ACTIONABLE HIGHLIGHTS · THE CALL

The streak broke: PSEi -0.28% to 6,099.23 (-17.30) — negative breadth for a fourth straight day (83 vs. 93) and five of six sectors red. Net foreign was +P166.6M, but three names (ICT +P500M, APX +P192.5M, GTCAP +P87M) masked ~P613M of underlying selling — a new, brutal SM -P161.4M plus AC -P81M and banks -P130M. Overnight, oil surged (Brent +6.9% to $108) and metals retraced — a double headwind into Friday.

ACCUMULATE — BUT SELECTIVELY, INTO STRENGTH

- APX (Apex Mining) — +6.7% on a P5.39B H1 profit (+68%) and the day's #2 foreign buy (+P192.5M). But it's near the P23 desk target and metals retraced overnight (gold -1.6%, silver -5.8%, copper -4.6%) — accumulate dips, take profits into spikes.
- AT (Atlas Mining) — Foreign +P20.7M (4th straight day); named Jaime Bautista independent director ahead of Monday's (14 Sep) Dominion/Tampakan vote. Accumulate into the catalyst. Target P50.
- Defensive utilities — The barbell's safe leg drew flow: MYNLD +P39.2M, plus MWC and AP +P21.6M. Own resilient yield amid the risk-off.

MONITOR — CATALYSTS & SPECIAL SITUATIONS

- GLO — The GCash IPO is live (bookbuild 10–18 Sep, up to 9.23B shares) — a fintech value-unlock for Globe/Mynt. Near-term flow soft (-P11.6M) but the sum-of-parts re-rating is the thesis.
- WEB (PhilWeb) — Resumed +6.3%; the P4.22B JKS Tech subscription is framed to cure negative equity via JKS's ~P2.2B projected profit, with a stated capital-discipline focus. Special situation — clearer thesis, unproven execution.
- FGEN / ACR — FGEN +5.4% on delisting-option chatter (no firm plan). ACR +6.7% on a P1.7B H1 (+31%); note its Alcantara/Tampakan link. Event-driven pops — speculative.

CAUTION — DISTRIBUTION, OIL & RATES

- Heavyweights & banks — Accelerating, broadening outflows finally cracked the index: SM -P161.4M, AC -P81.3M, MBT -P71.8M, BDO -P58.8M. Stand aside on the crowded distribution.
- Oil shock — Brent +6.9% to $108 and WTI past $100 (Hormuz/Saudi supply) is a direct hit to a fuel-importer — inflation, and a US 10-yr that spiked to 4.972%. Fed decides 16 Sep.
- Level — The index is testing the 6,000–6,150 zone; a decisive break risks a move toward 5,800. Keep dry powder.

Two-way headwind for Friday: oil surged (Brent +6.85% to $108, WTI past $100 to ~$103 — Hormuz/Saudi supply; the WTI prior print was garbled and shown n/a), while gold -1.58%, silver -5.76% and copper -4.62% retraced hard overnight. That combination pressures a fuel-importer and threatens the mining leadership (APX, AT) that led the session. Nickel bucked the trend (+1.16%).

PHILIPPINES STRATEGY

Macro. The oil shock is the dominant risk: Brent +6.9% to $108 and WTI past $100 (Hormuz disruption, Saudi supply losses) directly hit a fuel-importer's inflation and its terms of trade, and the US 10-yr jumped to 4.972% on oil plus a proposed $5,000-per-adult US stimulus (>$1T). One offset: the peso actually firmed to ~₱62.51 on the DQR reference. The Fed decides 16 Sep, with hike bets rising.

Where we lean in. We turn more defensive. The index finally cracked and the distribution is broadening (SM, AC, banks) beneath a headline propped by three names. We keep the barbell — resilient utilities/REITs (MYNLD, MER drew or held flow) and selective metals — but we would take profits into the gold spike (APX near its ₱23 target) given the overnight metals retrace, and we avoid the crowded heavyweight and telco-quality distribution. GCash's IPO is a genuine catalyst for GLO; Atlas' 14 Sep vote is the metals event to watch. Hold dry powder for a possible 5,800 test.

SECTORAL SUMMARY

Only Services (+0.74%) and a surging Mining & Oil (+2.59%, +560 pts) closed green; the Ayala/SM-heavy Holding Firms (-1.17%) and Industrials (-0.60%) dragged the index into the red.

FOREIGN FUND FLOW

Net foreign +P166.60M is three names — ICT +P500M, APX +P192.5M, GTCAP +P87M (+P779.6M combined). Ex-those, foreigners sold ~P613M: SM -P161.4M (a new heaviest), AC -P81.3M, MBT -P71.8M and BDO -P58.8M. The distribution has broadened from the Ayala complex into the banks.

CORPORATE STANCE CARDS

APX · Apex Mining rips +6.7% on a ₱5.39B H1 — but metals retrace overnight

Apex Mining rose +6.7% (DQR close ₱18.20; ₱18.32 intraday) after reporting first-half 2026 net income up 68% to ₱5.39B (from ₱3.20B). It was the day's second-largest foreign buy at +₱192.5M on ₱386.1M turnover as gold leadership carried Mining & Oil +2.59%. The wrinkle: in later trading gold fell -1.58%, silver -5.76% and copper -4.62%.

Analysis. The fundamentals are excellent and the flow is real, but the stock is closing in on the ₱23 desk price target and the metals complex retraced hard overnight — a near-term headwind. We accumulate on pullbacks and take profits into spikes rather than chase; a single-day +₱192.5M print may also carry index/passive flow that can fade.

Stance: ACCUMULATE ON DIPS · TAKE PROFITS INTO STRENGTH · PT ₱23

AT · Governance step ahead of the Tampakan vote

Atlas Mining named Jaime Bautista an independent director — a governance strengthening as the Sy/Consunji-backed Dominion (DHI) 20.43% stake and the Tampakan copper-gold merger head to a shareholder vote on 14 Sep. AT closed ₱23.10 (near its ₱24 intraday high) with foreign buying of +₱20.7M, a fourth straight day of accumulation.

Analysis. Persistent foreign accumulation and a cleaner board de-risk the re-rating into Monday's vote. We keep accumulate-on-dips with a ₱50 reference target, mindful that the overnight metals pullback could pressure the whole complex at Friday's open — add on weakness rather than strength.

Stance: ACCUMULATE ON DIPS · TARGET ₱50

GLO · GCash IPO puts a value on the fintech crown jewel

The GCash IPO is gauging demand, offering up to 9.23B shares (20% primary, 80% secondary) with a 15% over-allotment and a 10–18 Sep timetable, with proceeds funding digital-financial-services growth. Globe, through Mynt/917Ventures, holds a major economic interest, so the listing crystallises value long carried at a conglomerate discount. GLO closed ₱1,620 with foreign flow of -₱11.6M.

Analysis. A public market price for GCash is the clearest catalyst to narrow Globe's sum-of-parts discount, even if near-term flow is soft in a risk-off tape. We are constructive and accumulate on weakness, watching the final IPO price and Globe's look-through stake as the re-rating triggers.

Stance: ACCUMULATE ON WEAKNESS

WEB (PhilWeb) · Back trading on a defined JKS deal

PhilWeb resumed trading and rose +6.3% (close ₱15.80) on ₱193.4M turnover. It will invest a combined ₱4.22B to subscribe to common shares in JKS Tech Solutions; management frames JKS's ~₱2.2B projected profit as lifting WEB's earnings and curing its negative equity without external debt, and has signalled a focus on capital discipline and governance.

Analysis. The pivot now has a concrete earnings-and-balance-sheet rationale rather than just a headline, which is a genuine improvement. But it is a related-party subscription into an unlisted vehicle at a stated ₱2.2B profit run-rate we cannot yet verify — we treat WEB as a speculative special situation, sizing small until the economics are demonstrated.

Heavyweight distribution (SM · AC · Banks) · The selling that finally cracked the index

Beneath the three-name buying, foreign distribution broadened and accelerated: SM shed -₱161.4M (its heaviest of this run, close -2.7%), AC -₱81.3M for a fourth straight session, and the banks were hit hard — MBT -₱71.8M and BDO -₱58.8M — driving Financials -0.33% and Holding Firms -1.17%.

Analysis. This is now a broad de-risking of the index's core, not an Ayala-only story, and it is what turned the tape red. With oil surging and yields rising, we stand aside on SM, AC and the large-cap banks until the outflows abate; a stabilisation here — not another ICT print — is what a durable low would require.

Stance: AVOID · STAND ASIDE

FGEN / ACR · Event-driven pops worth watching, not chasing

First Gen rose +5.4% (close ₱26.90) after confirming a delisting is an option, though with no firm plan; foreign flow was -₱5.7M. Alsons Consolidated (ACR) jumped +6.7% on a ₱1.7B first-half profit (+31%); note ACR's Alcantara-group parent also sits behind the Tampakan project via Indophil.

Analysis. Both moves are event/speculation-driven. A firm FGEN delisting or tender would be the real catalyst, but nothing is committed; ACR's momentum rests on a strong result and a thin float. We watch both for confirmation and treat them as speculative — no core position on chatter alone.

Stance: SPECULATIVE · MONITOR FOR CONFIRMATION
