squeezed as merchandise gross margin fell to 42.6% from 44.6%, operating expenses rose 15.8%, and EBITDA declined 18.4%. The promotional retail environment and consumer shift toward essentials weighed on margins. SSI permanently closed 14 stores in Q1 to rationalise its cost base. Analysts note the company has been navigating leadership challenges following the passing of its founding matriarch.

DAMS View: Revenue growth without earnings growth is a warning signal. The combination of margin compression, rising opex, store closures, and consumer downtrading paints a challenging near-term picture for the luxury retail segment. At ₱2.34/share, SSI trades at a significant discount to its 52-week high of ₱3.50 but technical indicators flash a strong sell. Until management can demonstrate margin stabilisation and revenue-to-income flow-through, the risk-reward does not favour accumulation.

 AVOID

CPG Q1 Profit Slips 6% on Higher Interest Expense; EBITDA +5%

Century Properties Group, Inc. reported a 6% decline in Q1 2026 net income after tax to ₱446 million from ₱473 million in the prior year, as higher interest expense and taxes partly offset a 5% improvement in EBITDA to ₱1.04 billion. Gross profit margin improved to 48% from 46%, reflecting disciplined cost management. Consolidated revenues dipped 3.8% to ₱3.58 billion, with the PHirst affordable housing segment contributing 68% of total revenues at ₱2.48 billion. Net debt-to-equity stood stable at 0.9x. Shares held steady at ₱0.66 on Tuesday, marginally outperforming the broader index on the session.

DAMS View: CPG's EBITDA improvement and gross margin expansion are positive operational signals even as net income declined due to financial line items. The PHirst segment's dominance indicates CPG's pivot to affordable housing is gaining traction — a segment with structural demand support. The 0.9x net debt-to-equity is manageable but bears watching given the elevated rate environment. At ₱0.66, CPG trades at a significant discount to book (P/E ~3x vs. market 8x). A margin-of-safety play for patient, longer-duration capital.

AC / ALI / BPI Ayala Group Under Pressure — Institutional Sell-Off, MSCI Watch

Ayala Corp. (AC) fell 2.56% to ₱418.00, Ayala Land (ALI) dropped 2.50% to ₱14.82, and BPI declined 1.23% to ₱88.20 as broad institutional selling weighed on the group. The confluence of property sector oversupply, elevated interest rates, inflation, and geopolitical risk has triggered foreign deleveraging of Ayala positions. ALI and AC both appear on the foreign selling list. Technically, ALI is at a 52-week low while AC approaches oversold RSI territory. On the MSCI front: the August 12, 2026 rebalance could see MYNLD (Maynilad Water) added to the index given its strong post-IPO performance, and RRHI removed from the small-cap index due to its delisting plan. APX is also monitored as a potential addition.

DAMS View: The Ayala Group's derating reflects a confluence of sector-specific and macro factors that may not quickly resolve. ALI at a 52-week low with RSI approaching oversold could attract contrarian value investors, but structural headwinds — high leverage, subdued property demand — suggest waiting for clearer earnings stabilisation signals. MSCI event risk (RRHI deletion, MYNLD addition) creates tactical positioning opportunities. Avoid AC and ALI until rate environment clarity improves. BPI's banking franchise is more defensible but subject to NIM compression risk.

 AVOIDACEN Q1 Net Income +50% to ₱2.9B; 57% GEOP Market Share

ACEN Corp. reported a 50% jump in Q1 2026 headline net income to ₱2.9 billion, powered by a ₱1.75 billion recovery from a "Change in Circumstance" claim on a fixed-price Meralco contract and a ₱1.4 billion gain from consolidating its UPC joint venture in India. Stripping out these one-off items (totaling ~₱1.5 billion net impact), underlying recurring earnings remain solid. ACEN continues to dominate the Green Energy Option Program (GEOP) with a 57% market share — sustained for three consecutive years — underpinning its position as the Philippines' leading renewable energy developer. ACEN was among stocks bought by foreign funds during the session.

DAMS View: The 50% profit jump is partially distorted by non-recurring gains. Investors should focus on the underlying recurring GEOP business and project pipeline as the valuation anchor. The foreign buying on Tuesday is a constructive signal. ACEN's structural positioning in renewables aligns with the long-term shift toward green energy infrastructure. Risks include project execution delays and interest rate sensitivity on project financing. At ₱3.15, ACEN presents a compelling risk-reward for accounts with a 12–18 month horizon.

 ACCUMULATESMC Q1 Revenue +31% to ₱428B; Net Income -48% on FX and Base Effect

San Miguel Corp. posted Q1 2026 revenues of ₱428.3 billion, up 31% year-on-year, with operating income rising to ₱59.6 billion. Net income, however, fell 48% to ₱22.5 billion, primarily due to a ₱21.9 billion one-off asset sale gain recorded in Q1 2025 (creating a high base) combined with significant foreign exchange losses in 2026 given peso weakness. Stripping out the base effect, underlying operational performance appears robust, particularly in the food and beverage segments. SMC trades at ₱70.00.

DAMS View: SMC's revenue trajectory is strong, but the net income decline headlines will create noise. Savvy investors should focus on EBIT momentum (+31% revenue growth implies strong operating leverage) and note the FX losses as partially cyclical in nature. The peso weakness at ₱61.75 is a structural headwind for SMC's USD-denominated obligations. Watch for Q2 2026 results to normalise the base effect. SMC's diversified conglomerate structure provides earnings resilience. Hold current positions; new money should wait for the FX headwind to abate.

PGOLD Q1 Net Income Beat +23.7%; Consumer Value Resilience

Puregold Price Club, Inc. (PGOLD) continued its track record of earnings beats with Q1 2026 net income growth of 23.7%, driven by the sustained "value retail" consumer narrative as inflation-weary shoppers shift toward affordable grocery formats. PGOLD closed at ₱48.20, appearing on the 52-week high list and in overbought RSI territory (>70), reflecting the market's recognition of this defensive quality. PGOLD was bought by foreign funds during the session. As a PSEi Dividend Yield Index constituent, PGOLD benefits from dual streams of price appreciation and dividend income.

DAMS View: PGOLD is among the most compelling defensive plays in the current environment. Consumer value spending is a durable theme as long as wage growth lags inflation — a likely scenario through 2026. The 23.7% earnings beat versus consensus provides a re-rating catalyst. Overbought RSI at >70 suggests near-term consolidation risk, but pullbacks should be viewed as accumulation opportunities. Price target: ₱52–₱55 over 6–12 months. DivY anchor for income-oriented accounts.

MEG / MER / DMC Property, Utilities, and Conglomerates — Mixed Signals

Megaworld (MEG, ₱2.08) added 51,000 sqm of GLA across three regional expansions (Northwin Global Tower 1 in Bulacan, No.5 Upper East Avenue in Bacolod, Davao BPO capacity) as it executes its township strategy targeting IT-BPO and multinational tenants. MEG remains in the foreign selling list. Meralco (MER, ₱616.00) closed softer but remains a core defensive utility play with rising power demand driven by AI infrastructure buildout — a secular tailwind. MER is on the SmartWatch list as a DivY anchor. DMCI Holdings (DMC, ₱9.68) was bought by foreign funds on the session, reflecting the market's appreciation of its diversified earnings mix (construction, mining, power, real estate, water). DMC's "diversified defensiveness" makes it a resilient hold through the current volatility.

DAMS View: MEG faces near-term headwinds from the property sector derating but its BPO-anchored office portfolio provides more stable cash flows than residential peers. ACCUMULATE on weakness. MER is a core defensive hold — rising AI data center demand is a multi-year demand driver that the market is beginning to price in. DMC's foreign buying is a strong positive signal; the diversified conglomerate model is precisely what institutional accounts seek in high-volatility environments. HOLD/ACCUMULATE DMC and MER; MONITOR MEG pending property sector clarity.

REAL ESTATE CDO Developers Push Retail Growth — Uptown Cagayan de Oro

Developers active in Cagayan de Oro are pushing ahead with retail-led township growth in the Uptown district, reflecting the broader provincial urbanization trend that continues to support outside-Metro Manila demand. While specific company disclosures are limited, the activity signals developer confidence in Tier-2 city retail demand — relevant for MEG (township developments), RLC (Robinsons malls), and SM (SM malls in CDO). The Tier-2 city expansion thesis remains intact as consumer spending continues to rebalance toward the provinces.

DAMS View: Tier-2 city retail development remains one of the more stable corners of Philippine real estate, driven by growing OFW remittances and rising middle-class income in provincial centers. This structural trend supports RLC's retail portfolio expansion and SM's provincial mall strategy. Investors with exposure to MEG, RLC, or SMPH should note provincial retail metrics as a positive offset to the Metro Manila property oversupply narrative.
