ACTIONABLE HIGHLIGHTS — THE CALL

DRIVER	Oil shock resets the global risk premium Renewed U.S.–Iran strikes pushed WTI to $91.80 and Brent to $96.37. U.S. equities sold off, the U.S. 10-year rose to 4.814%, and the peso weakened to ₱62.521. Energy inflation and a less accommodative Fed path are again the cross-asset swing factors.
LEADERSHIP	PSEi rebounds 2.31% as ICT and banks carry value The PSEi closed at 6,093.89, with Services +5.45% and Financials +3.26%. ICT accounted for ₱2.52B of value and +₱428.85M net foreign buying; BDO added ₱740.57M of value and +₱138.87M foreign flow.
WATCH	Breadth improves, but foreign flow remains slightly negative Advancers beat decliners 106–88, yet foreigners still net-sold ₱92.52M. The index tested 6,148.90 before easing, so 6,150 is the immediate resistance marker; 6,058–6,000 is the first support zone.

The peso weakened 0.35% to ₱62.521 per dollar. The PHL 10-year eased marginally to 7.247%, but the U.S. 10-year rose to 4.814%; the widening U.S. yield pressure and oil shock remain key peso risks. USD-CNY comma typos in the brief are normalized to 6.7192 / 6.7226.

PHILIPPINES STRATEGY

The PSEi snapped higher by 2.31% to 6,093.89, supported by a decisive rotation into Services and Financials. The move was broad enough to improve breadth, but not yet confirmed by foreign flow: net selling remained ₱92.52M. The index's intraday rejection near 6,150 sets a clear tactical level. A sustained break would improve the near-term range; failure would return attention to 6,058 and 6,000 support.

Foreign-fund catalyst. BDO Capital said smooth elections could help bring foreign funds back to the Philippines. Near-term evidence is mixed: gross foreign turnover was healthy at ₱13.88B, but the session still closed with a small net outflow.

Treasury bill auction. The Philippines sold ₱16.3B of 91-day bills at 5.138%, ₱15B of 182-day bills at 5.517%, and ₱10B of 364-day bills at 5.717%; yields rose across the tenors.

Political watch. At the Vice-President's impeachment trial, Philippine Army Col. Manaros Boransing II testified that his unit did not receive DepEd or OVP money to fund 2023 youth summits.

CORPORATE STANCE CARDS

ICT
₱950.00

TACTICAL LEADER

Highest value (₱2.52B), largest net foreign inflow (+₱428.85M), and a 7.3% close-to-close gain. Momentum is strong, but the ₱966 intraday high is the immediate breakout level; size entries with volatility in mind.

BDO
₱121.60

ACCUMULATE ON WEAKNESS

Financials rallied 3.26% and BDO attracted +₱138.87M foreign flow. The rate backdrop can support margins, although higher funding costs and macro sensitivity argue for staged accumulation.

AREIT
₱36.80

HOLD · PT ₱40

The desk target offers 8.7% price upside before distributions. Stable income characteristics help in a volatile tape, but the higher-rate environment caps near-term valuation expansion.

MYNLD
₱18.20

WATCH / LONG-DURATION IDEA

New Clark City's 25-year PPP expands the concession platform. Strategic value is positive; watch the committed investment, allowed returns, construction timetable and funding mix before raising conviction.

SMARTWATCH

Watch item	What to monitor
Middle East / oil	Brent at $96.37 puts $100 in view. Favor firms with pricing power or energy exposure; review airlines, transport and consumer names for margin risk.
Foreign participation	The rebound occurred with slight net foreign selling. A turn to sustained inflows would materially strengthen the rally.
Rates / peso	USD-PHP at 62.521 and U.S. yields at 4.814% keep pressure on domestic duration and import-heavy companies.
Index resistance	6,150 is the nearest confirmation level. Avoid treating a single positive session as a regime change until the level holds.
