Market Report For: Wednesday, November 4, 2026 · Covers the Tuesday, November 3 PSE session

PSEi falls 0.99% to 5,624.17, opening at its high and closing at its low; ICT drops 3.28% on ₱1.94B as foreigners net sell ₱258.8M for a fourth straight day.

BOTTOM LINE

The PSEi fell 0.99% to 5,624.17 (−56.18). It opened 0.49% higher at 5,708.03, which proved the high of the day, and closed at its low, 83.86 points below the open and below the Oct 26 close (5,641.18) and the Oct 28 low (5,634.65). The close is 39.82 points above the carried 52-week low of 5,584.35 (verify). Decliners beat advancers 106 to 79 with 72 unchanged, and Services (−2.71%) and Mining & Oil (−1.51%) led the losses; Holding Firms (+0.22%) was the only sector higher. 17 of the 30 PSEi-30 names fell, and the cap-weighted drop (−0.99%) was nearly double the equal-weighted −0.53%. ICT fell 3.28% to ₱811.50 after opening at its high of ₱847.00, on ₱1.94B, 37% of the day's ₱5.27B, with foreigners selling ₱230.1M. Value was ₱5.27B (₱17.14B on Oct 30), including ₱373.9M of block crosses. Net foreign flow was −₱258.8M (buy ₱3.05B / sell ₱3.31B), a fourth straight net-selling day: BDO (+₱121.4M), MBT (+₱42.6M) and SM (+₱33.8M) drew buying, while ICT, BPI (−₱80.2M), AC (−₱56.5M) and ALI (−₱55.3M) were sold. In the latest US session the desk pasted (close or live not stated), the S&P 500 rose 0.39% and the Nasdaq 0.89% while the Dow fell 0.40%; Brent was little changed at $104.29.

US stocks were mixed in the latest session the desk pasted (Dow −0.40%, S&P 500 +0.39%, Nasdaq +0.89%; the desk did not mark the levels as close or live, and the file was saved before the US close). Tech-heavy gauges drew support from a recovery in semiconductor names, snapping a three-day losing streak, while Apple shed more than 2% on cautious forward guidance (desk, citing Investopedia). The desk adds that global equities and bonds advanced as crude tumbled on Washington–Tehran diplomacy, with Tehran's supreme leader reported to have authorised conflict-resolution talks and Brent futures falling more than 7% (single X post, not verified), and that international equities ended uneven to marginally lower after an active earnings period, with investors watching the US midterms (CNBC link). Asia was mostly weaker in the latest session: Jakarta (−3.78%), the KOSPI (−3.59%, unreconciled), Taiwan (−3.59%), Singapore (−0.65%), Vietnam (−0.65%) and Shanghai (−0.82%) fell, while SENSEX (+1.62%), Hang Seng (+0.57%) and Australia (+0.34%, unreconciled) rose. The Nikkei, Kuala Lumpur and Thailand are not shown because the pasted figures repeat last edition or are implausible.

Metals and softs fell; oil was steady near $96–104. Brent eased 0.46% to $104.29 (its prior ties to last edition) and WTI rose 0.15% to $96.60 (prior unreconciled), after the desk's X post cited a Brent plunge of more than 7% on US–Iran diplomacy. Gold fell 1.05% to $3,927.80, silver 2.87% to 49.43 and COMEX copper 2.77% to 638.55¢; the priors for WTI, gold, silver and copper do not tie to last edition, so those moves are indicative. Among softs, sugar fell 3.83% to 18.33¢, coffee 2.79%, corn 1.51%, wheat 1.28% and cocoa 0.39%; coal slipped 1.94% to $149.50 (change blank, % as pasted). Per-pound nickel rose 0.14% to 6.9159 and Shanghai nickel cathode fell 0.11% to 17,803.02, with units not stated.

PSE read-through: Mining & Oil fell 1.51% (−275.46 points) on ₱207.9M, the second-weakest sector; PX dropped 5.52% to ₱9.41 on ₱81.1M with foreign selling of ₱17.8M.

The peso firmed further. USD-PHP eased 0.22% to 63.477 in the desk table, against 63.74 last edition and the PSE's conversion rate of ₱63.740 (the table's prior of 63.617 does not tie, so the level is not reconciled). The PHL 10-year yield is not shown because the pasted 8.153% repeats last edition exactly, although a new change was attached. The US 10-year yield rose 5.3bp to 4.943% on the pasted +0.053 (prior unreconciled). USD-JPY rose 0.49% to 158.72, while EUR-USD (pasted 2.229) is not used.

A failed open and a weak close, with ICT doing most of the damage. The PSEi fell 0.99% to 5,624.17 after opening at its high of 5,708.03, closing at its low and below the Oct 26 close (5,641.18) and the Oct 28 low (5,634.65), the support levels flagged in recent editions. The next reference is the carried 52-week low of 5,584.35, 39.82 points (0.7%) away (verify). Value fell to ₱5.27B from ₱17.14B on Oct 30, which was inflated by blocks. Net foreign selling of ₱258.8M, the fourth straight net-selling day, was concentrated in ICT (−₱230.1M), BPI (−₱80.2M), AC (−₱56.5M) and ALI (−₱55.3M), partly offset by BDO (+₱121.4M), MBT (+₱42.6M) and SM (+₱33.8M). Breadth was 79 / 106.

What the tape shows

- One stock, a big swing: ICT's −3.28% on ₱1.94B and −₱230.1M of foreign flow took Services down 2.71%. Excluding ICT, the equal-weighted PSEi-30 average is about −0.43%, against −0.53% with it, so the broader market was weak but not collapsing.
- Banks split: Financials were flat (−0.02%) with BDO +1.02% (foreign +₱121.4M) and PNB +3.00% against BPI −1.44% (foreign −₱80.2M); MBT was steady with foreign buying of ₱42.6M.
- Standing house rule: banks stay on watch while the PHL 10-year is above 7%; the latest yield print could not be verified this edition (see FX & Rates), so banks are read from price and flow only.
- Peso: USD-PHP is 63.477 in the desk table, against 64.04 on Oct 28, 63.85 on Oct 29 and 63.74 last edition; the peso has firmed through the week while foreigners kept selling equities.

Risks to watch (desk items, not verified)

- US midterms and tech: US midterm elections were held on Nov 3 (US time); the desk flagged uncertainty for AI-linked tech names, and Asian chip-linked markets (KOSPI, Taiwan) fell more than 3% in the latest session.
- Oil and geopolitics: the desk says crude tumbled on US–Iran diplomacy; talks that stall could reverse the drop.
- Support broken: a close below 5,641.18 shifts attention to the carried 52-week low; a close back above it would be the first sign of repair.

The concept. Every trading day produces four prices for an index or stock: the open (first print), the high, the low and the close (last print). Together they form a daily bar. The close matters most because it is the official price that carries into the next session. Where the close sits inside the day's range shows who controlled the session: a close near the high suggests buyers held on, a close near the low suggests sellers did. A day that opens at its high and closes at its low is a one-way, weak session; value traded and breadth show how widely the move was shared.

PSEi daily bars (DQR)	Open / high / low / close
Nov 3	5,708.03 / 5,708.03 / 5,624.17 / 5,624.17: opened at the high, closed at the low; range 83.86 points
Oct 30	5,710.56 / 5,718.93 / 5,658.08 / 5,680.35: close 22.27 above the low (37% of the 60.85-point range)
Oct 29	5,650.49 / 5,706.59 / 5,650.49 / 5,705.58: opened at the low, closed 1.01 below the high (98% of the 56.10-point range)
Nov 3 context	Value ₱5.27B; 79 advancers / 106 decliners / 72 unchanged; 12 of 30 PSEi-30 names up
ICT, Nov 3	Open ₱847.00 (the high), low and close ₱811.50, prior close ₱839.00; value ₱1.94B

Why it matters today. On Oct 29 the PSEi opened at its low and closed near its high, a strong bar. On Nov 3 it did the reverse: it opened 0.49% higher, 27.68 points above the prior close, and then sold off all session to close at the low, 56.18 points under the previous close and under the 5,641.18 and 5,634.65 levels discussed in recent editions. Breadth was weak (79 against 106), and ICT, which also opened at its high and closed at its low, traded ₱1.94B, 37% of the day's value. A close at the low gives sellers the last word, so the next session starts from a weaker base unless buyers reverse it.

How to use it. (1) Read the close against the day's range, not only against yesterday's close. (2) Compare the open with the prior close: a gap up that fails is weaker than a quiet drift down. (3) Check value and breadth to see how many stocks and how much money were behind the move. (4) Note when the low equals the close; one bar is a clue, not a trend. (5) Combine bars with levels: a close below support matters more when the bar is also at its low. Takeaway: the Nov 3 bar is a weak one, and a rebound above the open (5,708.03) would be needed to reverse its message.
