Session covered: June 11, 2026

THE CALL Peace dividend meets a thin pre-holiday tape

The PSEi eased 31.30 pts (-0.52%) to 5,910.06 on June 11 in a thin pre-holiday session — yet foreign funds were NET BUYERS of ₱553.6M ($9.03M), the second straight session of conviction inflows, led by AC (+₱183.4M), ICT (+₱132.5M) and BPI (+₱33.1M). Then the world changed over the long weekend: the U.S. and Iran reached an interim deal to reopen the Strait of Hormuz, crashing oil ~4%+ (WTI back to $84.88) and igniting a global risk-on melt-up — KOSPI +8%, Nikkei to 66,020, and a record SpaceX debut (SPCX +19% to $161.11, >$2.1T valuation). Asia/US futures gapped higher while the PSE was closed for Independence Day. The setup into Monday's reopen is constructive: lower oil eases the inflation/BSP overhang, the peso has firmed to 60.79, and the PHL 10-year fell to 7.486%. Lean into oil-sensitive and rate-sensitive winners — AREIT and the REITs, ALI on deep value, CEB/airlines on cheaper fuel — while fading energy/oil names (SCC, OGP). Catalyst-rich week: BSP, BoJ, RBA, BI and Taiwan all meet on rates.

PSE figures per the June 11, 2026 DQR (authoritative). Global moves reflect the latest reads through the June 12–15 risk-on rally; PSE was closed June 12 for Independence Day.

The cross-asset narrative flipped from war-risk to peace-trade over the long weekend. The U.S. and Iran said they reached an interim agreement to reopen the Strait of Hormuz, with President Trump touting a virtual deal even as Tehran flagged unresolved points; risk assets ran regardless. Wall Street closed higher Friday on peace hopes and a blockbuster SpaceX listing — SPCX ended its first day +19.34% at $161.11, valuing the company above $2.1 trillion and instantly the largest IPO in history by capital raised (~$75B). Asia roared on the reopen, the KOSPI up more than 8% and the MSCI AC Asia Pacific Index ~3.5% with 80%+ of members advancing. Underlying it: strong U.S. growth keeps Treasury yields firm as investors rotate from bonds into equities. For the Philippines, the read is favorable — a falling oil price is the single most helpful macro variable for an oil-importing, inflation-sensitive market.

Commodities

Commodity	Prior	Latest	% Chg
WTI Crude ($/bbl)	93.52	84.88	-9.24%
Brent Crude ($/bbl)	93.10	87.33	-6.20%
Gold COMEX ($/oz)	4,054.70	4,238.80	+4.54%
Silver COMEX ($/oz)	62.39	67.97	+8.94%
Copper COMEX (¢/lb)	617.50	650.65	+5.37%
Nickel ($/MT)	17,679.83	17,718.95	+0.22%
Coal ($/MT)	150.95	148.95	-1.32%
Corn (¢/bu)	419.00	440.25	+5.07%
Wheat (¢/bu)	587.50	595.75	+1.40%
Cocoa ($/MT)	3,757.00	3,868.00	+2.95%
Sugar (¢/lb)	13.92	14.23	+2.23%

Oil is the story: WTI crashed ~9.2% to $84.88 and Brent ~6.2% to $87.33 as the Hormuz reopening removed the war-risk premium. Gold rebounded to $4,238.80 and silver to $67.97 — but that move now looks like a safe-haven unwind risk as peace firms up. Lower crude is unambiguously positive for PH inflation, the peso and the BSP's easing room, and pressures coal/oil realizations (SCC, PCOR) and gold proxies (OGP, APX) on any further de-escalation.

Fixed Income & Currencies

FX & Rates	Prior	Latest	% Chg
PHL 10yr Bond Yield (%)	7.542	7.486	-0.74%
US 10yr Bond Yield (%)	4.571	4.485	-1.88%
USD-PHP	61.417	60.794	-1.01%
USD-JPY	160.49	160.24	-0.16%
EUR-USD	1.1547	1.1568	+0.18%

The peace trade pulled yields and the peso the right way: USD-PHP firmed to 60.794 (peso +1.0%), the PHL 10-year fell to 7.486% and the U.S. 10-year to 4.485%. A lower domestic yield is the direct re-rating lever for REITs and property — precisely the names that have been most discounted. Note the BSP rate meeting this week sits alongside BoJ, RBA, Bank Indonesia and Taiwan.

Philippines — Market Strategy

The June 11 close (5,910.06, -0.52%) understates the setup. Breadth was actually positive (75 advances vs 99 declines, 59 unchanged) and the decline was driven by a few heavyweights — Financials -1.38% (MBT, BDO) and Property -1.03% (ALI). The constructive signal is the foreign bid: net buying of ₱553.6M (₱3.936B bought vs ₱3.382B sold), the second straight day of inflows, concentrated in AC, ICT, BPI, CNPF and the index anchors. Block-sale value was heavy at ₱1.13B, led by RLC (₱284.8M), BDO (₱266.9M) and BPI (₱210.0M). Month-to-date foreign selling remains at $407.99M and YTD net selling at $227.56M, so two days of inflows do not end the trend — but they front-run the peace-trade and the oil collapse.

Positioning into Monday's reopen: with oil down hard, the peso firmer and yields lower, favor the rate- and oil-sensitive winners — AREIT and the REIT complex, ALI on deep value, and aviation (CEB, PAL) on cheaper fuel into a strong Q2 travel season. Fade the energy beneficiaries of high oil (SCC, OGP) and treat any gold-name strength (APX, OGP) as a fade if peace holds. Active buybacks (AGI, SMPH, OPM, URC, PLUS, SMC) cushion downside in those names.

SMC / MPI ₱67.50 / — WATCH

Pangilinan Says MPTC–San Miguel Tollway Merger Likely in Q3, SMC to Hold 55%

MPTC chairman Manuel V. Pangilinan said the long-running merger of Metro Pacific Tollways and San Miguel's tollway business is now in the valuation stage and likely to close in the third quarter, with the ownership split landing 45:55 in San Miguel's favor. The combined entity would be the country's dominant tollway operator, uniting NLEX, SCTEX, CALAX, CAVITEX, CCLEX and the NLEX Connector with SMC's Skyway, TPLEX, STAR and NAIAX networks. Critically, the deal now covers Philippine assets only — MPTC's Indonesian operations are excluded from the valuation.

For SMC, majority control of a national tollway monopoly is a meaningful infrastructure-earnings consolidation; for the MPIC/MPI complex, it crystallizes value and simplifies the balance sheet after a deleveraging push. SMC closed at ₱67.50 (+0.30%) on thin ₱2.4M turnover.

View — A landmark consolidation that, once signed, re-rates the infrastructure earnings of both groups. Watch the valuation outcome and any minority-protection terms; the 45:55 split is the number to confirm. Constructive on SMC for the toll-asset accretion; MPI/MPIC a value-realization monitor.

MONITOR — MERGER WATCH SMC majority of a tollway monopoly; valuation/terms the swing factor. Constructive on SMC, MPI value-unlock monitor.

AC ₱386.00 +? (largest inflow)

JCR Reaffirms Ayala Corp.'s A- Issuer Rating; Foreigners Pile In ₱183.4M

Japan Credit Rating Agency reaffirmed Ayala Corp.'s A- foreign-currency long-term issuer rating with a stable outlook, citing the conglomerate's diversified portfolio across banking, property, telecoms and renewables, strong cash-flow generation and prudent balance-sheet management. Ayala said the rating preserves access to attractively priced Samurai (yen) hedged loans amid market uncertainty. On the tape, AC drew the single largest foreign net buy of the session at ₱183.4M, closing ₱386.00.

The rating reaffirmation is a quiet but important signal: in a risk-off-then-risk-on whipsaw, foreign capital rotated into the highest-quality, investment-grade Philippine holdco. AC is the cleanest defensive conglomerate vehicle and a direct beneficiary of lower yields (its banking and property arms) and the peace-trade.

View — Quality-flight winner. The A- reaffirmation plus the biggest foreign inflow of the day makes AC our preferred large-cap holdco for the current regime. Accumulate.

ACCUMULATE Investment-grade reaffirmed; largest foreign inflow; cleanest defensive holdco. Accumulate.

TEL ₱1,083.00 -?

PLDT Frames Partnerships as the Future of Telco — Ecosystem Pivot Beyond Connectivity

PLDT said partnerships and strategic alliances will increasingly define the sector as operators expand beyond connectivity into AI, cloud, cybersecurity and digital platforms — "no single player can build everything alone anymore." Chairman Manuel V. Pangilinan signaled interest in participating in the BCDA's planned AI-native industrial hub. The messaging follows recent share pressure tied to potential new foreign telco entrants and the VITRO data-center REIT plan. TEL closed ₱1,083 with only ₱1.8M of foreign net selling — far lighter than the prior session's heavy outflow.

The ecosystem narrative is strategically sound and dovetails with the data-center/AI capex theme, but it is a multi-year story against a near-term competitive and debt overhang. The much-reduced foreign selling suggests the worst of the de-rating pressure may be easing.

View — The selling pressure is abating and the AI/partnership story gives a re-rating path, but we still want a confirmed base above ₱1,080–1,100 and clarity on the VITRO REIT and Maya IPO before adding. Monitor.

MONITOR Ecosystem/AI story intact; selling pressure easing but debt + competition overhang. Await base.

ACEN ₱3.23 +?

ACEN Injects ₱1.15B into Giga Ace 8 for 300-MWp Palauig Solar 2 (₱16B Project)

ACEN is investing about ₱1.15B in subsidiary Giga Ace 8 via common and preferred-share subscriptions to fund the 300.011-MWp (237-MW AC) Palauig Solar 2 project in Zambales — set to be its second-largest solar facility, with an estimated total cost near ₱16B including a 1,200-MW transmission line and an expansion path toward 420 MWp plus a 1,325-MWh battery system. The project should generate 450+ GWh of clean energy annually. ACEN added ₱0.03 to ₱3.23 on light foreign buying.

A textbook capacity build-out from the Ayala renewables arm, which already runs ~1,500 MW of operating/under-construction solar locally and 7,000 MW group-wide. The BESS component directly addresses solar intermittency — a structural plus for merchant economics and grid-services revenue.

View — Disciplined, accretive renewables expansion that compounds ACEN's pipeline. With oil down and the energy-transition story intact, we stay constructive; accumulate on weakness toward ₱3.10–3.15.

ACCUMULATE Second-largest solar build + BESS; pipeline compounding. Accumulate on weakness.

AEV ₱31.50 +?

PCC Clears BlackRock/GIP's ₱13.71B for 40% of Aboitiz InfraCapital

The Philippine Competition Commission cleared Global Infrastructure Partners (a BlackRock unit) to take a 40% stake in Aboitiz InfraCapital (AIC) for about ₱13.71B — ₱4.65B infused into AIC, the balance paid to AEV — satisfying a key closing condition (SEC capital-increase approval still pending). AIC holds airports, bulk water and telecom towers. AEV closed ₱31.50.

This is the marquee proof point of AEV's "techglomerate" pivot: bringing a world-class institutional infrastructure investor into AIC validates the platform, injects growth capital, and surfaces value while AEV retains 60% control. The cash to AEV also strengthens the parent's flexibility.

View — A strategically and financially positive transaction that de-risks AIC's growth funding and brings global expertise. Constructive on AEV as the value crystallizes; accumulate.

ACCUMULATE BlackRock/GIP validation + growth capital + value-unlock; AEV keeps control. Accumulate.

DD ₱11.90 +0.51%

Hotel101-Madrid Hits 100% Occupancy in Month Three; ₱141M Recurring Revenue in 30 Days

DoubleDragon said its 680-room Hotel101-Madrid — the global prototype for its Nasdaq-listed Hotel101 (HBNB) arm — reached full occupancy on June 10, its third month open, generating over $2.3M (~₱141M) in recurring room revenue in the prior 30 days with single-day revenue topping $100,000. Management says the "cookie-cutter" model is now calibrated for hyperscale toward a 1-million-room/100-country target. DD plans 2,229 new rooms in 2026 (Davao, Cebu, Niseko) and targets a debt-free balance sheet with ₱12B+ annual dividends by 2035. DD rose 0.51% to ₱11.90 with ₱3.65M of foreign buying.

The Madrid proof-of-concept is the linchpin of the global rollout thesis: a standardized, high-occupancy, capital-light condotel model that, if replicable, transforms DD from a domestic developer into a global hospitality platform. Recurring-revenue traction is the key metric to track.

View — The international validation is real and the foreign bid is following. We stay constructive on DD as a high-optionality growth name; accumulate, sizing for the execution risk inherent in a global build-out.

ACCUMULATE Global prototype validated, recurring revenue scaling, debt-free vision. Accumulate (size for risk).

DITO ₱0.71 +?

DITO Guides FY Revenue to ₱24–27B (+20%); Targets 20M+ Subscribers

DITO Telecommunity expects FY2026 revenue to grow more than 20% to as much as ₱27B (₱24–27B range) on continued subscriber growth, targeting 20M+ subscribers from 17M today including fixed-wireless users, even as management acknowledged softer demand amid global uncertainty and inflation. Parent DITO CME earlier flagged plans to convert ~₱21.8B of shareholder advances into equity across 2026–2027 and is weighing a follow-on/stock-rights offering to fund expansion. DITO closed ₱0.71 with ₱6.4M of foreign net buying.

Top-line momentum and the third-telco scale story remain intact, but the capital structure is the swing factor: the advance-to-equity conversion and any equity raise are dilutive mechanics that the market must digest against the revenue ramp. The foreign buy is a modest vote of confidence.

View — Revenue trajectory is encouraging but the funding/dilution overhang keeps this speculative. Monitor; suitable only for risk-tolerant positions ahead of the conversion and any rights offer.

MONITOR — SPECULATIVE 20%+ revenue growth vs dilution overhang from ₱21.8B conversion + possible raise. Speculative.

PAL ₱3.00 +?

Fitch Assigns PAL a First-Time BB Rating, Stable Outlook — Aviation Tailwind into Q2

Fitch assigned PAL Holdings a BB rating with a stable outlook, a constructive first-time credit mark for the flag carrier. The rating lands alongside a sector read that airlines should benefit from strong Q2 travel demand — and, critically, from the sharp drop in jet-fuel-linked crude prices following the Hormuz peace deal. PAL closed ₱3.00.

Lower oil is the most direct earnings lever for airlines, where fuel is the largest single cost line. A BB rating plus a ~9% crude drop plus peak travel season is a rare alignment of credit, macro and demand tailwinds for both PAL and CEB.

View — The fuel-cost collapse is the swing factor. We turn constructive on the aviation complex (PAL, CEB) on the oil move and travel demand; CEB is the more liquid, tradeable proxy. Accumulate the theme.

ACCUMULATE — SECTOR BB rating + oil crash + peak travel demand align for airlines. Accumulate the aviation theme (CEB/PAL).

RLC ₱16.30 +?

Robinsons Land Cites High Occupancy and Tenant Demand; ₱284.8M Block Crosses

Robinsons Land pointed to sustained high occupancy and resilient tenant demand across its portfolio, reinforcing the landlord-recovery read also seen in the broader "Makati still top flex-office hub" theme. RLC closed ₱16.30 (+1.12%) with ₱1.89M of foreign net buying — and a notable ₱284.8M block (17.6M shares at ₱16.18) crossed, the largest block of the session.

The combination of operational strength (occupancy/leasing) and a falling 10-year yield is a double tailwind for the REIT/landlord complex. The large block suggests institutional repositioning into the name at depressed levels.

View — Lower rates plus solid leasing make discounted landlords attractive. RLC is a constructive way to play the property recovery alongside AREIT; accumulate.

ACCUMULATE High occupancy + falling yields + large institutional block. Accumulate.

PROP PSECTOR —

Developers Seen Lifting Spending on Building Upgrades; Office Demand Firms

Industry coverage points to developers increasing spending on building upgrades amid firming office and flex-space demand, consistent with the recent "Makati top flexible-office hub" read and Manila's APAC-leading flex-demand growth. The principal listed beneficiaries are the prime-CBD landlords and office REITs: ALI, AREIT, RLC and SMPH.

Upgrade capex plus flex-demand growth is a slow-burn fundamental positive that disproportionately rewards owners of prime, well-located inventory — precisely the names trading at multi-year-low multiples. Combined with lower yields, the risk/reward in quality property is improving.

View — Supporting evidence for the property-recovery thesis rather than a standalone trade. Reinforces our constructive stance on ALI (deep value) and AREIT (standing accumulate).

SECTOR MONITOR — POSITIVE Upgrade capex + flex demand favors prime landlords; reinforces ALI/AREIT. Positive bias.
