GLOBAL MARKETS OVERVIEW

US markets staged a broad recovery on Wednesday, with the Dow Jones surging 1.31% to 50,009.35, reclaiming the 50,000 threshold for the first time since the Moody's downgrade shock. The S&P 500 rose 1.08% to 7,432.97 and the NASDAQ gained 1.54% to 26,270.36 as bond selling eased and futures traders positioned ahead of Nvidia's highly anticipated earnings. President Trump signalled the US is in the "final stages" of nuclear deal talks with Iran, providing further risk appetite relief. The US 10-year Treasury yield pulled back to 4.590% from 4.667%.

MACRO WATCH

US-Iran Nuclear Talks: "Final Stages." President Trump told reporters Wednesday that the United States is in the final stages of negotiations with Iran on a nuclear framework agreement. The statement provided relief to energy markets, with Brent crude dipping 5.63% to $105.02/bbl on the prospect of a partial de-escalation — though WTI nudged higher to $107.77. For the Philippines, lower Brent is unambiguously positive: it reduces the country's crude import bill, eases inflation pressure, and relieves peso depreciation dynamics. Watch for any deal confirmation as a near-term catalyst for airline and utility stocks.

Fed Minutes: Increased Rate Hike Risk. The Federal Reserve's latest meeting minutes showed Fed officials discussing scenarios under which an additional rate increase could be warranted should inflation prove stickier than expected. While markets have priced a hold for the near term, the minutes introduce hawkish optionality that could pressure EM currencies and bonds. US 10-year yields came back to 4.59% Wednesday but remain elevated. Philippine 10-year bonds rallied slightly to 7.709% (from 7.871%), offering a 16-bp reprieve.

BSP Raises Policy Rate to 4.5%. The Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas (BSP) has raised its key policy rate to 4.5%, responding to persistent inflation driven by elevated oil and food prices, and peso weakness. This tightening is expected to moderate bank credit growth as higher borrowing costs temper corporate capex and consumer credit demand. Banks with strong fee income (BPI, MBT, BDO) and fixed-rate loan books are relatively better positioned. Property developers and leveraged REITs face higher refinancing costs.

OFW Remittances: +2.8% to $8.68B in Q1 2026. Cash remittances from overseas Filipinos grew 2.8% year-on-year to $8.68 billion in Q1 2026, though the purchasing power gain is largely offset by imported inflation and elevated fuel and food prices. The peso remains one of Asia's weakest performers at ₱61.72/USD. Purchasing power for OFW families is a "mixed bag" — nominal peso remittances are higher but real spending capacity is squeezed. Consumer staples retailers with value propositions (PGOLD) are better positioned than discretionary names.

Samsung Labour Strike — Global Semiconductor Disruption Risk. Samsung management rejected government mediation backed by the union, escalating tensions and threatening a full-scale walkout. A prolonged strike risks disrupting high-bandwidth memory (HBM) for AI — a critical supply chain for global technology companies including Nvidia (reporting Wednesday) and could tighten AI chip pricing globally. This is a watch item for Philippine tech-adjacent plays and the broader Asia semiconductor supply chain. KOSPI fell 0.86% on the news.

Xi at the Centre: Trump & Putin Visits. Global geopolitical spotlight shifts to China as both President Trump and Russian President Putin undertake high-profile visits, centering geopolitical dialogue on Beijing. This consolidation of Sino-centric diplomacy has implications for Philippine trade policy, South China Sea negotiations, and commodity supply chains — particularly for minerals where China is a dominant processor. Gold firmed +1.30% to $4,545.30/oz on the geopolitical backdrop.

PHILIPPINES MARKET STRATEGY

The PSEi edged down a marginal 3.40 points (−0.06%) to close at 5,893.40 on Wednesday — a near-flat session that masks continued selling pressure underneath. Decliners outpaced advancers 111-to-74 for the second consecutive session, though net foreign selling moderated sharply to just $1.87 million (vs. $11M on Tuesday), suggesting foreign outflows are stabilising. Turnover firmed to ₱5.65 billion, the highest in recent sessions, indicating some institutional portfolio rebalancing activity rather than pure liquidation.

The most significant positive for Thursday's open: the US 10-year yield retreating to 4.59%, Philippine 10-year bonds rallying to 7.709% (−16 bps), and Brent crude pulling back to $105.02. All three had been primary headwinds. If confirmed by Friday, this easing creates the conditions for a tactical bounce in PSEi. The buyback programmes in SM, SMPH, and PLUS continue to provide a selective floor.

Key focus for Thursday: DAMS Board of Directors organizational meeting on May 16 underscores firm governance and institutional confidence. Nvidia earnings (after US close Wednesday) will be the single biggest catalyst for global risk appetite and could drive a sharp move in all markets Thursday — both upside (AI boom confirmed) and downside (any guidance miss). Position accordingly. ICTSI's landmark AIIB $300M loan and BPI's Moody's rating affirmation are the domestic positives of the day.

CORPORATE NEWS & ANALYSIS

ICT AIIB $300M Loan — ICTSI's Largest ESG-Linked Financing

International Container Terminal Services, Inc. (ICTSI) signed a landmark $300-million senior unsecured corporate loan with the Asian Infrastructure Investment Bank (AIIB) on Wednesday — AIIB's first non-sovereign-backed transaction in the Philippines. The loan, dubbed "Project Crane," will fund capacity expansion and technology upgrades at three Philippine terminals: the Manila International Container Terminal (MICT), the South Luzon Container Terminal (SLCT) in Batangas, and the Mindanao Container Terminal (MCT). Together, the investments are expected to raise MICT capacity to 3.7 million TEUs by 2027, and MCT/SLCT to 1 million and 800,000 TEUs by 2028. The financing also supports the purchase of fully electric quay cranes and replacement of diesel yard equipment, reducing Scope 1 emissions from terminal operations. ICTSI's Q1 2026 net income rose 22.56% to $293.57M on gross revenues of $961.11M (+28.94%).

DAMS View: The AIIB deal is a triple positive for ICT: it is non-dilutive, anchors $300M of capex within a proven multilateral framework, and supports ESG re-rating. The "non-sovereign" structure is AIIB's first in the Philippines — a signal of ICTSI's global credit standing. With MICT throughput targets requiring 3.7M TEUs by 2027, management is signalling high utilisation confidence. Q1 2026's 22.56% net income growth backs the expansion case. Foreign funds bought ICT on the session. BUY on any weakness below ₱790.

 BUY*BPI Moody's Affirms Baa2 Rating; Stable Outlook — Credit Quality Confirmed

Bank of the Philippine Islands (BPI) received an affirmation of its Baa2 credit rating with a stable outlook from Moody's Investors Service, signalling international confidence in the bank's financial strength, asset quality, and capitalisation. The rating reflects BPI's ability to navigate elevated domestic interest rates, peso weakness, and geopolitical headwinds while maintaining a solid capital buffer. The Baa2 rating — investment grade — is critical for BPI's wholesale funding access and international correspondent banking relationships. BPI was in the foreign selling list on Wednesday, with the stock closing at ₱87.10 (–1.64%) on the session.

DAMS View: Moody's affirmation is an institutional quality endorsement that should anchor BPI's valuation through the current BSP rate cycle. The bank's fixed-income franchise benefits from higher rates (NIM expansion) while its capital position reduces equity-raising risk. The short-term foreign selling at ₱87.10 after last session's decline represents a potential entry opportunity. BPI is a core DivY and institutional portfolio anchor. Target: ₱92–₱95 over 6–9 months on rate normalisation. Accumulate on dips below ₱86.

SMPH / SM Offices
Clark Tech Hub 100% Occupied; Tower 11 Underway

SM Offices, the commercial leasing arm of SM Prime Holdings (SMPH), has achieved full 100% occupancy across its 10-tower, 100,000+ sqm Clark Tech Hub complex in the Clark Special Economic Zone in Angeles City, Pampanga. Tenants are predominantly global IT-BPM and multinational companies on long-term leases. SM Offices is now proceeding with Tower 11, which will add another 20,000 sqm of office space to the complex. The development sits within the SM City Clark Complex, which also includes SM City Clark, National University, SMX Convention Center, and Park Inn by Radisson, positioning Clark as a major regional business hub outside Metro Manila. SMPH closed flat at ₱19.00 on Wednesday.

DAMS View: The 100% occupancy milestone validates SMPH's provincial office strategy and de-risks the Tower 11 expansion — the market demand is demonstrated, not speculative. IT-BPM long-term leases provide a durable recurring income stream with built-in escalators. Clark's connectivity improvements (North-South Commuter Railway integration planned by 2027) make this a location with genuine long-term appeal. However, SMPH remains in the foreign selling list and faces broad property sector derating. BUY on demonstrated occupancy fundamentals; use weakness near ₱18.50–₱19 as entry.

MEG
Six New Hotels in Three Years; 9,000-Room Portfolio Target by 2029

Megaworld Corp. announced plans to open six new hotels across the Philippines within the next three years, aiming to grow its hotel portfolio to over 22 properties and approximately 9,000 hotel room keys by 2029 — cementing its position as the country's largest hotel developer and operator. The six projects include: ArcoVia Hotel (Pasig), Savoy Capital Town (Pampanga), The Hamptons Hotel (Laguna), Paragua Sands Hotel and Savoy Hotel Palawan (San Vicente, Palawan), and The Kingsford (Bacolod). The Palawan hotels within the 462-hectare Paragua Coasttown will contribute 619+ combined rooms. The expansion adds approximately 2,000 keys to the existing portfolio, with each hotel managed by Megaworld Hotels & Resorts. MEG closed at ₱2.06 on Wednesday (−0.48%), with foreign funds selling on the session.

DAMS View: Megaworld's hotel expansion is strategically sound — tourism is a secular growth driver for the Philippines, and provincial/leisure markets (Palawan, Laguna, Bacolod) are underserved by institutional-quality hospitality. However, the property sector derating, elevated rates, and foreign fund selling in MEG create near-term headwinds. The hospitality thesis requires 2–3 years of revenue ramp from new openings, making this a medium-term, patient capital play. MONITOR for now; accumulate if MEG re-tests the ₱1.90–₱2.00 level on broader market weakness.

ACEN Ocean Sun MOU — Floating Solar Expansion Across Asia

ACEN Corp., through its ACEN-Silverwolf joint venture platform (with Silverwolf Capital), signed a non-binding memorandum of understanding (MOU) with Norway's Ocean Sun to deploy utility-scale floating solar technology across select Asian freshwater markets. The partnership leverages ACEN-Silverwolf's 100+ MW portfolio across China, Hong Kong, Malaysia, Thailand, and Singapore, combined with Ocean Sun's proprietary membrane-based floating solar technology optimised for inland water bodies and freshwater reservoirs. If progressed to a binding agreement, the deal would accelerate ACEN's position in the fast-growing floating solar segment across Asia — complementing its 7 gigawatts of attributable global capacity. ACEN was in the foreign selling list on Wednesday, with shares at ₱3.10 (−4.62%).

DAMS View: The Ocean Sun MOU strengthens ACEN's technology stack for the floating solar niche, which is gaining traction in land-scarce Asian markets. This is a longer-term optionality play on top of ACEN's core Philippine renewable franchise. The 57% GEOP market share and ₱80B capex pipeline are the primary earnings drivers near term. At ₱3.10, ACEN is down from ₱3.25 — creating a modest technical pullback entry. The floating solar strategy, if executed to scale, could provide Asia-wide revenue diversification. ACCUMULATE on fundamental strength; flag the MOU as a long-dated catalyst.

EMI Q1 Net Income +4.5% to ₱1.9B; Revenue ₱13.3B on Resilient Demand

Emperador, Inc. (EMI) — the Andrew Tan-led global spirits company controlling brandy giant Fundador and Scotch whisky brand Dalmore — reported Q1 2026 consolidated net income of ₱1.9 billion, up 4.5% year-on-year, on revenues of ₱13.3 billion. Combined brandy and whisky sales rose 6%, driven by sustained consumer demand in both Philippine and international markets. The bottom line was supported by disciplined cost management and operational efficiencies that counteracted inflationary pressures, elevated fuel prices, and supply chain disruptions. CEO Glenn Manlapaz highlighted the resilience of the diversified portfolio spanning local value spirits through to premium aged Scotch.

DAMS View: EMI's 4.5% net income growth in an inflationary, high-fuel-cost environment demonstrates strong brand pricing power and demand durability. The 6% combined brandy/whisky revenue growth beats expectations given macro headwinds. Management's diversified model — high-volume affordable brandy (Philippines) + aged premium Scotch (UK/global) — provides natural hedging between volume and margin. EMI is a MONITOR for now — not in foreign buying or selling highlights. Key catalyst: 2H26 results on whether Fundador brandy targets the 20% growth guided by management for 2026.

FLI SEC Approves P9B Bond Offer; Offer Period May 20–26

Filinvest Land, Inc. (FLI) received its Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) certificate of permit to offer securities for the third tranche of its ₱35-billion shelf-registered bond programme. The offer covers ₱9 billion in 3.5-year fixed-rate bonds at a gross coupon of 7.3993% per annum, with an oversubscription option of up to ₱2.57 billion. The offer period runs May 20–26, with settlement targeted May 29 and issue date June 2. FLI's Q1 2026 profit rose 3.5% to ₱1.1 billion on revenues of ₱6.31 billion (+4.5%), driven by residential and retail leasing growth. Sales reservations reached ₱2.7 billion in March alone (+62% y-o-y). FLI is at a 52-week low, currently trading at ₱0.77.

DAMS View: FLI's bond offer at 7.3993% signals the company is accessing capital at elevated but manageable rates — a sign management is confident in operating cash flows to service the debt. The 3.5% Q1 earnings growth demonstrates resilient fundamentals despite property sector headwinds. At ₱0.77 (52-week low), FLI offers deep value but the technical position is weak. The bond offer is not dilutive to equity and improves liquidity. Investors should participate in the bond if seeking fixed income; equity remains a medium-term recovery play contingent on rate normalisation. MONITOR equity; CONSIDER the 7.3993% bond for fixed-income allocations.

PGOLD / DMC / AREIT Consumer Defensives & Conglomerate Defensiveness — Key Positions

Puregold (PGOLD, ₱49.00) hit another high on the back of a Q1 net income beat (+23.7%), continued foreign buying, and its dual role as a PSEi Dividend Yield constituent. RSI remains in overbought territory at >70 — indicating momentum strength but potential short-term consolidation. The consumer value thesis (inflation-strained households shifting to affordable grocery formats) remains fully intact. DMCI Holdings (DMC, ₱9.35) showed support at ₱9.30–₱9.35, with foreign selling on Wednesday creating a potential entry for medium-term investors. Support levels: S1 ₱9.30, S2 ₱9.10. AREIT (₱39.25) continues to test critical support at the Fibonacci 0.000 base (₱40.55), now trading below it. The Q1 2026 earnings beat (+23.8% net income to ₱2.6B) remains the fundamental anchor.

DAMS View: PGOLD: RSI overbought — use pullbacks to ₱46–₱47 as accumulation opportunity. DivY anchor with 6–12 month target of ₱52–₱55. Foreign buying confirmed. DMC: Foreign selling at support creates a buy-on-dip opportunity. S1 ₱9.30 is the entry zone; S2 ₱9.10 is the hard stop. "Diversified defensiveness" (coal, water, construction, property) makes DMC resilient across macro scenarios. AREIT: At ₱39.25, below the Fibonacci base at ₱40.55 — this is technically weak but fundamentally anchored by the Q1 earnings beat. Continue to layer accumulation in the ₱39.00–₱40.50 range with stop below ₱38.50.

ALI / AC Ayala Land as Contrarian Recovery — Historically Depressed Valuations

Ayala Land (ALI, ₱15.00) staged a modest technical recovery on Wednesday (+1.76%), with the stock rebounding from its multi-year low zone. DAMS identifies ALI as a select contrarian "buy" or technical recovery play, trading at historically depressed valuations while primary competitor SM Prime Holdings (SMPH, ₱19.00) maintains a valuation premium due to its more resilient mall-heavy recurring income model. ALI's Q1 2026 earnings came in at ₱5.4 billion (–22% y-o-y), reflecting the challenging residential sales environment, higher interest costs, and muted office demand. Ayala Corp. (AC, ₱420.40) also ticked higher, recovering from its 52-week oversold zone. Both remain in the foreign selling list, though daily selling volumes are moderating. MSCI rebalance (August 12) remains a watch item.

DAMS View: ALI at ₱15 represents a significant discount to book value and 5-year average multiples. The technical setup (RSI approaching oversold, potential double-bottom in formation) suggests a bounce risk. However, structural headwinds — property oversupply, elevated debt servicing costs, slow residential demand — are not yet resolved. The SMPH vs. ALI divergence (SMPH premium on recurring income) will persist until ALI's BPO and commercial leasing segments re-accelerate. A trading buy for the ₱14.50–₱15.50 range with a tight stop. Not an outright long-term conviction hold until sector clarity improves.

GLO / MER Telecom & Utilities: AI Infrastructure Demand as Re-rating Catalyst

Globe Telecom (GLO, ₱1,786) continues to be positioned around its ₱56B AI-driven capex narrative and GCash digital ecosystem growth (profit contribution doubled to ₱1.9B). Foreign funds bought GLO on Wednesday, reinforcing the institutional conviction in the re-rating thesis. Key catalyst watch: 1H26 results expected July. Meralco (MER, ₱618) is the preferred dip-buy in utilities — DAMS maintains a dip-buy target of ₱610 or lower. Rising power demand from AI data centers, mining electrification, and industrial expansion creates a multi-year demand growth story for the utility. MER appears in the foreign buying list on Wednesday.

DAMS View: GLO: Continue accumulating on RSI pullbacks. The ₱56B capex is real capex translating to tariff-bearing capacity — not "growth for growth's sake." GCash doubling profit contribution adds high-multiple digital optionality. Target: ₱1,950–₱2,000. MER: DAMS dip-buy trigger at ₱610. With BSP rates elevated and inflation running, power demand is the one macro variable that remains structurally positive. MER is a core defensive with a 5–6% dividend yield. Accumulate below ₱620; hold conviction through utility sector volatility.

BLOOM / PLUS Gaming Stocks — Micro-Recovery on Oversold Conditions

Bloomberry Resorts (BLOOM, ₱1.75, +0.57%) and PLUS (₱13.16, −0.15%) both appear in today's SmartWatch as the gaming sector attempts a fragile technical recovery. BLOOM's 0.57% gain on Wednesday is a tentative stabilisation after being at a 52-week low. The Philippine gaming sector is under structural pressure from elevated operating costs, tepid tourist arrivals from key China-corridor markets, and competition from regional gaming hubs. PLUS is in share buyback mode (May 19 buyback confirmed), providing a technical floor. Both remain in a longer-term downtrend, but oversold RSI conditions could trigger a tactical bounce for nimble traders.

DAMS View: BLOOM and PLUS are trading vehicles, not conviction longs. BLOOM at ₱1.75 is at multi-year support — any break below ₱1.70 risks a flush to ₱1.50. PLUS's buyback provides near-term support around ₱12.80–₱13.00. Both face secular headwinds from elevated costs and patchy tourist recovery. Short-term tactical traders may find value on oversold bounces; medium-term investors should wait for sector fundamental improvement (China tourist normalisation, cost structure rationalisation) before building positions.

DD / CEB Gaming / Airlines — Tactical Positions, Not Conviction Holds

DoubleDragon (DD, ₱9.80) remains a "sell on strength" trade given overbought RSI and the gap between Hotel101-Madrid's strong performance versus execution risk across four simultaneous global hotel openings (Madrid, Davao, Cebu, Niseko). Hotel101-Madrid's 100% occupancy and €100,000+ single-day revenue are genuine proof-of-concept milestones, but they need to be replicated at scale. RSI in overbought territory (>70). Cebu Pacific (CEB, ₱30.45) remains a NEUTRAL with the Dubai route resuming July 2 as a positive, but oil at $107/bbl WTI remains a structural margin risk for an unhedged low-cost carrier.

DAMS View: DD: SELL ON STRENGTH above ₱9.80–₱10.00. Take partial profits; re-enter if stock pulls back to ₱8.50–₱9.00 as a fresh entry with better risk-reward. Execution risk across four hotel openings remains the key downside. CEB: NEUTRAL — the Dubai route resumption improves load factor optionality on an important OFW corridor, but fuel cost hedging (or lack thereof) is the earnings swing factor. Do not add aggressively until clarity on oil price direction improves.
