Foreign funds were net sellers of Philippine equities on May 22 for USD 2.791M. The broader May month-to-date selling total reached USD 262.591M; YTD net outflow stands at USD 82.166M. Buying was notably concentrated in banks (CBC, MBT, EW), defensive consumer names (EMI, MONDE), infrastructure/logistics (ICT, RLC, ROCK), REITs (AREIT, MREIT, RCR), and energy/power (ACEN, AP, SCC). Selling was heaviest in financials (BDO, BPI), energy (FGEN, MER, MWC, PCOR), property (ALI, MEG, SMPH), telcos (GLO, TEL), and gaming (WEB). Share buybacks: SMPH, SM, FRUITS.

GLOBAL MARKETS COMMENTARY

Wall Street enters the week on strong footing, with the S&P 500 set for its eighth consecutive weekly gain — the longest winning streak since 2023. The dual engines of unrelenting AI enthusiasm and growing optimism over a US-Iran peace deal are the key market drivers. President Trump confirmed on Friday that an Iran agreement has been 'largely negotiated' and that he plans to announce an accord shortly that would reopen the Strait of Hormuz. This diplomatic pivot has triggered a sharp pullback in WTI crude (USD 96.60/bbl) even as Brent firmed slightly to USD 103.54 — a WTI-Brent spread divergence reflecting near-term strategic petroleum reserve positioning and supply routing expectations.

Across Asia, Japan led gains again — the Nikkei surging 2.68% to 63,339 — as the AI cycle enthusiasm from Nvidia's earnings ripples across SoftBank-linked names and the broader semiconductor supply chain. Taiwan (+2.17%) similarly benefited. Notable underperformers were Indonesia's JCI (-2.47%) and Vietnam's VN-Index (-1.89%), suggesting selective ASEAN risk-off amid Middle East supply uncertainty and the Barclays FX reserve depletion warning. Barclays flagged that Asia's FX reserves could fall by USD 670 billion if the dollar strengthens to September 2022 highs and oil stays elevated — the Philippine peso, Indian rupee, Indonesian rupiah, and Malaysian ringgit are the most exposed currencies.

A pivotal macro shift has also arrived at the US Federal Reserve. Kevin Warsh was sworn in as the 17th Fed Chair, with President Trump publicly telling him to be 'totally independent.' Markets interpreted the leadership change as broadly neutral for near-term rate policy — no imminent cut and no hike on the immediate table — though Warsh's known hawkish instincts introduce longer-term uncertainty for rate-sensitive assets including EM fixed income and REIT sectors.

In China, the securities regulator CSRC moved to impose fines and confiscate gains from Tiger Brokers, Futu, and Longbridge for illegal cross-border business activities — a governance signal that reinforces Beijing's continued tightening of offshore trading platforms. Separately, a coal mine explosion in China killed 90 people in the deadliest blast since 2009 — a near-term shock to Chinese domestic coal production sentiment.

PHILIPPINES MACRO WATCH

The BSP has formally shifted to a hawkish policy stance as of May 25, 2026, signaling aggressive interest rate hikes to combat surging inflation. This is a structural pivot from the earlier rate-easing cycle and represents the most significant domestic macro development of the week. Oxford Economics had earlier flagged that the BSP may tighten in Q3 2026 if crude reaches USD 100/bbl; with the Iran-peace deal potentially stabilising oil, the BSP's proactive move suggests domestic inflation dynamics — driven by energy import costs and food prices — have already breached the central bank's comfort level independently of oil alone.

The Philippine Treasury is selling PHP 10 billion in 5.925% 2036 bonds and PHP 20 billion in 6.375% 2030 bonds on May 26. These auction yields are materially above BSP policy rate, reflecting term premium compression in anticipation of hikes.

Analysts at local brokerages expect T-bill and bond rates to climb further on BSP rate hike bets — watch the May 26 auction for a barometer of institutional appetite and yield direction. Rising domestic yields create a headwind for equities broadly but are a relative positive for banks (expanded NIM) and defensive dividend names.

The peso held near 61.695/USD on May 22 — marginal improvement from 61.717 — as the Iran deal narrative took partial pressure off oil-import-driven depreciation risk. The USD-PHP pair is rangebound as markets await a Middle East breakthrough. Barclays' warning of potential reserve depletion underscores the structural vulnerability. A confirmed Iran deal and sustained crude correction would be the strongest possible catalyst for PHP stabilisation.

CORPORATE UPDATES

[ICT] ICTSI Shares Rise as Expansion Preparations Advance, Sector Outlook Improves

Shares of International Container Terminal Services, Inc. (ICTSI) rose last week, gaining 1.3% to PHP 815.50 from PHP 805, driven by the afterglow of the company's USD 300 million AIIB loan signing and improving sentiment toward the services sector. ICTSI was the most actively traded stock for the week, with 5.88 million shares worth PHP 4.74 billion changing hands. Year-to-date, the stock is up 43.8% from PHP 567 at year-end 2025, well outpacing the services sector's 27.2% gain and the PSEi's 1.5% decline. Analysts at Timson Securities noted the AIIB loan boosted investor confidence materially. A separate analyst upgrade set a target price of PHP 940, citing Q1 2026 recurring net income rising 29% year-on-year to USD 308 million, gross revenues up 29% to USD 961 million, and throughput growing 18% to 4.08 million TEUs. EBITDA margin stood at 64%, with revenue yield improving to USD 235 per TEU from USD 215 in FY2025.

Analysis: ICT's combination of strong Q1 execution, AIIB financing, and a third-party upgrade to PHP 940 makes it one of the highest-conviction names in the index. The 'pause and consolidate' call from Timson is technically prudent — support is at PHP 787–800 with resistance at PHP 850–866 — but the structural story is intact. Foreign funds were net buyers again on May 22. The 52-week high flag and RSI overbought reading argue for scaling into dips rather than chasing momentum. A confirmed Iran deal would ease global logistics costs and support ICTSI's volume throughput expectations.

[MWIDE] Megawide Unit PH1 World Tops Off Second One Lancaster Park Tower in Cavite

PH1 World Developers, Inc., the property arm of Megawide Construction Corp. (MWIDE), announced that its One Lancaster Park Tower 2 project in Imus, Cavite has achieved structural topping-off — the second tower in the development to reach this milestone in 2026. The topping-off came less than three months after Tower 1 completed its structure, reflecting PH1 World's accelerated construction execution. The 15-tower masterplan along Advincula Avenue remains on track, with Tower 1 and Tower 2 completions expected in H1 2026 and Tower 1 of Avesta Residences in Imus targeted by September. PH1 World posted PHP 1.53 billion in gross sales in Q1 2026 — nearly double the PHP 777 million recorded in Q1 2025. Full-year 2025 sales revenue of PHP 2.35 billion represented a 360% surge from PHP 711 million in 2024, and net income reached PHP 287 million, reversing the prior year's loss.

Analysis: PH1 World's sequential topping-off milestones within a single quarter signal exceptional project execution and are a key proof point for the Megawide-to-property transition narrative. Q1 gross sales nearly doubling year-on-year provides earnings visibility for MWIDE's residential segment. With a construction order book of PHP 48.7 billion and deleveraging on track (bank D/E at 1.1x), MWIDE is firing on multiple cylinders. The property contribution adds meaningful diversification to the earnings base. Accumulate MWIDE.

[RCR] RL Commercial REIT Eyes Mall Asset Infusions as Retail Portfolio Expands

RL Commercial REIT, Inc. (RCR), the REIT vehicle of Robinsons Land Corp. (RLC), disclosed that mall assets are its primary focus for near-term portfolio infusion, citing stronger revenue opportunities from retail properties as consumer traffic improves. RCR director and treasurer Kerwin Max Tan confirmed the company and its fund manager have identified a list of assets for infusion in two batches this year — both likely to be mall properties. RCR's portfolio already expanded to 38 assets by end-2025 following the infusion of nine mall assets from RLC through a tax-free property-for-share swap, bringing gross leasable area to 1.15 million square meters — 2.7

times its size at listing. Foreign funds were net buyers of RCR on May 22.

Analysis: The pipeline of two infusion batches in 2026 is a strong catalyst for RCR's distribution per unit and net asset value growth. Mall traffic recovery aligns with consumer spending resilience supported by OFW remittance inflows (+2.8% in Q1). RCR's current price at PHP 6.92 implies a yield that competes favorably with rising bond rates — making it a critical monitoring decision for income investors given the BSP's new hawkish signal. For now, REITs with strong sponsor infusion pipelines (RCR, MREIT) remain preferred over those with static portfolios.

● Stance: ACCUMULATE | RCR — Mall infusion pipeline + consumer traffic recovery; income play at PHP 6.92

[2GO / SMPH] 2GO Tapped as Logistics Partner for SMX Convention Center

2GO Group, Inc. has entered into a logistics partnership with the SMX Convention Center, the MICE venue arm of the SM Group operated through SM Hotels and Conventions Corp. Under the arrangement, 2GO's integrated logistics and sea travel capabilities — including cargo movement, freight handling, transport solutions, and customs brokerage — will be embedded into SMX's service offerings for exhibitors, event organizers, and corporate clients across all SMX venues: Manila, Clark, Bacolod, Davao, SM Aura, and the newly opened SMX Seaside Cebu. 2GO COO and CFO Will Howell and SMPH's Walid Wafik signed the agreement at a ceremony confirming the strategic partnership. The collaboration expands 2GO's corporate logistics footprint into the high-value MICE events sector and aligns with the ongoing recovery in domestic business travel.

Analysis: This partnership is a business development positive for 2GO Group, tying it to the SM Group's expanding MICE infrastructure. SMPH at PHP 18.98 is stable (unchanged on the session) though under some foreign selling pressure. The 2GO deal signals SM Group's intent to vertically integrate logistics into its property and hospitality operations — a systematic deepening of the SMX ecosystem. SMPH was a foreign fund sell on May 22; monitor for re-entry below PHP 18.50. Buyback activity (SMPH is confirmed in the buyback list) provides technical support.

● Stance: MONITOR | SMPH — Buyback support; 2GO logistics tie-up positive for SMX MICE; watch for foreign flow reversal

[CEB] Cebu Air Takes Delivery of Second A320neo of 2026; Fleet Modernisation On Track

Cebu Air, Inc. (CEB) took delivery of a new Airbus A320neo, arriving in Manila from Airbus' Tianjin, China facility — the second of four A320neo aircraft expected for CEB this year, and the second of seven total NEO aircraft deliveries planned for 2026 under the airline's fleet modernisation program. CEB President and CCO Xander Lao said the aircraft reinforces the company's commitment to sustainability while keeping air travel accessible, and plays an important role in managing costs, improving operational efficiency, and reducing carbon footprint. The A320neo burns approximately 15% less fuel than its predecessor. Following Middle East-related network disruptions, CEB recently confirmed the resumption of Dubai flights four times weekly from July 2, signaling regional network recovery.

Analysis: Fleet modernisation deliveries are a critical operational signal for airlines facing elevated energy costs. Each A320neo delivery reduces fuel burn per available seat kilometre, directly supporting margin recovery in a high-jet-fuel-cost environment driven by Iran tensions. The Dubai route resumption signals gradual international network restoration. CEB at PHP 30.30 is foreign fund-bought on May 22 — a positive signal for the week. The stock is navigating a complex environment of energy cost pressures vs. demand recovery. Accumulate with a fuel-cost hedge thesis.

● Stance: ACCUMULATE | CEB — A320neo fuel efficiency hedge; Dubai resumption; foreign buying support

[TEL] PLDT-Smart Reports Blocking Nearly 1 Billion Scam Texts Amid Spoofing Surge

PLDT Inc.'s wireless subsidiary Smart Communications disclosed it intercepted approximately 995 million malicious text messages in Q1 2026, as part of its ongoing anti-fraud campaign targeting evolving spoofing tactics. The telco has escalated its defences against fake cell tower attacks — illegal devices that bypass network infrastructure to send messages appearing to come from legitimate sources. Smart's HuliScam anti-fraud portal has added location-tracking features to map fake tower operations. The company continues to coordinate with the National Telecommunications Commission (NTC) and the Cybercrime Investigation and Coordinating Center (CICC) for investigation and prosecution of perpetrators. The disclosure underscores both the scale of the digital fraud threat in the Philippines and PLDT-Smart's proactive investment in network security infrastructure.

Analysis: Nearly one billion blocked scam texts in a single quarter is a material operational achievement — and a strong commercial differentiator for Smart over its telco competitors. The anti-fraud capability is increasingly a brand value and subscriber retention driver in a competitive market. TEL at PHP 1,190 is foreign-fund-sold this session, with the stock technically in an oversold zone per earlier RSI data. The solarization + anti-fraud investment narrative positions TEL as a network quality and cost efficiency story. Monitor for entry on technical stabilisation; the fundamental improvement in the cost base and security infrastructure are positive longer-term catalysts.

● Stance: MONITOR | TEL — Anti-fraud leadership; solarization cost hedge; technically recovering — await RSI stabilisation

[SECTOR] Hospitality Pivots to Domestic MICE as Foreign Travel Slows

Philippine hospitality operators are increasingly pivoting toward domestic Meetings, Incentives, Conferences, and Exhibitions (MICE) business as inbound foreign travel continues to slow, driven by geopolitical uncertainty, elevated airfares, and the lingering effects of the Iran-linked Middle East conflict on long-haul travel. Hotel groups and venue operators have recalibrated their revenue mix toward corporate domestic clients and government events, partially offsetting the softness in leisure inbound arrivals. The trend benefits integrated resort and convention centre operators within the listed property and hospitality sector, including Bloomberry Resorts (BLOOM), SM Hotels via SMPH, and Megaworld's hotel portfolio under AGI. The 2GO-SMX partnership announced this week directly addresses logistics demand tied to domestic MICE growth.

Analysis: Domestic MICE as a replacement revenue stream is a meaningful structural adaptation for Philippine hospitality — and a specific positive for BLOOM, SMPH, and AGI (via Travellers International and hotel portfolio). Foreign fund flow has been buying BLOOM on May 22 (+2.22% on the session). The Iran de-escalation narrative — if confirmed — could restore inbound foreign travel later in 2026, creating a sequential recovery trade on top of domestic MICE stability. Watch BLOOM for a re-rating if Newport World Resorts gaming volumes stabilise and MICE revenue adds to the mix.

● Stance: ACCUMULATE | BLOOM — MICE pivot + Iran de-escalation recovery optionality; foreign bought
